Space Twins Still Sharp, Eager for Visit With 6

Wary of Lull, Cong Toll High

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A task force of U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops, teamed against the Viet Cong in a five-day battle south of Da Nang, estimated today ground and air strikes have killed about 1,000 of the Red enemy. Action was dwindling.

Marine patrols, moving through hills in the Que Son sector, found a guerrilla training area and some warehouses full of gray and black cloth, obviously designed for manufacture of the flimsy pajamas many Viet Cong use as uniforms.

Also Ebbs Elsewhere

The claim about enemy casualties was not broken down as to direct attack, artillery fire and aerial bombing. Whether it would be borne out by body count remained to be seen.

Major ground fighting elsewhere also ebbed. U.S. briefing officers said the Viet Cong may be pulling back to their jungle hideouts to recover.

Planes Resume Raids

With partially clearing skies, U.S. warplanes resumed raids on North Viet Nam after a two-day lull blamed on bad weather.

Air Force F105 Thunderchief and F4C Phantom jets blasted two bridges northeast of Dien Bien Phu, set a five-building military complex in the same area aflame and cratered the approaches to another bridge on a main highway 130 miles northwest of Hanoi, a U.S. spokesman said.

Navy pilots claimed another bridge, two storage areas and four antiaircraft sites 14 miles northwest of the coastal town of Dong Hoi, he added.

In the battle area south of Da Nang, U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops hunted a Viet Cong regiment on the sixth day of Operation Harvest Moon but the foe refused to show himself.

198 Cong Killed

Since the fighting began around a valley 20 miles south of Da Nang, the Leathernecks counted 198 Viet Cong killed, 76 captured and 287 suspects detained, Marine spokesmen said.

Officers regarded the lull warily. "I don't think the major fighting has started," said the U.S. Marine commander in Viet Nam, Maj. Gen. Lewis Walt.

22 Reds Surrender

U.S. officials took considerable satisfaction at the surrender of a 22-man Viet Cong platoon, with 11 weapons, to men of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade at Vo Dat, 60 miles northeast of Saigon. They counted the defection as a major achievement for U.S. intelligence and psychological warfare experts and Vietnamese national police who negotiated the surrender.

It was described as the biggest Viet Cong defection in many months.

In the Marine action, the Leathernecks took over the high ground near the rice hamlet of Que Son. Air Force B52s from Guam pummeled the suspected lair of a Communist regiment in the area, 350 miles northeast of Saigon, for the second time since the operation began last Wednesday.

Walt said the attempt to encircle and wipe out the force of

Welcome Carrier From Viet

Lost 18 Men, 16 Planes in Battle

By HARRY NASH

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The aircraft carrier Independence came home from war today to an emotional welcome that bespoke pride in her mission and offered solace for her losses.

She tied up in the rain and fog at her naval base pier minus 18 men and 16 planes that had sailed with her to Viet Nam waters seven months ago.

Kin Stream Aboard

Thousands of wives, children and parents streamed aboard the big ship for a just-before-Christmas reunion. The joy of the ship's return all but blanked out the near tragedy that struck Sunday when a ruptured fuel tank of a plane leaving the carrier for its shore base spewed a sheet of flame along the flight deck.

Just before the families boarded the ship an official welcome was extended by naval, state and city officials who had landed aboard the carrier in Hampton Roads in helicopters.

The Navy unit commendation was presented to the ship and her air wing by Vice Adm. Waldemar F. A. Wendt, deputy commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet, for exceptionally meritorious service during her five months of combat operations in the South China Sea.

Surges of homecoming happiness pulsed through the ship's 4,500 officers and men and swiftly erased most of the scars of a spectacular fire that swept the flight deck at midship Sunday as the 80,000 ton flat-top was launching aircraft to fly to Oceania Naval Air Station near Norfolk.

11 Burned

Eleven flight deck crewmen were burned and four others suffered minor injuries in the fire triggered by jet fuel spilled from a ruptured drop tank of a Phantom II fighter plane.

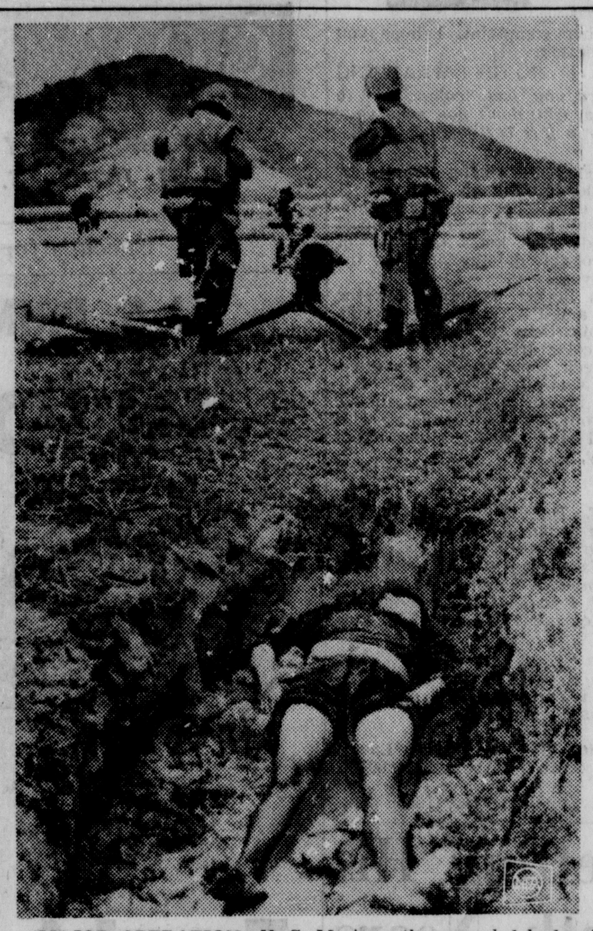

A helicopter plucked from the ocean a crewman who had leaped from the flight deck to escape the flames and an officer in the Phantom who had ejected from the plane on orders of the pilot, who thought the craft was afire. Both rescued men were unhurt and the pilot flew safely on one engine to Oceania.

Only one airplane, another Phantom II, was damaged before fire-fighters extinguished the flames with fog foam.

On her arrival at Norfolk, the carrier's crew and members of Air Wing 7 were to be greeted by their families and by Vice Adm. Waldemar Wendt, deputy commander in chief of the Atlantic Fleet.

On orders of Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze, Wendt was to present to the ship and her air

MAJOR OPERATION—U. S. Marines, the sprawled body of a dead Viet Cong at their backs, fire on Communist positions in the area south of Da Nang where thousands of Marines stormed ashore to back up a drive by South Vietnamese units. The effort to clear the Viet Cong from entrenched positions between the major American bases of Da Nang and Chu Lai is described as the largest operation for the Marines so far. (NEA Radio-Telephoto

Many Mishaps During Storm

County Escapes Car Fatals, 15 in N. Y.

Ulster County escaped entry in the death log during weekend traffic mishaps but had its share of accidents after snow, sleet and freezing rain blanketed it and nearby counties.

New York State recorded 15 highway fatalities during the weekend, including a 17-year-old Orange County youth who was killed late Saturday afternoon when the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and crashed into a tree off Oar's Mills Road, Town of Cornwall.

Middletown Youth Victim

The victim was identified by Newburgh troopers as Frederick Smith, 17, of Middletown.

Troopers said Richard G. Bruen, 19, of Blooming Grove, operator of the car was the only occupant of the vehicle using a seat belt at the time of the mishap. Bruen was cited for driving to the left of the pavement markings.

Others injured in the one-car accident were, George Dolson, 23, Washingtonville, who was taken to Cornwall Hospital and later transferred to Vassar Hospital suffering head injuries; Philip Stevens, 20, also of Washingtonville, and Norman Warner, 18, of Middletown.

Troopers said Smith and Dolson were ejected from the car as it rammed into the tree.

Paltz Resident Hurt

Highland State Police reported four New Paltz residents were injured at 11:45 a. m. Saturday when the car in which they were riding skidded out of control on Route 44-55 about a quarter of a mile east of the Traffic Circle and crashed into a rock cut.

Trooper Stanley Roberts said the car was operated by Jerry Schneiderman, 42, of 36 Plattekill Avenue, New Paltz. He sustained minor injuries, troopers said. Others injured were the driver's wife, Shelia, 39, a son, David, 6, and a daughter, Faline, 2. Mrs. Schneiderman complained of abdominal pains.

Five Hurt in Crash

Three men and two boys, all residents of the Bronx, were injured at 10:45 a. m. Saturday, when the car in which they were traveling north on the State Thruway skidded out of control, overturned down an embankment. The mishap occurred near mile post 77 about 14 miles south of Kingston.

The injured were taken to Kingston Hospital by Doctors Ambulance. An attendant reported the following injuries: John Aroni, head and leg injuries; Vincent Rondon, head injuries; Lorenzo Garcia, head and leg injuries. The boys were Rene Rondon, 15, who sustained injuries of the legs, and Raymond Rondon, 16, arm and leg injuries.

Paltz to Vote, Highland Rejects

New Paltz Central School District voters on Tuesday will decide a $1,970,000 bond issue at the polls which will be open from 2 to 9 p. m. in the high school auditorium.

Highland Central School District voters on Saturday rejected for the sixth time a $175,000 bond issue that would have provided funds for site development work at the junior-senior high school. The proposition lost by 76 votes. The vote was 414-338. Seventeen ballots were blank. On Sept. 26 a $150,000

3 Persons Hurt In 5-Car Mishap At Interchange

A five-car mishap at the Route 587 interchange in the city said to be due to slippery conditions resulted in injury to three persons Saturday, and a driver who said he was forced off course by another vehicle was injured when the car he drove struck a pole on West O'Reilly Street Sunday.

Driver Charged

Listed as drivers in the interchange collision were: Sheila P. Ettinger, 24, of Tannery Brook Road, Woodstock; Ralph S. Moseley, 24, of 103 Albany Avenue; Wayne B. Barich, 24, of Box 152-A, RD 3, Kingston; William F. Wettje, 49, of 3399 Ft. Independence Street, Bronx, and Margaret M. Koontz, 29, of 39 Smith Avenue. The latter was charged with lacking an operator's license. She is due in city court Wednesday.

Police said the car driven by Moseley "due to ice" skidded into the Koontz and Ettinger cars and the latter was spun around. The Barich car, they said, had stopped to avoid a collision and was struck in the rear by the Wettje car which "was unable to stop" and the Barich car was forced into that driven by Moseley.

Sheila Ettinger reported a head injury; Rita Wettje, 48, of the Bronx, knee and back injuries, and Georgia Christodolus, 22, of Mountain Road, Rosendale,

Foresee Ulster, Dutchess Plan

A Republican reapportionment plan calls for formation of a Senatorial District composed of Ulster and Dutchess Counties, it was made known Sunday by State Senator R. Watson Pomeroy (R-44th District) who presently represents Dutchess, Columbia, Putnam Counties.

Meanwhile, Assemblyman Willis H. Stephens, elected last fall in the 107th Assembly District, said he understands the Republican reapportionment plan calls for one assemblyman to represent central and northern Dutchess County and a southern portion of Columbia County.

Three-County Tie

Under this plan southern Dutchess would be combined with Putnam County and a small portion of Westchester County in a second district.

A State Appellate Division court last week upheld a Feb. 1 deadline set by the Supreme Court for the Legislature to adopt a new reapportionment plan.

Last year, the plan adopted was declared unconstitutional by a Federal Court, and later by the State Court of Appeals on the ground that it provides for 165 assemblymen where the Constitution stipulates 150.

Senatr Pomeroy noted the GOP reapportionment plan "is still in the preliminary stages." He anticipates Republican senators will meet before Christmas to review the plan and possibly make some changes.

To Use 1960 Census

The proposed plan calls for Assembly districts of 109,000 persons and Senate districts of 285,000. A Dutchess-Ulster district would have 294,000 persons, under the 1960 census. It was noted that the present Senate district would not meet the population requirements laid down by the courts. It is one of the oldest continuous districts in the state, dating back to 1890 when the now discarded reapportionment formula was adopted.

Anticipating a possible reapportionment fight with the Democrats, who control the Assembly, Senator Pomeroy declared that the "two houses will just have to learn to get along together." Admitting that the Republican plan, if accepted by the courts, probably would favor the Republicans and upstate areas, Pomeroy said, "but if the overall plan is to be as foolproof as possible, we must come up with a plan as good as we can make it."

Pomeroy criticized Democratic reapportionment efforts.

Union Seeks Wage Boosts, Price Curbs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders demanded today a bigger slice of the nation's wealth for workers, a federal curb on the prices of some key commodities, and a 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits.

In resolutions certain to be gaveled to quick approval by about 1,000 delegates to the federation's 10th anniversary convention, AFL-CIO policymakers also rejected White House wage guidelines and called for bold federal policies to create jobs and boost consumer purchasing power.

To Strengthen Markets

"A faster rise in wages and fringe benefits is needed to broaden and strengthen the mass markets that are the foundation of the economy," one resolution said.

Federation leaders also suggested income tax cuts for low- and middle - income families, and elimination of taxes altogether for those under the government's poverty income level of $3,000 a year.

The effects on the economy of 1964 and 1965 tax cuts have "almost completely worn off," the proposed resolution said.

In recommending a 50 per cent increase in Social Security benefits, federation leaders said the base on which Social Security taxes are assessed should be increased from the present $6,600 to $15,000 a year, supplemented by extra money from the federal Treasury. The cost should not be charged to future generations of workers and employers, they declared.

Benefits Noted

Social Security benefits now average about $92 per month for a retired single worker and $137 for a married couple.

The recent 7 per cent increase barely covered the increased cost of living, the federation said.

AFL-CIO leaders said medical care benefits under Social Security — which do not go into effect until next July — should be improved and extended to surviving widows and children.

The federation blamed the outflow of private capital, rather than wage increases, for the U.S. balance-of-payments problem in foreign trade.

It said the federal government should restrict the investment of U.S. corporations overseas.

Driver Dies In Route 28 Car Mishap

A New York City man was killed and another was injured shortly before 10:30 a. m. today when the car in which they were riding went out of control on Route 28 near the Hill Top House, Phoenicia and overturned.

Kingston State Police, who investigated with Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley, withheld the name of the dead man, who was recorded as Ulster County's 50th highway fatality of 1965.

Injured in the mishap and taken to Kingston Hospital by Gormley's Ambulance Service was a man identified as Carmine Coloa, of 2970 Randall Avenue, New York City. A third man who apparently not injured was not identified.

Trooper said the driver of the car was ejected from the vehicle which burst into flames. The driver died.

Phoenicia firemen were called to the scene to extinguish the car fire. The body of the driver was taken to the city morgue.

Sgt. Henry S. Rhodes said the body had not been identified at 1 p. m. and no further details of the accident were available at Freeman presstime.

Teachers Adopt 6-Point Program For Bargaining

Kingston Teachers' Federation at a meeting in the Hotel Stuyvesant Dec. 8 adopted a six point action program to better insure the acceptance by the Board of Education of the KTF petition for a collective bargaining election. The petition will be presented at the Jan. 6 meeting of the Board of Education.

According to Lynn Combs, chairman of the Petition Committee, the petition will bear the signatures of over 300 teachers. The first three steps of the action program were ordered, by a membership vote, to be released to the radio and press. It was stated by Howard O. Rust, KTF president "Since the remaining three steps of the action program will not be implemented until after the January meeting of the Board the membership voted not to make them public at this time."

The first three steps of the action program follow

To indicate to the Board of Education that a strong desire exists on the part of the teachers for a collective bargaining election, we approve the organization of the following demonstration:

Attempts be made through a series of KFT Newsletters, press releases, and personal contacts to get pledges from a maxium number of teachers to participate.

Demonstrators will meet at a designated place one hour prior to the meeting of the Board of Education on Jan. 6.

They will walk or drive (dependent on weather) down Fair Street and reassemble at the George Washington School.

Listen to the KTF presentation.

Seek 2 in Attack On Westrum Kin

Authorities throughout the Mid-Hudson Valley today united in a search for two teen-aged boys, who reportedly brutally beat George Caccoma, 81-year-old father-in-law of Wes Westrum, manager of the New York Mets, in his store.

The attack occurred in Cacoma's neighborhood store, which he has operated without incident for more than 35 years at 56 Dutchess Avenue, in downtown Poughkeepsie. The injured man was taken to St. Francis' Hospital where 29 sutures were taken to close two deep lacerations of his head.

Mrs. Jennie Farrell, of the Dutchess Avenue address, told The Freeman today that she has offered a $500 cash reward to the person or persons providing information that would lead to the arrest and conviction of her father's assailants

Long Grind Shows No Weariness

Scrubbed Shot Is Set for Wednesday

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—The Gemini 7 astronauts, still vigorous and mentally alert in the ninth day of the marathon space voyage, hurtled on toward new endurance records today and looked forward eagerly to a Wednesday rendezvous with Gemini 6.

Respond Quickly

Frank Borman and James Lovell have shown no evidence of weariness despite the long, grinding exposure to their strange world of space, Dr. D. Owen Coons, a flight surgeon, said today.

"They wake up sharp," he said, "respond quickly to ground commands, and make no errors in copying information relayed to them from earth stations.

"They knew what they had to do, and they are going to do it. We expect them to be as good to the end."

Gemini 7 entered its 133rd orbit at 10 a.m. EST.

Borman, an Air Force lieutenant colonel, and Lovell, a Navy commander, woke up this morning after a period of light sleep and soon began asking questions about the progress of efforts at Cape Kennedy to prepare the Gemini 6 spacecraft for a Wednesday launch.

Start Count Tuesday

They were told an abbreviated mid-count would be started Tuesday morning and prospects were good for a Wednesday firing and, at last, the biggest of all space adventures—the rendezvous of orbiting ships.

If the Gemini 6 flight is again delayed, the problem of bringing the two spacecraft down on the same day could arise. Gemini 7 now is scheduled to splash down Saturday after 14 days in space.

"We don't want to bring them down on the same day, but we will if we have to," a spokesman said.

If this happens, an effort would be made to land them one orbit apart, but it could be done on the same revolution if there were no other choice.

Borman and Lovell, the newly-crowned endurance champions of space flight, sped onward dressed "the only way to fly," in their cotton underwear.

This is Gemini 7, your friendly target vehicle, standing by," Borman messaged earth after the U.S. Sunday space spectacular stalled in a cloud of pink-tinted rocket exhaust.

The Gemini 6 pilots, Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Air Force Maj. Thomas P. Stafford, saw their 103,000-mile space hunt and rendezvous with Gemini 7 foiled before they left the launch pad at Cape Kennedy, Fla. A false signal shut off the launch rocket's engines.

Work Around Clock

Already - tired launch crews worked around the clock today to ready Gemini 6 for another pursuit try at 8:37 a.m. (EST) Wednesday. It can be fired as late as Saturday.

Borman and Lovell got orders to conserve fuel to insure them enough power to maintain their spacecraft's attitude toward the end of their space voyage. This meant an abbreviated experiment schedule and much drifting flight.

Light conversation flowed be-

Mail Volume Running Ahead of 1964 Pace

A word of caution was sounded today by Postmaster Oscar V. Newkirk amid reports that Christmas mail this year is running far ahead of the volume handled for the same period in 1964.

"Wednesday is D-Day," Postmaster Newkirk said and added "that's the last day out-of-town Christmas gifts and greetings should be deposited in the mails to be 100 per cent sure they are delivered in time."

The local postmaster said mail volume nationally has been breaking all records and that to date, the Kingston Post Office has handled 1,944,719 pieces of mail, compared to 1964's 1,453,399.

"This actually amounts to about 34 per cent above last year for the same period," Newkirk added.

Highest volume days so far, he pointed out, have been Wednesday when 278,503 pieces were processed.

So far 220,000 Christmas stamps have been purchased. Each of these attractive "special" stamps depicting the Angel Gabriel offer first-class mail privileges for Christmas cards. The use of the Gabriel stamp or any other five-cent stamp will provide forwarding service if the recipent has moved. First-class service allows for returning of the cards if they are undeliverable provided a return address is on the envelope. It also means they receive priority in handling and delivery.

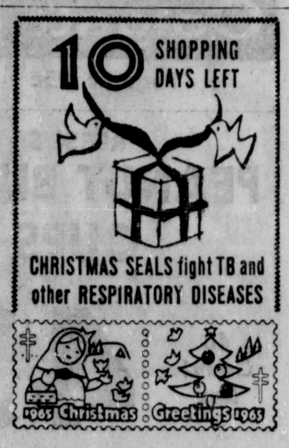

The postmaster is asking that all outgoing mail include the local ZIP Code in the return address 12401.

"This is the best time of the year to up-date mailing lists. Remember to check the ZIP Codes on all incoming mail and add them to your address book.

"Last year, ZIP Codes were a great help in speeding mail delivery. In fact, they were largely responsible for the outstanding record of on-time delivery chalked up across the nation during the Christmas rush," he said.

"At this time of the year, we especially need your help by mailing early and using the five-number Codes.

"One of the best ways to avoid unworkable peaks in mail volume is for people to mail often, not save all their mail for one big mailing," Newkirk concluded.

VFW HELPS HOME—Mrs. Arthur W. Hazenbush, president of the board of directors of the Children's Home, accepts $108 check as donation from Clayton F. Bruck, commander of Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, to help support the activity program for the boys of the home. Lawrence B. Rusk to Probe DeGaulle Stand Against NATO in Paris Talks

PARIS (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk called on French Premier Georges Pompidou today as foreign and defense ministers of the Atlantic Alliance gathered to discuss an integrated nuclear force and France's part in the alliance.

Rusk told newsmen on his arrival he did not expect anything surprising to emerge from the ministers meeting opening Tuesday at headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

But in calling on Pompidou and Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, Rusk was putting into practice another observation that: "I think my stay in Paris will be useful...to discuss with other ministers the questions in our minds."

The question uppermost in Rusk's mind as he talked with the French officials undoubtedly was President Charles de Gaulle's opposition to NATO integration.

Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart of Britain was stricken by an infection in London and will be unable to attend the NATO ministers meeting. A Foreign Office spokesman said Defense Secretary Denise Healey will act for Stewart.

U. S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara also arrived for the conference.

Ministers of the 15 NATO nations will tackle these problems:

—France's opposition to integration of NATO military forces.

—Proposals for an integrated nuclear force that would give West Germany more say in nuclear strategy.

—Indications from Moscow that progress could be made on German reunification, access to West Berlin or a Viet Nam peace conference if the integrated nuclear force idea is dropped.

Observers said trading the nuclear integration proposals for Soviet concessions on any of the above goals could lead to an East-West agreement to halt the spread of nuclear weapons.

Diplomats believe Red China's explosion of a nuclear device has made the Russians more anxious to achieve a nonproliferation agreement with the Americans and the British.

The main stumbling block to such an agreement is Moscow's opposition to the U. S. and British proposals for NATO nuclear integration. The Soviets say the proposals wuld give West Germany indirect access to nuclear weapons.

The American proposal for a

Forbid Mourning Band

CLEVELAND (AP) — A 17-year-old Euclid High School senior was suspended from school Friday after being warned by school authorities not to wear a black arm band to protest U.S. involvement in Viet Nam.

Principal William A. Hunter said the youth, William F. Hornsby Jr., was being sent home because he disregarded instructions from school authorities.

"We are not questioning his right to dissent," Hunter said, "but wearing armbands, carrying placards and other things like this can only lead to a disorganized situation."

States Must Aid RR's

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) —States must help support railroads and must not rely heavily on permanent federal aid, says Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.

It would be difficult, he said to convince a group of Southern senators to vote for permanent aid for a high-speed rail project which would service only a small portion of the Northeast.

Auction Cigarettes

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York's state tax department will go into the auction business briefly this week to unload 48,558 packages of cigarettes seized in a crackdown on smuggling since the legislature doubled the state tax this year to 10 cents a pack.

Dear Abby . . .

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Recently we had a death in our family. Kind friends and neighbors carried in much-appreciated food. But, Abby, WHY don't friends and neighbors get together and plan what they should take? After all, who can use 16 cakes, 10 pies, 12 dozen cookies and 8 bowls of jello salad? No one brought what we really needed, like chicken or meat and potatoes. With seven carloads of out-of-town relatives to feed, we finally had to send to a drive-in for sandwiches. Don't get the idea we didn't appreciate folks sending in what they did, but at a time like that we would have appreciated some meat and potatoes a lot more.

HAPPENED TO ME

DEAR HAPPENED: Only if someone assumes the responsibility of taking charge of the food (a dubious honor for which few will volunteer), can this problem be solved. In the absence of such a coordinator, each friend and neighbor will naturally bring whatever he finds easiest to prepare and within his budget. If one inquires, "What shall I bring?" suggestions can be made. Otherwise, the recipient should accept graciously whatever is brought and provide whatever is needed, but lacking, themselves.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I am sure that "CONFIDENTIAL TO PERPLEXED" was meant for me. Someone apparently wrote and asked if sending gifts with the price tags and sales slips enclosed was a "new-fangled custom" and if it was proper. Your answer to both questions was a flat NO!

I don't ordinarily send my gifts that way, Abby, but I have a niece who has exchanged every gift I have ever sent her, so why should I bother to gift-wrap them? The price is no secret because when she goes to exchange the gift, she finds out how much I paid for it anyway. If she's offended, it's just too bad.

Don't ask me why I continue to send her gifts. I feel compelled to because her mother was so good to me, but that's another story. Since you printed her complaint, I hope you will print my explanation.

NO GIFT-WRAPPING

DEAR NO: Since you feel "compelled" to give your niece gifts, why don't you save your energy and send her a gift certificate?

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: I sure got a bang out of your telling that man who didn't know the color of his wife's eyes to check her driver's license. But I don't know why a wife should get upset because her husband didn't know the color of her eyes when he probably didn't even know the color of his OWN eyes.

I am a driver's license examiner for the State of Oklahoma, and I have seen men, while filling out their applications for a license, yell, "Hey, Mabel, what color are my eyes?" I have also seen people check their wallets for other licenses to see what was put down for the color of their eyes. And in our applications, under EYES, someone wrote, "TWO." Someone else wrote "20/20" and one person even wrote "BLEW." Sincerely,

E. E. IN SHAWNEE

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. F. T. R. IN HARTFORD: There is hardly a more earnest champion of teenage morality than this writer, and because I published the letter signed "ST. LOUIS" without comment, I regret that it gave the impression that I was all for pre-marital sleeping together. You are right. I should have blasted the writer.

matter of Fact

The dingo, or wild Australian dog, cannot bark in the wild state. It emits a yelp or howl. However, when domesticated, it has been known to imitate the bark of the domestic canine. The dingo was almost shot into extinction by hunters because of its destruction of sheep. But the introduction of the rabbit afforded it a food supply and its numbers again increased.

Maugham Getting His Wish as Death Nears

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Somerset Maugham at 91, getting too deaf to listen to music and too blind from cataracts to read, began slipping toward death Saturday in a way that would have pleased him. He was in a coma.

Twenty - seven years ago, when he was 64 and beginning to look down the uncertain corridor ahead, this English novelist, playwright and short-story writer explained how he would like to die.

Hoped to Avoid Pain

He hoped he would not be aware of death's approach, he said, or undergo its pain. Yet, he guessed wrong about the thought of growing old. He said it didn't dismay him.

"It would be a very silly person," he said, "who drew the curtains and turned on the light to shut out the tranquility of the evening."

But at 91, deaf and going blind, he was saying: "I am sick of this way of life. The weariness and sadness of old age make it intolerable."

In this spirit he approached the end of a long writing career which no one, including Maugham, considered great. He was a third-rater who made a rich living out of it. He said he had been writing for money since he was 18.

But he was a good writer, very readable, always clear and, as Clifton Fadiman said, a professional "offering high-grade entertainment. His hallmark is neither passion nor depth. It is good sense."

Maugham wrote 30 novels, 25 plays, 120 short stories. His best work was his novel, "Of Human Bondage," written in 1915. He thought it was his best, too.

By the time he was in his 60s, with most of his work behind him, he said he had no illusions about his place in English literature and that only two important British critics took him seriously.

In "The Summing Up," which he wrote in 1938 on his life, his work, and his outlook, he said, "In my twenties the critics said I was brutal; in my thirties they said I was flippant; in my forties they said I was cynical; in my fifties they said I was competent; and now in my sixties they say I am superficial.

"I look upon it as natural then that the world of letters should have attached no great importance to my work."

Head Full of Ideas

Maugham admitted his memory was bad but he said his head was always full of ideas for writing. He worked hard to improve himself, considering "simplicity not such an obvious merit as lucidity."

He regretted that he didn't have someone "with good sense" to direct his reading when he was young. But he traveled the world in search of experience for his writing. He warned writers to seek experience, not to wait for it.

This was why he condemned one of his contemporaries, Henry James, for standing at a window. In "Tellers of Tales" — a collection of short stories he edited — he said James "failed of being a good writer because his experience was inadequate and his sympathies were imperfect."

Maugham, in expressing lack of illusion about the merit of his work, called himself a "teller of tales round the fire."

ARC Urges Area Girls to Enroll For Special Jobs

American Red Cross, 308 Clinton Avenue, reported today that the ARC might have an unusual opportunity for girls if they are single, over 21 and a recent college graduate with experience or interest in recreation and other allied fields.

"We are now greatly expanding the overseas Clubmobile program, particularly in South Viet-Nam," G. Alan Johnson, chairman of the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, said today. "There are 17 ARC Clubmobile workers in Viet-Nam at present, and increased troop commitments indicate that some 80 more will be needed as that program spreads to 10 more locations during the coming year."

Workers in Korea

The ongoing Clubmobile program in Korea — in operation since 1952—keeps some 45 ARC recreation workers hard at work traveling nearly 10,000 miles each month taking audience participation programs to U. S. servicemen in remote areas, Johnson said. Both Clubmobile programs — in Korea and Viet-Nam — were started by the American Red Cross on the specific request of the local military commanders and the Department of Defense.

ARC Clubmobile for troops in remote areas, particularly for those actually fighting as in South Viet-Nam, are an important part of the defense effort of the United States, the Red Cross spokesman said. "To be able to spend an hour away from the war, talking with an American girl and participating in an organized recreational program can mean a lot to a young man far from home."

Johnson explained that clubs and recreational facilities for servicemen in South Viet-Nam are few and far between. "The Red Cross Clubmobile is the only facility that not only has a fixed location where the troops can come, but actually takes the programs to the servicemen in the field as security permits."

Recent college graduates, experienced in the recreation field and interested in this Clubmobile program, are urged to to contact the Ulster County Chapter of the Red Cross, 308 Clinton Avenue, Kingston or Eastern Area, American Red Cross, Personnel Office, 615 North St. Asaph Street, Alexandria, Virginia 22314, for further information, Johnson said. New training courses begin in January and February. Since time is required to process applications, Johnson urged young women qualified and interested in the program not to delay in contacting the Red Cross.

Applicants selected will receive thorough orientation, on-the-job training, and professional supervision. In the realm of fringe benefits, Johnson said, the American Red Cross offers a retirement plan, Social Security, group health and life insurance, annual and sick leave. After completion of one year tour of duty, a staff member is eligible for an assignment in a Red Cross program in the U. S.

Sailor Shows Up

HONG KONG (AP) — A 17-year-old U.S. Navy sailor walked across the Red China border bridge today and told British immigration officials he had been on the Communist side since he disappeared from his ship in Hong Kong a week ago.

Officials identified him as Edwin Ross Armstrong, an apprentice seaman reported missing when his ship left Hong Kong Dec. 3 after a five-day visit.

Armstrong's hometown, next of kin, and further identification were withheld.

U.S. consulate officials said the Hong Kong immigration authorities had turned the youth over to U.S. Navy officials here.

Both consulate and navy officials refused further comment.

BATTLE FOR MONEY

The battle for money is intense. Savings and Loan Associations are paying 4.85 per cent on deposits. Tens of millions of dollars are flowing from banks in the East to the Pacific Coast.

Commercial banks all over America which normally specialize on demand deposits that earn no interest for their owners are gunning for savings and time deposits.

And mutual savings banks are wondering what can be done to stop dollar withdrawals. Some of them would like to have the banking authorities give them permission to increase interest rates.

In New York City, two giant commercial banks, First National City and Chase Manhattan, have huge savings deposits.

And Morgan Guaranty Trust, whose deposits increased from $4,590,000,000 on September 30, 1964, to $5,403,000,000 on September 30, 1965, had large time deposit gains during the same period—from $1,165,000,000 in 1964 to $1,626,000,000 in 1965.

Payments in interest went from $36,872,000 for nine months to September 30th, 1964, to $50,835,000 for the nine months to September 30th, 1965.

These conditions account somewhat for the present weakness of prime bank shares. Conservative investors who are needlessly selling bank stocks because of the battle for dollars are following illogical policies.

Even though Morgan Guaranty—the world's greatest bank—paid out about $14,000,000 in interest more in nine months during 1965 than in 1964, the capital account grew from $625,000,000 to $647,000,000.

Dozens of industrial stocks that are listed on the Stock Exchanges have a big national following. Speculation in them for capital gains has pushed their prices very high. They can be carried on margin. Hundreds of customers' brokers whose salaries are based on commissions urge clients to trade in the shares.

Most bank stocks are unlisted. As a result, they do not have the popularity of the industrial equities. Furthermore, they are seldom carried on margin. In fact, most New York Stock Exchange brokers refuse to give clients credits on bank shares, with a few exceptions.

A good bank stock belongs in every well-diversified portfolio. And from the Atlantic to the Pacific, there are dozens of well-managed institutions whose stocks carry growth and pay satisfactory dividends.

It's my opinion that just now, many bank equities are on the bargain counter. I am buying a lot of them with money realized from the sale of high-priced, high-grade industrials.

General Electric, the greatest company in its field in the world, at $115 a share, is no bargain. Morgan Guaranty Trust, at about $102, paying nearly twice as much, is cheap.

Crash Kills 7 Of One Family, 4 Others Hurt

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — A two-car collision 10 miles north of here Friday killed seven members of a Plainview family.

The accident, on Texas Highway 194, also injured four other persons.

All the dead were in one car. The Department of Public Safety identified them as Anastacio Guana, his wife, Francisco Cordova Guana, both in their 30s; their three children, Ramicio, 7; Ray 4 months, and Sylvia 6; Mrs. Guana's father, Melecio Cordova Martinez, 57, driver of the car, and her sister, Anita Cordova Martinez, 18.

The injured were all in the second car.

Rome Man Killed In Coast Crash

INDIO, Calif. (AP) — A car plunged off a desert highway into a gully today, killing all four young men in it, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Sgt. William Cox said the victims were tentatively identified from belongings as:

Richard Lee Taylor, 23, home town undetermined.

Harry South, 26, Zenia, Ohio.

Cletus Witchley, 22, Rome, N.Y.

Charles Kinney, 32, Grand Junction, Colo.

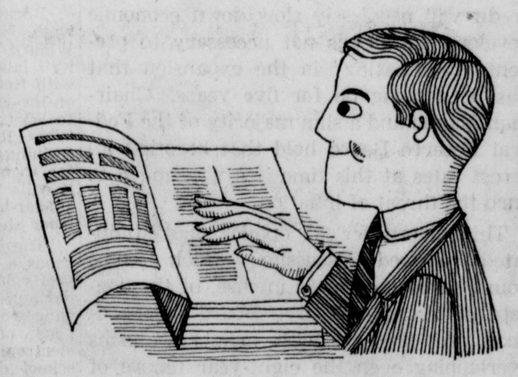

Cox said the 11-year-old westbound car failed to negotiate a slight curve on a slight downgrade of Interstate 10, a divided freeway, five miles east of this desert community.

Running into the gully, it hit an embankment and rolled over twice, coming to rest on one side. The impact left all occupants in the front seat, "stacked up like cord wood," Cox said.

TWO VITAL QUESTIONS

Two important questions are raised by the Federal Reserve Board's increase in bank interest rates. One concerns this action's potential impact on the national economy. The other has to do with a fundamental policy matter—the extent to which the board should be independent of Congress and the administration.

The first has been the immediate focal point of most attention. The administration and the Fed take opposed views as to the effect of the rate increase. The President, in concert with most of his economic advisers, thinks that raising the cost of credit will needlessly slow down economic development and is not necessary to prevent "overheating" in the expansion that has been going on for five years. Chairman Martin and a slim majority of the Federal Reserve Board hold that boosting interest rates at this time is a wise move to curb the threat of inflation.

This divergence of opinion has stimulated renewed discussion, which seems bound to become more intense, of the concept of Federal Reserve Board independence. At present, with members' terms overlapping even the eight-year tenure of a President who stays in office through two terms, the board is effectively beyond White House control and not responsive to the will of Congress. There is considerable sentiment led by Chairman Wright Patman of the House Banking Committee for revision of the Fed's structuring and powers. Many advocate more policy coordination; others insist that the Fed must retain its independence.

These are not simple questions that can readily be resolved by weighing the arguments on either side and arriving at a balance. They are questions of judgment, and of economic and governmental philosophy. They are questions that ought to be pondered by thoughtful citizens as the debate continues.

The government gets out a 414-page guide to federal assistance programs. But just one word—taxpayers—is required to tell who pays for them.

HOW NOW RED COW?

The Soviet Union is going to pass the United States in milk production this year for the first time ever, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports.

Can it be that Khrushchev's boast that the U.S.S.R. would eventually surpass the U.S.A. in every way is coming true?

Or dare we hope that milk-fed Reds from a land of contented cows will prove a bit less bullheaded in international pastures in the future.

Some ingenious Japanese has invented a chocolate Christmas card that can be eaten. To augment the convivial Yuletide spirit, how about rum centers?

After a quiet time since the World Series, baseball's back on the sports pages. It's just as well, too: the Hot Stove League was about out of material.

MAGNET OF THE WEST

Writers of Western lore, both fact and fiction, have reason to take some pride in the results of their work. They have been a big factor in so focusing the interest of easterners on the West that tourism has become a multi-million-dollar enterprise and is still growing rapidly.

The chairman of the Western governors' Task Force on Travel Promotion has predicted that another decade will see travel become a 20-billion-dollar-a-year enterprise in their area. Though this seems over-optomistic—or pessimistic, in the view of Westerners who prefer their space uncluttered by hordes of visitors—it may prove to be a reasonable forecast. More than 150 million Americans even now live east of the Rockies, and the land of the cowpokes and bonanza hunters is something many of them still have not seen. Vast numbers of them will go to have a look.

Fundamentally this is all to the good, not only for the Westerners but for all who have yet to learn what a wonderful country we have. The extent and riches of our natural heritage cannot be fully realized without doing a little exploring.

U.S. policy in Vietnam is said to be at a critical point—thanks in part to the fact that it's been the target of so many critics.

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WHERE THE FUTURE IS MADE

ROCKFORD, Illinois—If this columnist were given to puffing "automation" advances into dire predictions of a world in which factories will have no need for human labor, he would be projecting future unemployment curves through the roof on the basis of what he has seen here. Certainly some of the experiments that are being carried on by the machine tool makers of this astounding city, an hour west of Chicago, portend vast changes in our industrial practices.

For instance, at the Ingersoll Milling Company you will be shown a machine that pares metal from a shape destined to be a die without the intervention of a professional die maker. Responding with fantastic accuracy to taped directions, the machine's cutting and grinding edge moves forwards, sideways and up or down simultaneously What this might do eventually to the die makers, who are the aristocrats of the automobile manufacturing business, could be of great concern to the United Automobile Workers' Walter Reuther.

Then there is another type of machine, still in the mock-up stage, that will enable a manufacturing company to use automated production lines for batch production. One such machine destined for a European customer, would profitably adapt automation techniques to the making of as few as twenty or thirty identical products at a run. The trick, again, will involve the use of computerized taped directions, which can be shifted from day to day for various parts of the production line. If things work out, this particular development of automation will enable the small manufacturer to get the benefit of machines that are now of important labor-saving value only to the big mass industries.

It would be easy to be an alarmist about the prospect of jobs melting away as Rockford's experiments conquer the world of factory production. But Rockford itself is an example of what the employment picture could be in the world of the future. It is a town suffering from a severe labor shortage. It takes many men to design and make the machines that will put other men out of work — and the opportunities for planning the production lines of the future for big manufacturers and small all over the world promise to be virtually limitless. For a long time to come Rockford, and other places like it, should be able to absorb each and every die maker who might lose his job because of a die-shaping machine that Rockford sells. The old skills die and new skills are born.

Rockford is a remarkable community in many ways. Not so long ago U.S. Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz offered to help solve the community's labor problems. "We'd be delighted to work with Rockford industries," he said, "in developing on-the-job training programs." Rockford's answer to Wirtz was, in effect, to tell him to "go blow." What Rockford needs now is not help in job training, which is something the companies do for themselves, but a continuing supply of what it calls "warm bodies." A new Chrysler plant in a near-by town has intensified the region's acute labor shortage.

The Barber-Colman Company, for example, needs a steady supply of youths. And it finds it preferable to start recruits at scratch, letting new employees learn from the old and sending promising workers to adult evening schools at the expense of the company to learn about advanced electronics. It does not discriminate against high school drop-outs, provided it is convinced that laziness is not the prime reason for a boy quitting school. If Willard Wirtz wants to help a company like Barber-Colman in its apprentice program, he might better work to relax the $1.80 hourly minimum wage where it pertains to kids just out of high school. The average U.S. manufacturer can't afford to offer training at such a wage — which is obviously one reason why the cost is being palmed off on the American taxpayer, often with unsatisfactory results.

Rockford, according to certain Great Societarians, is a town rooted in the attitudes of the past. It has been criticized for refusing federal downtown urban renewal money But if its self-help past is an augury of its future, it shouldn't be too long before it tackles urban renewal all by itself.

THE WELL CHILD

A Lot of Love In a Child's Gift

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Although it is generally considered more blessed to give than to receive, we all to often lose sight of the fact that there is an art to receiving.

This is especially true if your 6-or 7-year-old child has planned a Christmas surprise for you. When you open it you may feel bewilderment, indifference or downright disappointment, but do not at all costs let any of these feelings show through. At the age of 6, with limited talents and even more limited funds, it was no easy task for this child to hit upon a gift to impress an adult.

Remember that your child has put a lot of love into what he has made or bought for you. The least you can do is put a lot of delight, simulated if necessary, into your acceptance of it. If its intended use eludes you, you can still say, "It's just what I wanted," or, "I'll treasure it always." And, because your child gave it to you, you should be able to say this with real conviction.

Having accepted it, make sure you put it to some use. Use it for a paperweight to replace the one you are using now or hang it on a wall in a place where you will see it every day. If it has a concave surface, use it to hold pins and paper clips. The strengthened bond between you and your child will be well worth the effort.

Q — What is the Arnold-Chiari malformation? Can it be cured?

A—In some children during development before birth there is a failure of complete fusion or closure of the right and left half of the spinal column with the result that a cyst protrudes from the back. This is associated with an obstruction of the flow of the cerebrospinal fluid from the brain to the spinal column and a pronounced enlargement of the head due to water on the brain. This combination of birth defects is the Arnold-Chiari malformation. Surgical treatment early in infancy will sometimes correct the difficulty.

Q—Our 6-year-old daughter has a large vein diagonally across the front of her neck. When she laughs or cries it stands out very prominently. Can anything be done for this?

A—In some persons the jugular vein is closer to the surface and therefore more prominent than in most persons. Laughing, crying, coughing, grunting and sneezing exert pressure on this vein and cause it to become distended. No treatment is required.

"It's Just a Lot of Hot Air!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Recent events in aluminum, steel, copper, shipping, the railways and in the schools make it clear that in the past 20 years or so the White House indirectly has acquired a trunkful of new powers.

These new powers were not directly provided to the president by the constitution. They were not intentionally given to the president by Congress.

They are, rather, powers he has acquired as by-products of dollars and contracting and allocation authority voted by Congress for entirely different purposes.

A president with imagination, widespread government know-how and determination can use these "tools" for a variety of objectives for which they were not intended. He can even deny he is using them for these "other purposes."

He can impose his will on wide areas of the economy and for objectives that greatly affect our personal lives.

He can, for example, use new indirect powers to influence prices, profits, wages, hiring, managing and firing policies and what local city and county schools teach. He can decide that some firms will grow and others decline.

THE MULTIBILLION DOLLAR stockpiles were set up so that the United States wouldn't ba caught short of basic materials in a major war.

By selling or refusing to sell materials from the stockpiles a president can force prices down or up and thus regulate company profits.

The multibillion dollar defense and space budgets were voted to keep the United States safely ahead of Communist Russia.

But a president can use this multibillion - dollar - a - year contracting power to give or refuse contracts to major companies as a tool to force these firms or their unions into line.

By selecting areas where new contracts were let or new government facilties built, a president could wipe out the prosperity of one community and create prosperity in another.

ANTITRUST LAWS were voted to prevent monopolies from harming the public and small businessmen.

But at some future date a president's underlings conceivably could threaten an antitrust investigation against a large firm which refused to co-operate in a government program—say a program to roll back prices. A firm could be threatened with a study of its tax returns.

Since, even for innocent firms, the cost of gathering evidence and conducting a defense might be very costly, the temptation to go along with a president could be overpowering.

CONGRESS VOTED BILLIONS for education. A president can shut off sizable chunks of money to major school systems until those systems comply with Administration rulings. These can go far beyond whether a school system integrates. Through national testing requirements, federal rules on teaching and teachers can be indirectly applied to schools receiving federal money.

If the Federal Bureau of Investigation should ever be headed by a man less honest and courageous than J. Edgar Hoover, the files of that organization could be a strong weapon in the hands of a president who wanted to convince individuals to follow his suggestions.

GRAND BAHAMA, B.W.I. — There is a fascination about money—either having it, losing it, or hoping to get it—and it reaches its height in a gambling casino. Any gambling casino. The iris of the human eye assumes the configuration of a dollar sign and the attitude of the desperate player is complete indifference.

He hides the pounding heart behind a breast-pocket kerchief. His smile is brief and perfunctory. He tosses the chips onto a baize table as though he couldn't care less what happened to them. And yet, money to him is life itself; it is what a beautiful woman is to other men; what a bicycle is to an orphan; what a mother's breast is to an infant.

The compulsive gambler is ill. He cannot stop even when his shoes have holes in the soles and he can place a dime underfoot and tell whether it is heads or tails. Win or lose, his mentality tells him that the next wager is going to be the big winner. Always the next one.

The casual gambler is an egotist. He bets on a horse, a roulette table, dice, or the turn of a card because he feels that he can outwit all of them. The lady gambler is trying to get something for nothing. She sees the stack of chips as new shoes, or a gown beyond her means, or a beaded sweater. Whether she wins or loses, she maintains a certain timidity about risking more chips.

I have seen them in casinos at Monte Carlo, Cap D'Antibes, Hong Kong, Port-au-Prince, Le-Lavandou, Beirut, private clubs in London, and here at a luxury resort called Lucaya. The same types prevail everywhere.

The grouch cascades his chips from one hand to the other. He has melted features and poached eyes. At roulette, he makes his bets only when the pill is ready to drop into a slot. This irritates the croupier, and the grouch knows it. Attempts at friendly banter by neighboring players are met by a grunt. "Gimme a drink," he says to the table. When it arrives, he says: "I ordered this a half hour ago. It's warm too."

The working man on vacation shoots craps. He buys $20 in dollar chips and watches the play for awhile before he makes his first bet. He is the man who cannot afford to lose, but must because, if he wins a little, the chips lose value in his eyes and he will bet too many on a hunch, or an effort to make a sudden killing. He is always ready to reach for one more $10 bill.

His wife is the one standing behind him chewing her nails to the elbows. She does not have the faith in him that he does. The working man's conscience forces him to slip her a few dollars and tell her to try the quarter slot machines. If she wins, and hits the jackpot, her shriek will be heard throughout the elegant room. Male players will glance at each other with understanding smiles.

If she loses, she will stand away from the one-armed bandit and watch the next player, to see if the machine was about to "hit." The middle-aged woman who plays roulette often carries a pencil and a sheet of paper. On this she marks the winning numbers with a little "R" or "B" for red or black. She has a fixed notion that everything levels off in the end If 21 hasn't come up in an hour, she will start with one chip and work herself up to her limit as her eyes ask the croupier for pity.

The man has a limit. He will avoid the high odds bets, and play for even money or slightly better. He will bet a little bit with a good craps-shooter and will graduate it upward if the dice are hot. Each time, he will take a little of his winnings off the table and permit the rest to "ride." If he can average $50 to $100 a night he considers it a good day's work.

The high roller is a showoff. He treats money with contempt. He asks loudly for the limit on bets, even though he knows what they are. He will bet stacks of $25 and $50 chips and will never permit himself a smile or a frown whether he wins or loses. At blackjack, he will ask the pit boss to lift the betting limit especially for him. He is in constant need of two things: money and attention.

Last night I spent a little time in the Lucayan Beach Casino with Carl Smith, the pit boss at the roulette tables. His grandson stood behind me and Carl introduced the young man. He was tall and strong and young and he was studying a gambling casino for the first time.

"Excuse me," he said, "could you tell me why you put some of those chips on numbers and others between numbers?" I said sure. We got into a conversation and I tried to explain everything I knew about the game. He paid strict attention. One of my bets paid off and he watched a huge stack of chips shoved in my direction.

"Interesting," he said. "Now tell me—after you win enough of those things, what do you do with them?" . . . .

Failure to Replace Bundy Won't Mean End of Dilemma

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Hints are coming from official sources that next February, when McGeorge Bundy leaves his post as special assistant to President Johnson on foreign affairs, there will be no successor.

If this means—with all due respect to Mr. Bundy, who is a conscientious and able public servant—that there is to be an end to the system of "an extra Secretary of State" which has prevailed in this and preceding administrations, then the development is a salutary one.

The American people are not generally aware of the risks that are involved when an official, sitting at the side of the President, advocates a change in foreign policy which sometimes is in opposition to the views expressed by the Secretary of State and his associates in the Department of State. Many a crucial decision has been made on the spur of the moment by accepting the advice of a special assistant who is permitted to exercise a direct influence on the shaping of policy.

During several administrations a more or less prominent person has been interposed at the White House offices between the President and the Secretary of State. The late John Foster Dulles fought successfully against the idea, but some other Secretaries of State have not fared so well. Even as far back as the Administration of Woodrow Wilson, Col. Edward House always had direct access to the President and in effect, superseded the Secretary of State by exerting an influence on the negotiations before, during and after the First World War. This has since been the subject of many a criticism by historians.

Mr Bundy has been tactful and has pursued his delicate task without alienating the State Department, though now and then there have been murmurings of dissent.

The dilemma is not removed, however, by deciding not to replace Mr. Bundy. Maybe what is meant by the rumors is that the new "special assistant" may not be of the stature of Mr. Bundy and would act more as a liaison man than as a policy maker. But even this is not a solution to the problem faced by a busy President who must constantly be familiar with what's going on not only in foreign but in domestic affairs.

A Secretary of State himself, on the other hand, has a hard time keeping abreast of every phase of international affairs, including the economic and military complications which arise in foreign relations. It is true that the Secretary of the Treasury handles some of these matters, and so does the Secretary of Defense. The Secretary of State, however heads up a vast department with several important subdivisions and special commissions. The staff, for instance, presided over by the American Ambassador to the United Nations is virtually a State Department in itself.

A number of years ago this correspondent suggested that the President of the United States might consider establishing the executive offices in the building across the street from the White House originally used by three departments. The entire Cabinet could have offices there, too. They are appointees confirmed by the Senate, and they are given authority by Congressional statutes to perform certain functions under the direction of the President. Under Secretaries could then be named to act as general managers of each of the executive departments spread throughout the national capital.

A Cabinet council, however next door to the President—constantly available to discuss all major problems with the Chief Executive — could safeguard the nation against the perils of one-man government.

Mr. Bundy should really be replaced by the Secretary of State himself. After all, the President is responsible for the conduct of foreign policy and, under Federal statutes, the Secretary of State is the principal agent of the Chief Executive in carrying on international relations.

Too much of the President's time is devoted to ceremonials. These could be handled by the Vice President. But allowing a special assistant—invisible to the public and not responsible directly to anyone but the President—to make foreign policy does not carry out Constitutional or statutory obligations. The lack of such co-ordination can be the future responsible for major errors in the conduct of the foreign relations of the United States.

Speaker Is Announced For Data Processors

William J. Fisher, vice-president of Monarch Metal Products, Inc. of New Windstor, will be the principal speaker at the December meeting of the Data Processing Management Association.

The DPMA meeting will be held at the Red Door, Route 44 near Pleasant Valley, on Dec. 14 at 7:30 p. m.

Fisher will describe and demonstrate a new binding machine, introduced by Monarch Metal Products, which can bind any paper material in three to five minutes. Known as MONO-BIND, the machine can be used for binding reports, purchase orders, check vouchers, cancelled checks and other business papers.

Prior to joining the New Windsor Firm in 1961, Fisher served in various data processing capacities in the Bell System.

A slide film, "What is DPMA?," also will be shown at the Dec. 14 meeting. The film illustrates the growth of the Data Processing Management Association and outlines a number of activities being undertaken by the organization.

Health for All

The Seal of Better Health

Winter birds fluttering around a Christmas tree . . . weary birds seeking rest and warmth in the outstretched hand of a little child. These gentle images, reproduced in miniature on strips and blocks of Christmas Seals, convey much of the spirit of Christmas and the meaning of the Christmas Seal in action.

What they project is a message of hope for better health—this year as in the fifty-six earlier years this emblem has been with us. Nor has it been an idle hope. Since 1908, when the Christmas Seal made its debut, millions of people have been made healthier and happier through programs in which the National Tuberclosis Association, the Christmas Seal's sponsor, took part.

A whole vast cycle of medical and public health progress has been achieved during that time, with new, more effective drug treatments against TB, better methods of hospital care, better techniques for finding infected persons and bringing them to treatment, improved ways of warding off the germ. All of these achievements were the result of no single organization's efforts, but were arrived at through long patient effort by public and private voluntary groups in which the Christmas Seal organization played its special part.

The sobering fact remains that TB still strikes more than 50,000 Americans each year. Plenty of work remains to be done before it is finally eradicated. And a large group of other respiratory diseases including the increasingly troublesome emphysema and chronic bronchitis, must be brought under control too. Public support of the Christmas Seal campaign in past years has helped greatly in this work. It is to be hoped that the public will respond this year more generously than ever.

Dr. Comstock's Book on Animal Lore in Catskills

Dr. John A. Comstock, D.D.S. of 317 Lucas Avenue is the author of The Battles of Boro, which is rich in animal lore and in Catskill tradition. Published December 6, it is a book for all lovers of outdoor life — nature students, huntsmen, observers.

This is the story of Boro, black boar bear of the Catskills, from his birth as a one-pound weakling to the day when, full of years of amazing wisdom, he looks down from his ledge as undisputed monarch of the forest. A fascinating book, geographically, zoologically and chronolgically, The Battles of Boro comes as close as any book ever will to describing the day-to-day life of such a bear as he roams his beloved mountains.

Boro is no fictional hero, but a real bear of whom the author, a knowledgeable huntsman whose many travels in this country, Canada and Europe have been interspersed with hunting and fishing expeditions, has come to feel such abiding respect that he has passed up numerous opportunities to kill him.

Nor does this book limit its wealth of descriptive information to Boro and his kind. In these pages appear countless creatures of the Catskills—deer, raccoon, fox, lynx, porcupine, owl, partridge, blue jay—even the tiny field mouse upon which others prey, each as it pursues its way of survival among the forest dangers.

Relationships between the forest and birds and animals, which are closer than many humans realize are revealed. And as you read it you will experience, as the author has, a certain affection for Boro and a deeper insight into the habits and the hardships of the Catskills' denizens.

Beautification Helps, Window Breakage Dips

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials report that window breakage has been cut in half at nine Washington schools landscaped through Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson's beautification program.

Walter Washington, executive director of the National Capital Housing Authority and a member of Mrs. Johnson's beautification committee, said Friday that as a result 52 more district schools want to get in on the program.

"We are finding," Wanhington said, "that the whole beautification program has a dimension far beyond planting." He said that school children who have helped to landscape their schools care more about taking care of them.

Window breakage last year cost $119,320 in the District of Columbia schools.

Troy Marine Is Killed in Viet

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—"I wonder if they have ever been scared?" a 24-year - old Marine asked about anti - war demonstrators shortly before he died in battle in Viet Nam.

Pfc. Robert C. Felter, who last week wrote a letter to the Troy Record protesting "college pranksters" and anti - war demonstrators, was reported killed Saturday in the fighting around Que Son, South Viet Nam.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Felter of Troy, said Sunday they had received a telegram from the Department of Defense notifying them of their son's death.

In his letter, Felter said, "I have been scared and still am scared. But I know it has got to be done and I do it."

He wrote to the newspaper:

"Maybe if they came over here and saw guys blown up by mines, getting hit by mortars or being shot; maybe it would sink into their thick skulls what we are doing over here to keep them free so they can go to college."

Felter had been in the Marines three years and in Viet Nam for six months with the Seventh Marine Regiment.

Cerino Promoted By Troopers as Troop A Captain

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — State Police Lt. James A. Cerino, 45, of Clinton, has been promoted to captain of Troop A. Batavia.

In other changes announced Saturday, the force promoted two senior investigators, Philip G. Emden, 35, of White Sulphur Springs, and Raymond M. Kisor, 35, of Elbridge, to lieutenant.

Emden, who has been at Gerndale, replaces Cerino as head of Troop T, Syracuse. Kisor, who has been at Liverpool, goes to Saranac Lake, Troop B. Cerino replaces Capt. Kenneth E. Weidenborner, who retired.

Orbiting Astros Occasionally Lose Track of Time

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP)—It's understandable that men who go around the world 16 times in one day can lose track of time.

In prolonged conversations with ground control Friday, Air Force Lt. Col. Frank Borman, command pilot of the orbiting Gemini 7 spacecraft, referred repeatedly to "tomorrow's" rendezvous with Gemini 6. The launch of the hunter spacecraft actually was two days distant at the time.

Newsmen asked Dr. Charles Berry, the astronauts flight-surgeon, if the Gemini 7 crewmen lost some sense of time.

"I think that's typical of this crew," said Berry. "If something is going to happen 24 hours away, they're ready for it 48 hours before it happens. And they've been that much ahead and on top of things all the time.

"I really don't think there's anything more to it than that."

Origin Unknown

It is not known when and where the custom of the Christmas tree began, but many legends are told about its origin. It is thought that the custom is a survival of the tree worship of ancient Germanic tribes.

THE U.S. MARK—The American effort in South Viet Nam is changing the landscape of the country. New airfields, port facilities, roads and military bases are going up at a round-the-clock pace with construction costs expected to reach the half-billion dollar mark. Newsmap locates sites of some of the major projects. Biggest is at Cam Ranh Bay, the best natural harbor in Southeast Asia being developed as a massive new port complex. New jet runways and deepwater piers are going in at Da Nang. Runways are being expanded at Chu Lai, Phan Rang and Tan Sonn Hut, Saigon's airport. New port facilities near Saigon are in the planning stage.

AEC Decision Near

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission is getting closer to a decision on where to locate its $280-million atom smasher.

Four-man teams have completed special inspections of the 85 sites still in the running, and are turning their reports over to the National Academy of Sciences.

The academy is to recommend five or six of the locations to the AEC.

An AEC spokesman said the academy recommendations aren't expected before the end of January.

To Study Polygraphs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John E. Moss says the President has set up an inter-agency committee to study the federal use of polygraphs as "lie detectors."

The California Democrat, chairman of the Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee, said the presidential action is in line with a recommendation earlier this year from the Moss subcommittee.

Said Moss: "A series of hearings and investigations by my subcommittee disclosed that there is no such thing as a valid 'lie detector,' yet federal agencies are spending nearly $5 million a year to operate the electronic gadgets."

Wants Arsenal Share

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard says his country must be given a share in control of the West's nuclear arsenal.

In a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report," Erhard said: "...West Germany is presently threatened by almost 1,000 Soviet medium-range rockets, plus some new self-propelled rocket launchers. Therefore we West Germans must share in our own defense to a degree matching the danger we face and the share of the collective defense burden that we carry."

Erhard will meet with President Johnson in this country next week.

"The time has come for an international alliance of peoples of all nations against racism. The time has come fully to utilize nonviolence through a massive international boycott. The international potential of nonviolence has never been employed."

Reminder Is Given To Taxis, Owners

Police Chief Robert F. Murphy today issued a reminder that taxicab owners and drivers must renew their licenses before Jan. 15, 1966.

Issuing of licenses is due to start Dec. 16 at police headquarters.

Taxicab and fleet owners, he warned, must check license buttons and cards of drivers for the proper date, and he advised that permitting the operation of a taxi by an unlicensed operator or driver whose license has expired is a violation of the city's taxi ordinance, and both parties concerned in violations are subject to prosecution.

Weekend precipitation combining rain and snow continued today and by 8 a. m. had reached 0.76 of an inch in the city and 0.93 of an inch in the watershed of Cooper Lake, the city's main reservoir.

Snow depth ranged from 1½ inches in the city to three inches and above in other county areas. A fall of three inches was reported at Cooper Lake. Precipitation totals above include snowfall scaled into rainfall.

City totals include measurement from 9 a. m. Saturday to 8:30 a. m. today, and those at Cooper Lake from Saturday night to 8 a. m. today.

Temperatures in the city were identical for Saturday and Sunday. Each day had a low of 29 and a high of 32 degrees. The low this morning was 32 and the mercury had reached 32 degrees by 1 p. m.

Flying Romance

WOMBELL, England (AP)—Marjorie Fowler, 21, plans to fly 10,000 miles to meet a prospective suitor who found her in a bottle.

Marjorie put a "please write me" message in a bottle she was packing at the glass factory where she works. A 26-year-old pharmacist in Perth, Australia, John Vettler, found the message and replied.

The correspondence flourished, and John suggested that Marjorie fly out to meet him. He forwarded 450 pounds ($1,260) for the plane fare.

Quote of the Day: "Tell Frank (Borman) and Jim (Lovell) we still want to come up and see them," Gemini 6 command pilot Walter M. Schirra Jr. tells Mission Control after liftoff failure delays pursuit of Gemini 7 in space.

Mission Status: Gemini 7 time in orbit tops 200 hours as crew awaits new Gemini 6 launching, set for 8:37 a.m. (EST) Wednesday. Goal before Gemini 7 descends is 14 days and 206 orbits of earth.

Problems: Experts try to determine what caused an electrical plug to fall prematurely from the base of Gemini 6's Titan 2 rocket, with the result that a false signal automatically shut down the engines. No hint of worries for Gemini 7.

Astronaut's Status: Borman and Lovell both are allowed comfort of flying outside pressure suits in underwear while they await next attempt by Gemini 6 to overtake and fly in formation with them.

Sunday School Break-in

HEYWOOD, England (AP) — Thieves broke into a Sunday School here Sunday and made off with 60 ballpoint pens. Embossed on each was "May the Lord forgive your sins."

Pravda Charges Peking's Policy Widening Breach

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union, in its bluntest tirade against Communist China since Premier Nikita S. Khrushchevs ouster 14 months ago, says Peking has sabotaged the "sacred cause" of communism in Viet Nam.

The Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda charged editorially Sunday that Mao Tze-tung's regime deliberately refused to take joint action with the Soviet Union and other Communist countries "against American aggression in Viet Nam which is extending a direct threat to world peace."

Instead, Pravda charged, Peking's leaders are increasing activities to widen the breach between the Soviet Union and Red China.

Cases Are Heard In County Court

Robert Allen Krom, 24, Ellenville, was given a six months suspended sentence by County Judge Raymond J. Mino in County Court this morning on a plea of guilty to petit larceny. He was placed on probation for three years. Alex Nirenberg appeared for dependant.

Counsel for defendant told Judge Mino that defendant was in a night club near Ellenville when he sought a ride with her patrons. They became involved in an incident and the grand jury returned a third degree burglary, petit larcenry and unlawful entry indictment. Counsel told the court Krom had never been involved with the law before. Bail was exonerated.

Barth Joseph O'Brien, Highland, was arraigned under an indictment charging first degree larceny. It is alleged O'Brien sold a trailer which he did not own. O'Brien said he had counsel and the case was adjourned until December 20 at 2 p. m. Bail was continued.

Vivian E. Schoonmaker, Kingston, was arraigned on a charge of attempted burglary and attempted unlawful entry involving an attempt to enter the Pageant Restaurant at Wawarsing Oct. 4, 1965. Howard C. St. John appeared for defendant and asked for time for motions. Adjourned to Jan. 5 at 11 a. m. Remanded to jail.

Hector Rivera Cruz, 19, also known as Hector Pabon, of North Front Street, Kingston, was arraigned on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Cruz is a member of the U. S. Marine Corps. He said he had no counsel and Judge Mino remanded him to jail pending assignment of counsel. The case was adjourned to Dec. 20, at 2 p. m.

Several other cases were called and adjourned to future dates.

Court adjourned to convene again at 2 p. m.

Just Got Mad — Ignites Blaze Taking 13 Lives

CHICAGO (AP) — "I just got mad. They shouldn't have thrown me out."

This was the explanation of Robert Lee Lassiter as he admitted using a borrowed match to touch off a fire Saturday night which killed 13 persons and injured 22 in a West Side tavern.

Lassiter, 26, of Chicago, was charged Sunday with 13 counts of murder.

Lassiter, a laborer for an electric company, told police that he splashed a gallon of gasoline in the door of the Seeley Club on West Madison Street, then borrowed a match to ignite it.

The incident that touched off the fire, Lassiter said, was an argument with Eddie Gaston, 38, a waiter at the club. Witnesses said Lassiter had been flourishing a large switchblade knife and Gaston told him to put it away.

The two men grappled after arguing, and Lassiter was forced to leave.

"I'll be back and they're going to get it," witnesses quoted Lassiter as saying as he left.

Gaston was among the seven men and six women killed in the blaze.

Winter Stretches Across Continent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blanket of wintry weather — snow, rain, sleet and fog — stretched across the continent today.

A sleet storm paralyzed portions of the Dakotas and western Minnesota, knocking out telephone communications and isolating some communities without power.

Snow, rain and fog snarled traffic and caused many accidents.

A Greyhound bus en route to New Orleans went off a highway during a rainstorm Sunday near Pensacola, Fla., killing four persons and injuring 19.

An Air Canada four-engine turbo-prop revved its engines just before it was to take off from OHare International Airport in Chicago for Toronto, Ont., Sunday. The plane skidded off the runway and became stuck in mud. The 71 passengers were transferred to another plane.

Haiti became the first Negro republic when it declared itself free of France in 1804.

Thomas Buono, Saugerties Hotel Operator Dies

Thomas Buono of 217 Main Street, Saugerties, died Sunday at New England Baptist Hospital, Boston, Mass.

Mr. Buono, in association with his son Anthony, operated the Exchange Hotel in Saugerties. He also was a real estate broker with offices at the hotel.

Surviving in addition to his son are his wife, the former Mary Mauro; a daughter, Mrs. Walter (Genevieve) Estabrook of Albany; two brothers, two sisters and eight grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 25 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties.

Search Pushed For 8 Trainees In Peace Corps

MANZANO, N.M. (AP) — An extensive search continued today for eight Peace Corps trainees missing on a four-day hike through the rugged Manzano Mountains in central New Mexico.

About 40 persons participated in the search, which started after the group failed to arrive at Manzano Sunday on a 30-mile trek which began at Belen Thursday morning.

Another group of trainees left Belen at the same time and arrived at Manzano on schedule, and a third group crossed from Manzano to Belen without incident.

The hike is part of a 14-week Peace Corps training period of the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque. A university spokesman said the trainees were in their ninth week of training.

They were identified as Mike Mitchell, 21, the Bronx, New York City; Tom Jacobs, 23, Columbus, Ohio; Bruce McCracken, 25, Wellesley Hills, Mass.; Linda West, 28, Hurst, Tex.; Jane Whitmore, 25, Manhasset, N.Y.; Judy Johnson, 21, Pleasantville, N.Y.; Sue Selbin, 22, St. Paul, Minn.; and Bill Pastreich, 24, New York City.

5 Spit Flames, Police Charge

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Five youths have taken to "spitting flames" police say, by ejecting lighter fluid from their mouth into a lighted match.

The youths were picked up Sunday, as police broke up the bizarre stunt at a shopping plaza in suburban East Rochester.

No charges were placed against the boys and their names were withheld.

Police said the boys would take a mouthful of fluid and spit it out into the lighted match. They said some of the flame jets were 10 feet long.

Public Safety Chemist John A. Temmerman said the fluid was severely toxic and if swallowed could cause death. One youth was reported to have become ill several hours after participating in the stunt.

Complete Kinzua, Took Five Years

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — The multimillion dollar Kinzua Dam, a controversy-ridden flood control project on the Allegheny River some nine miles east of Warren, was completed today after more than five years of construction work.

It was Oct. 22, 1960, when the first shovelful of earth was turned in groundbreaking ceremonies for the dam which eventually will create a 27-mile long lake.

Army Engineers intend to maintain a "minimum pool" this winter as a protective measure. The gates of the 169-foot structure will be manipulated to create a like about six miles long with the level fixed at a 1,240-foot elevation.

When full, the reservoir pool will have a total storage capacity of 1,120,000 acre feet at an elevation of 1,365 feet above sea level, or about 165 feet above the existing stream bed. Full impoundment probably will not occur until 1967.

Both the Corps of Engineers and the U.S. Forest Service continue to push construction and plans for recreation areas and facilities tied to the dam and reservoir. Completion of the entire complex, including new access roads, will cost $117 million.

Mrs. Hanley Turns In Her Drivers License

PERRY, N.Y. (AP) — Mrs. Henrietta Hanley, widow of former Lt. Gov. Joseph R. Hanley, has turned in her driver's license to state Motor Vehicle Commissioner William S. Hults.

"Even a miror accident wouldn't look good on my record at the age of 86," Mrs. Hanley said. "With some reluctance and after 55 years of driving, I am handing in my license."

Hults commended Mrs. Hanley for her action.

Mrs. Hanley's husband was lieutenant governor during the first term of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey from 1942 to 1946. Her son, Julian Hanley, is Wyoming county's district attorney.

"Is this Mrs. Fletcher's coat that Daddy didn't want to hear another word about?"

Hints From Heloise

by Heloise Cruse

Dear Gals:

During the holidays, when many people do a lot of entertaining, I wonder if they realize how much easier—and less expensive—it is to give parties on two consecutive nights, rather than to have them a couple of weeks apart?

Since you have given the house a good cleaning before the first party, all you have to do is put it back in order.

If you have bought fresh cut flowers, they will still be fine for the second night—there's a saving of 100 per cent.

You probably bought a variety of salad greens, and only used part of each kind—plus parsley (and who ever uses a whole bunch at one time?), etc.

If you are serving a casserole, make twice as much as you need for the first party, and save half of it for the second.

Or, if you're planning on having a big turkey or ham dinner, get large ones and have a cold, buffet dinner the second night.

Sure, you may be tired after giving two parties in a row, but I'll bet you'll thank yourself for trying it this way when you realize how much time, energy (less cleaning, and just one trip to the grocery store), and money you saved.

Dear Heloise:

To remove water stains from the glass wall and door in the shower, I use a soap-filled pad dipped in white vinegar, and scrub away.

Dear Heloise:

I have a suggestion regarding belt backing that peels and cracks:

Why not use iron-on mending tape that comes in various colors?

It can be cut to fit and ironed on. To be sure the edges won't come loose and curl after repeated washings, I also sew it on the sewing machine.

Dear Heloise:

Clean newspapers, spread under the carpet where the floor is rough, sure helps prevent wear and tear on the rug.

Dear Heloise:

Instead of rummaging through your kitchen drawer for small rubber bands, put them on an empty spool of thread.

It works very well, and you'll always have a rubber band handy when you need it.

Mrs. David Wolfe

Dear Heloise:

I am eleven years old.

I do odd jobs around the house.

I was dusting the baseboards, when I thought of an easier method of doing them without a large, bulky dust mop.

I got a rubber band and a yardstick. I wrapped the dust cloth around the yardstick, and wrapped the rubber band around the dust cloth.

The rubber band holds the dust cloth on firmly.

With this, I stand and do the baseboards.

This idea is a knee and back saver.

Dear Heloise:

Old nylon hosiery can be cut into one-inch-wide loops by cutting across the leg of the stocking, and woven on a loop loom to make lovely, mildew-resistent pot holders.

The looms can be made at home by simply driving headless nails into an old board (forming a square).

Credits Monument Walk for Good Health

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gustav A. Hergert, 75, says his almost daily ascents and descents of the Washington Monument's 98 steps keep him fit as the proverbial fiddle.

He says he has done it 998 times. He goes today for 999.

"I'll do it 2,000 times if my strength holds out," Hergert vows. He says it takes him about 18 minutes to go up and about 12 to 15 minutes to come down the 555-foot-plus obelisk. It keeps him in shape for his first love — hiking, he says.

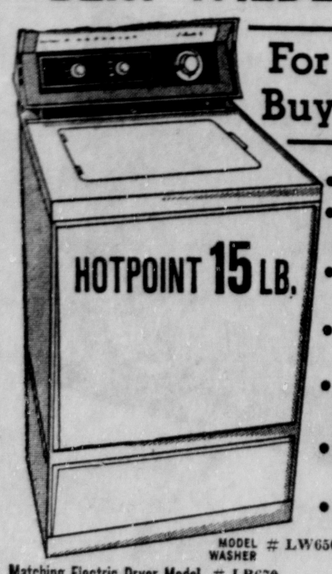

He also swims a mile a day at the YMCA when the water in the indoor pool is not too cold. When it is, he limits himself to half a mile.

Adopt Open Housing

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles has signed Wisconsin's first open housing law.

The law prohibits racial or religious discrimination in the sale, rental or financing of private housing. It will exempt owner- occupied dwellings of four units or less.

Johnson Returns For Talks, Plans On New Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returned to the White House early today for an intensive round of conferences with foreign leaders, final preparations for the new budget and more discussion of Viet Nam.

Johnson had been at his LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, Tex., for 24 days — relaxing, recuperating from his Oct. 8 operation and holding a series of top-level policy talks on the whole range of governmental activity.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers said staff work would occupy much of the President's time today.

Johnson had to make final preparations for the arrival Tuesday of President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan for two days of meetings. Ayub arrived in New York Sunday.

Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Great Britain, who has been trying to promote Viet Nam peace talks, will be at the White House Friday. 4

West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, who wants for his country a role in the nuclear defense of Western Europe, will arrive Saturday for two or three days of conferences with Johnson.

The President and Mrs. Johnson are expected to return to the ranch a few days before Christmas for a holiday stay that may continue into January.

While in Washington, Johnson also will have to oversee final preparation of the federal budget—including decisions on how sharply to curb funds for "Great Society" programs enacted this year. Officials disclosed Friday that curbs have been ordered to help offset expected outlays in Viet Nam.

In addition, the President faces new decisions on Viet Nam and that subject is certain to take up much of his time.

There will be holiday festivities, too — the lighting of the national Christmas tree behind the White House on Friday afternoon and a presidential party that night for White House employes.

Teachers to Press Legislature for Several Benefits

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The New York State Teachers Association plans to press the 1966 Legislature to extend teachers' health insurance coverage and simplify the retirement system.

In a meeting here Saturday, the board of directors and the association's legislative council mapped strategy to press that program and others, passed at the group's delegate assembly in November.

The group's resolutions include:

—An increase of the ceiling on per-pupil state aid from $600 to $660.

—Amendments to the minimum salary law to provide career increments of at least $500 at the 15th, 20th and 25th years of service.

—Establishment of professional rights of teachers.

A spokesman said, in relation to professional rights, that teachers seek to present their views on provisional school matters and on questions affecting their employment.

To Probe Blackout

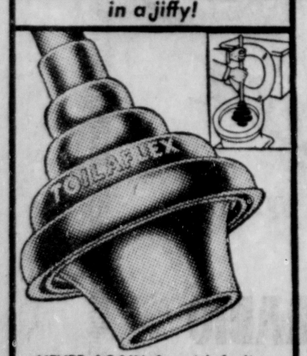

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Commerce Committee is planning an investigation into the massive northeastern power failure of Nov. 9-10.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said Friday his committee will hear testimony from federal, state and local government agencies, industries and manufacturers.

Jersey Water Report

WANAQUE, N. J. (AP) — Joseph Brumale, chairman of the North Jersey Water Supply Commission, reported that Wanaque Reservoir, which serves Newark and nearby communities holds only enough water for the next 72 days. He said the reservoir now has about one-fourth of a normal 19.5 billion.

Face Busy Week

HARRISBURG (AP) — With Christmas fast approaching, state legislators are preparing for a busy week.

The general assembly reconvenes today amid talk of a five-day legislative week.—the first in the lengthy 1965 session.

Key items on the agenda include the controversial Consumer Credit Bill, civil rights, driver safety, prison reform and the capital budget.

Pharmacy Data, Space Books At City Library

Thanks to two local residents, the Kingston City Library now has a large quantity of reference and technical books on the subjects of pharmacy and space technology, it was announced today.

Library officials said Louis Epstein has donated to the reference department copies of the Pharmacopeia of the United States, the National Formulary, and the United States Dispensatory. All of these texts are basic reference tools in pharmacy and will provide valuable information for students, officials said.

Twenty-eight new technical books in the space sciences, cryogenics, astronautics and physics have been added to the adult collection by the courtesy of James L. Quinn.

The titles of these expensive texts are as follows: Temperature Response Charts, The Physical Principles of Astronautics, Cryogenic Technology, The Moon Car, Principles of Aeroelasticity, Life Beyond Our Planet, Dynamics of Manned Lifting Planetary Entry, Changing Views of the Universe, Progress in the Astronautical Sciences, Exploring Mars, Supersonic Engineering, Measure of the Moon, Cyrogenics, Applied Cyrogenic Engineering, Space Handbook, Rocket Propellant Handbook, Materials for Rockets and Missiles, The Individual and the Universe, Analysis and Design of the Gyroscope for Inertial Guidince, Introduction to Space Dynamics, Mathematical Theories of Planetory Motions, and Statistical Astronomy.

Also Design Data for Aeronautics and Astronautics, Space Research by Rocket and Satellite, Astronautics in the Sixties, Fourth Dimensional Man, Man and Space, and Controlled Thermonuclear Reactions.

The books are now available in the main library. Library hours are 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., Monday through Friday, and 1 to 5 p. m. Saturdays.

Cashara Heads Liquor Dealers

Joseph Cashara was elected president of the Liquor Dealers Association of Ulster County at the Association's recent annual election at the Knights of Columbus Home. He succeeds outgoing President Louis Barone.

Other officers elected include, vice presidents, Artie Isabella and Edith Kelly; treasurer, Gene Whalen; secretary - treasurer, Fred Schryver, and secretary, Jack Sharot.

Cashara said the new officers will be installed at a meeting after the first of the year. He said that the Association also was making donations to children in the area and to needy persons.

Warning for Future

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—A State College of Agriculture professor warns that scattered outbreaks of disease in sugar beets this year should serve as a warning for the future.

Prof. Otto E. Schultz said Saturday that the incidence of crown and root rot and leaf spot were low this year, but preventive measures are needed.

He urged that fields be adequatly drained and that crops be rotated.

Top Production Honors for Area Holstein Cows

Nine Holstein cows from four area farms took honors for officially recognized milk and butterfat production levels by Registered Holstein Cows, it was announced today by the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, Brattleboro, Vt.

Rondout Clyde Kay 5487792, a two-year-old, owned by Philip H. Davis, Kerhonkson, produced 14,880 lbs. of milk and 574 lbs. of butterfat in 322 days.

Jaway Dean Hyla Kay 4987276, a four-year-old, owned by Wayne F. Kelder, Jaway Farms, Accord, produced 17,170 lbs. of milk and 610 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days.

Ric E. Dic Belwayne Jean 5288052, a five-year-old, owned by Hidde Osinga, New Paltz, produced 15,700 lbs. of milk and 515 lbs. of butterfat in 228 days.

Ridgely Schoolmaster Hyacinth 4986897, a four-year-old, produced 20,041 lbs. of milk and 740 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days.

Ridgely Schoolmaster Tilly 4641022, a five-year-old, had 20,549 lbs. of milk and 724 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Flying Cloud Proud Tidy 4213336, a seven-year-old, had 20,303 lbs. of milk and 720 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Ridgely Proud Nanny 4252570, a seven-year old, had 16,627 lbs. of milk and 660 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. Ridgely Proud Mona 4355817, a seven-year-old, had 19,553 lbs. of milk and 638 lbs. of butterfat in 365 days. All are owned by Ridgely Farms, Stone Ridge.

Ellbank Ormsby Jule Penny Ann 4265145, a nine-year-old, owned by Estate of Roy W. Wright, Ellbank Farm, Pleasant Valley, produced 21,070 lbs. of milk and 725 lbs. of butterfat in 305 days.

These new production figures may be compared to the estimated annual output of 7,880 lbs. of milk and 285 lbs. of butterfat by the average U. S. dairy cow, notes the National Holstein Association.

Cornell University supervised the sampling, weighing and testing operations in cooperation with the Holstein organization's herd and breed improvement programs.

Coroner Says Man's Death In Probe May Be Suicide

By MIKE ROUSE

GRANITE QUARRY, N.C. (AP) — The Rowan County coroner said today the death of Grady B. Mars, retired military policemen linked with the Ku Klux Klan by a congressional investigator, may have been suicide.

Mars, 41, died of a gunshot wound in the head in his bedroom Saturday night.

Was Despondent

Coroner Rufus Honeycutt quoted Mars' wife Jean, as saying her husband had been despondent since refusing to testify before the House Committee on Un-American Activities when it was investigating the Klan in October.

He said an official ruling on the cause of death will be made Tuesday "after we get certain reports back from the State Bureau of Investigation lab in Raleigh.

"I'm pretty sure it was suicide, but it won't be official until Tuesday," Honeycutt said.

Donald T. Appell, chief counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities, identified Mars in October as a district officer and organizer for the United Klans of America.

Pleaded Fifth

Mars pleaded the Fifth Amendment when asked about Klan activities at a Committee hearing.

J. Robert Jones, North Carolina grand dragon of the Klan, would not say what office Mars held—or even confirm that he belonged to the organization.

"You won't find out from me and you won't find out from any other member of the Klan," said Jones, who also lives in Granite Quarry.

Jones said Mars moved to Granite Quarry and began working as an auto mechanic after retiring from the U.S. Air Force after 20 years as a military policeman.

Working on Car

Honeycutt said Mrs. Mars told him Mars was working on a car in their yard when he entered the house and asked his wife to search for new jets for a carburetor. She left the bedroom and entered the kitchen.

Mrs. Mars said she heard a shot and saw her husband fall through the bedroom door into a hall. Officers found a 38-caliber revolver beside Mars, who died en route to a hospital.

Mrs. Mars said her daughter, Sandy, 12, was also in the house.

Another Klan official, Daniel Burros of New York City, shot himself to death in Reading, Pa., when the New York Times published a story revealing his Jewish background shortly after the committee hearings.

Nace Appointed Co-Chairman of Waterways Group

Committee members and a co-chairman have been named by Huyler Van Wagenen of Orlando Street, chairman of The Lower Esopus Creek Waterways Committee, who said additional committees will be named in the near future.

Chairman Van Wagenen named Richard Nace, Orlando Street, co-chairman. Also named to the committee were Robert Edge, Brabrant Road; Frank A. Jagger, Fording Place Road; Charles Duffy, Lake Katrine, and Alexander S. Bigelsen, Buckley Street, Town of Ulster.

Van Wagenen said he plans to call a meeting of the committee early in January to discuss replies received from letters sent to public officials and other persons, urging them to support the Lower Esopus Creek Waterways Committee in a movement to clean out the Esopus Creek and keep the waterway clear of debris to improve recreation and boating facilities in the creek.

Mrs. Doris Mulvin, Lake Katrine, was named committee secretary at a meeting held last Tuesday at the State Armory.

Po'keepsie GOP Head Sees Power Play for Aldrich

Town of Poughkeepsie Republican Chairman Charles Wise said he was not surprised at what he termed the Republican leadership power play in Ulster and Greene Counties in attempting an early backing of Alexander Aldrich in Aldrich's bid for the Republican nomination for Congress from the 28th Congressional District.

Aldrich, who is Governor Rockefeller's first cousin, and Administrative Assistant to the Governor, has received the backing of Ulster County Chairman Kenneth L. Wilson and Greene County Chairman Neal Brandow.

"Certainly a power play by the Governor's office to swing the Republican nomination for his cousin can be no surprise to anyone. The only surprising thing was the earliness of the move," Wise said.

Wise, who chairs a township in Dutchess County that has a population 10,000 greater than all of Greene County and is twice as large as Schoharie County, said that the early bid by Aldrich for the nomination was caused by "panic" and was "obviously an effort to shut off all debate or consideration of any possible Dutchess County candidate a full seven months prior to primary election, and five months before county conventions are held."

The five county 28th Congressional District is made up of Dutchess, Ulster, Greene, Columbia and Schoharie County. Aldrich is a resident of Columbia County.

"There is an obvious attempt by the smaller counties in our district to face Dutchess County with a power play, and to prevent a fair and open development of any potential candidates that might come from this county, in my opinion," Wise said.

"The amount of arm twisting and pressure that has been exerted to bring about these early endorsements of Aldrich is unique in area politics," Wise said.

Wise said he did not blame Republican leaders in the other counties for bowing to the pressures of the Governor's office, and said he would have been surpresed if they had been able to say "No" to something the Governor apparently wanted so much.

"The only people who are being ignored in this high-pressure power play is the rank and file Republican Commiteemen, and the enrolled Republicans of the District, particularly those of Dutchess County," Wise said.

Wise pointed out that Dutchess County had not had a Republican candidate from the county for over a generation.

Wise stated he felt the "Power Play" was ill advised and premature, as the Governor's intrusion into a District in which he can not vote, "to sew up the nomination for a member of his family strips away completely any idea of fair play which the American people can expect, even among politicians," Wise concluded.

In Robbery of Arrest Migrants Man at Gunpoint

Two migrant farm workers were arrested late Saturday night by State Police after they allegedly robbed another worker at gunpoint of $27, according to Highland State Trooper Stanley Roberts.

Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman and Trooper J. F. Czaplicki booked Frank James Montgomery, 19, and Marion Williams, 25, employes on the Moriello Farm, Route 32, New Paltz, on charges of first degree robbery.

They were taken into custody on complaint of James Brown, 48, who told authorities the pair took $27 from him at knifepoint between 10 and 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

With consent of Assistant District Attorney Phillip Schunk, the defendants were permitted to plead guilty before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd, to reduced charges of petit larceny. Montgomery and Williams were sentenced to the county jail for 30 days each, according to Trooper Roberts.

Report Maugham In Death Throes

NICE, France (AP) — British author W. Somerset Maugham lay in a coma in a hospital today, and his doctor gave him less than 24 hours to live.

The 91-year-old writer suffered a stroke Saturday at his seaside villa at Cap Ferrat. He has been unconscious ever since. His doctor, Georges Rosanoff, told newsmen Sunday night that Maugham was "in the throes of death."

Medicine Powerless

Rosanoff reported the old man's temperature had risen and pulmonary congestion had set in.

"Medicine is henceforth powerless to save Mr. Maugham," he said. "He has entered the death agony. It is a hopeless condition, and we do not think it can last now more than 24 hours. The brain is no longer irrigated (supplied with blood), but the heart is still holding out."

Three doctors attending Maugham said in a bulletin today that his condition was "stationary without aggravation." Dr. Rosanoff told newsmen: "The fact that we have noted no change since yesterday evening does not permit the slightest hope."

Alan F. Searle, Maugham's secretary and companion for years, said the author had directed in a will he made several years ago that his body be cremated and the ashes sent to England to be placed in Canterbury Cathedral.

Maugham's only child, Lady John Hope, was not at his bedside and it was doubted that she would come to Nice. Maugham tried to disown her several years ago and adopt Searle, but a French court refused to permit it.

First 10 Years Hard

Maugham abandoned a medical career at the end of the last century and became a writer after interning at a hospital in London's Lambeth district. His life as a medical student formed the basis for his masterpiece, "Of Human Bondage," in 1912.

His first 10 years as a writer were hard, but in 1907 his play "Lady Frederick" was a hit, and thereafter he turned out successful plays, novels and short stories that made him a fortune. In 55 years he wrote 25 plays, 30 novels and 120 short stories.

Critics and literary scholars generally did not consider him a great writer, but a huge public thought him one of the world's best storytellers. His work was characterized by extreme clarity, economy of expression and strong plot lines.

In recent years his hearing had failed, cataracts dimmed his sight, and he looked forward to death.

On Maugham's 90th birthday Searle told a reporter: "When I say good night to him every evening at 8:30 he replies, 'Pray that I don't wake up in the morning.'"

Of the more than 500 outbreaks of botulism—a form of food poisoning—recorded in the United States since 1900, nearly one-fourth were traced to home-canned products, especially string beans. Few botulism outbreaks have been traced to commercially processed food. Canned foods which have a bad odor and taste or are in cans which are swollen should not be eaten.

TV Stayed With 'Live Bomb' Job In Gemini Failure

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Just when the smooth take-offs for journeys into space were beginning to assume all the excitement of a departure of a train for Chicago, Gemini 6 performed Sunday in a manner to remind us that it isn't all that easy.

Television viewers were confronted with clear and beautiful color pictures on the three major networks that matched the clear and precise coverage of their space veterans at the microphones.

On the screen we saw a great cloud of white smoke tinged with fiery orange, but puzzlingly and then frighteningly, the great bird failed to fly. It was an awful moment.

"There's no lift-off," said Jack King's calm voice at Gemini control. "They're watching the pressure lowering" "They're asking for a read-out of all pressures. There's no lift-off."

His quiet, steady voice was reassuring to watchers who were thinking only about two men atop what Chet Huntley later described as "a live bomb."

The networks functioned as calmly and efficiently as the space team. All three stayed with the story until the astronauts were safely out of the capsule — with fascinating closeup film as they emerged. ABC then went back to regular programming, but CBS and NBC continued through an enlightening news conference with space officials.

Gremlins descended Sunday night upon a taped show shot in a studio, CBS' "What's My Line?" Bennett Cerf was interrupted in mid-sentence by film of racing cars tearing around a sharp curve.

Betty White added more sparkle and fun to the game than any of the "new faces" the producers have been auditioning recently on the air. Kate Smith not only fooled the panel but got the biggest hand from the studio audience heard in many a day.

Recommended tonight: "In Search of Man," ABC, 10-11 EST.

Red Cross Slates Instructor Course

A Red Cross Water Safety Instructor's course will be conducted at the Newburgh YWCA each evening, Monday through Friday, from Jan. 3 to Jan. 14, 1966. There will be 10 three-hour sessions in all.

The course will be conducted by Miss Jean Marie Mislock, an authorized Red Cross Water Safety instructor trainer.

Applicants for the course must be at least 18 years of age at the time of the first session and must be currently certified as Red Cross Senior Life Savers. Each applicant must have a medical statement from his physician stating that he is physically able to stand the course and that he has no skin oruptions. Currently authorized Water Safety Instructors who wish to renew may do so by attending three sessions of Part II.

There is no charge for the Red Cross instruction but each applicant will be required to pay for the use of the pool.

To register, Ulster County residents should call or write the Ulster County Chapter, American Red Cross, 308 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, no later than Friday, Dec. 17.

Red Cross water safety instruction is another program of the American Red Cross which is financed by voluntary contributions to the Community Chest and Red Cross fund drives.

Lots of Gifts for Pleiku Kids

Santa Plans Viet Visit, Providing He Skips Cong

By BOB POOS

PLEI KU, South Viet Nam (AP) — Santa Claus will visit the Vietnamese and Montagnard kids in Pleiku Province if the Viet Cong don't get him first.

Santa in this case is a rugged lieutenant colonel of the U.S. Army named Edward B. Smith, a native of Baltimore, Md.

Is U. S. Advisor

Smith is senior U.S. adviser to the Pleiku special sector and his work takes him to villages in the central Vietnamese highlands that are surrounded by Viet Cong regiments.

Early this fall he and the 15 other Americans in his advisory group started getting letters from home inquiring as to what they would like for Christmas presents.

"We all talked about it," Smith recalls, "and decided we didn't really need anything. But these kids we see all the time do need something to make them aware of the spirit of Christmas."

Smith wrote his wife in Killeen, Tex., and asked her to send over toys, candy, soap and other articles to distribute to the local children.

Betty Smith enlisted the aid of much of Killeen and the surrounding army base of Ft. Hood. The more Smith thought about his project the more he liked it so he decided to expand. He wrote a letter to a newspaper in Louisvill, Ky., where he once was stationed, and talked a reporter from Baltimore, who was touring Viet Nam, into writing a short story about "Project Santa Claus."

Brings Flood of Gifts

The publicity and Mrs. Smith's efforts brought about a flood of gifts.

"We have already received 32 large boxes of the articles we want," Smith said, "and 132 more are on the way.

"Starting around Dec. 20 we'll distribute the stuff to the kids by helicopter. We've got a Santa Claus suit for one of the guys and we'll make a real thing of it."

Smith and the men of his team such as Capt. Nishimoto Masami of Los Angeles and Pfc. Raymond A. Wrinkle of Beeville, Tex., will be risking their lives in their Christmas project because the area in which they work is dominated by several regiments of Viet Cong troops.

But Smith and his men figure that things like this will win the war over here.

So far Smith has been lucky in his civic and military programs. He's been here about seven months. The Viet Cong killed his predecessor after he had bn on th job 10 days.

To Expand Business Counseling Upstate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Economic Development Administration plans to expand its business counseling program in Gloversville.

The agency said Sunday it will add $9,825 to the original $39,500 investment, made last June.

The funds will be used by the Fulton County Community Development Corp., which estimates that they will generate an additional 200 jobs in the area by 1967.

The agency said unemployment in the Gloversville area has been serious since the curtailment of glove-making after World War II.

Study Underway To Curb Return Of Ex-Convicts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A special governor's committee is studying ways to prevent ex-convicts from returning to crime.

Gov. Rockefeller named the seven - man Special Committee on Custody and Rehabilitation of Convicted Criminal Offenders Sunday, noting that 70 per cent of convicted criminals are repeaters.

Co-chairmen are Correction Commissioner Paul D. McGinnis and Russell G. Oswald, chairman of the State Board of Parole.

The committee will investigate government treatment of criminals from conviction through final release from official supervision.

Other members are George K. Wyman, commissioner of social welfare; Dr. Christopher F. Terrence, acting commissioner of Mental Hygiene; Lawrence W. Pierce, director of the Division for Youth; Thomas F. McCoy, state administrator of the Judicial Conference and Administrative Board; and Eliot H. Lumbard, special assistant counsel to the governor.

Maloney Named

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Tax Department has named Francis X. Maloney of Troy to head the White Plains Office as district tax supervisor, effective Dec. 23.

Maloney succeeds Francis V. Afeltra, who is retiring, in the $13,880-a-year post.

The White Plains office serves Westchester, Rockland, Putnam, Orange and Sullivan counties.

When to Look for Squeeze

By JACOBY & SON
1965 Vanderbilt Cup Winners
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Last week's articles discussed high contracts which would have failed if declarer had not been able to develop a squeeze against one or both opponents.

Most squeezes aren't that important. Sometimes a squeeze will produce an over-trick at an easy contract. Many times one will develop to help at a mere part score. The first thing to remember about them is that any time you have all the tricks but one, there is a potential squeeze.

The next thing to bear in mind is that you must cash all your sure winners in other suits in order for the squeeze to succeed.

South ruffs the second diamond and runs off a few rounds of trumps. Then he takes the club finesse. East undoubtedly returns a heart, whereupon many players would simply try to break the clubs and settle for four-odd when they fail to break.

An expert would attempt a squeeze. He would start proceedings by leading a second club to dummy and ruffing a third diamond. This play is essential because he must make it impossible for East to hold a high diamond.

Then he runs off all his trumps. Here again it is important to note that it won't help to play out all but one. On the last trump lead, it turns out that West is squeezed. He must hold onto a high diamond and, in order to do so, must unguard his ten of clubs. Then South throws dummy's last diamond because both clubs have become winners.

Yugoslavia Finds New Generation, Beatniks and All

BULGARIA, Yugoslavia (AP)—After 20 years of communism, Yugoslavia is making the painful discovery that it has a generation of beatniks on its hands.

Stealing cars for thrills — and often smashing them up for extra kicks — has become a fad among Yugoslavia's swinging youth.

Have Beatle Hairdos

Beatle hairdos are the rage. Youngsters fill the night clubs. They snap up the latest record imports from the West, couldn't care less about socialist preachings, and generally carry on like young people revolting against the establishment.

Parents despair, newspapers denounce and legislators make tougher laws. Despite everything, Yugoslavia's youngsters insist on going their own way.

Imitation by Yugoslav youth of their Western counterparts began several years ago, when Britain's Teddy boys were much imitated here.

As prosperity increased and Yugoslavia moved ever further away from the strict conduct of conventional communism, the youthful trend toward independence spread.

Car Theft Fad

The country has never seen anything, however, like the car theft fad. Hundreds have been stolen in recent months by youngsters who take them for joy rides, abandon them after a day or so or smash them into trees.

Thrill thefts have become so numerous that the Belgrade Politika Ekspress has started a free column of missing-car announcements for unlucky owners trying to trace their stolen machines.

Until recently, youngsters who stole cars for thrills were dealt with as juvenile delinquents. Parliament has altered the law to make car thefts a criminal offense, with sentences of up to six months in prison.

What astonishes older people is that many of the teen-agers involved are the children of company directors, officials and other well-to-do citizens.

A current issue of a Belgrade satirical weekly cartoons two shaggy-haired youths eyeing a parked Mercedes Benz.

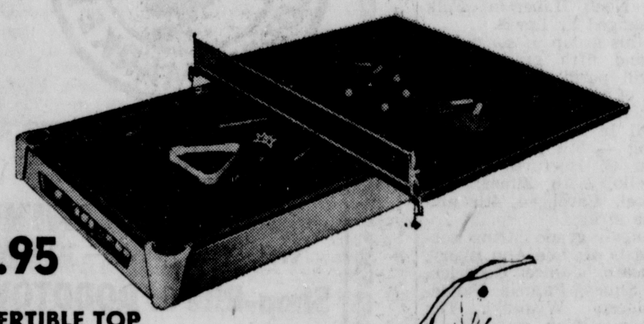

'Let's not steal that one," says one of the boys. "It belongs to my dad."

Hollywood News and Views

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — From movie star to ditch digger and deckhand — that's the curious saga of Jeff Richards.

At 41, his black hair is flecked with gray, and his frame is no longer lean and athletic. But he remains a startlingly handsome figure of a man as he stalks hero Howard Keel down Paramount's Western street in "Waco."

Bright Young Player

A decade ago, Richards was playing Keel's brother in the musical hit "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers," and he was one of MGM's brightest young players. Later Richards starred in a television series, "Jefferson Drum."

More recently, he has been digging storm drains for a construction firm, working as security guard for a Miami Beach hotel and as a seaman on a charter yacht.

Whatever happened to Jeff Richards?

A lot of things, he admits, including a career slump, an embittering divorce and a bout with the bottle.

Richards discussed his recent history during a break in "Waco," his first acting in five years. Things started turning sour after he had filmed the pilot for a television series, "The Last Frontier," a story about Alaska which he felt held much promise. It didn't sell.

Acting jobs grew scarce, and Jeff's dissillusionment was compounded by the end of his marriage — "I was so glad to see it over I said, 'Let her have everything.'"

Drank and Ballooned

Boredom set in. He tried to assuage it by making the party rounds. "I drank like an ....." he admitted.

Jeff ballooned to 250 pounds. He took a job as a common laborer with a construction gang. One day he was trying to pull a water pump out of a soggy ditch. His foot slid and he tumbled, slipping a disc.

He accompanied a friend to Houston, where he lived on pills because of the pain. The disc was removed at a Veterans' Hospital, and Jeff spent a year recovering.

He returned to Hollywood and worked as a laborer until he injured his Achilles tendon. Still no acting jobs came, and he didn't care.

A year ago, Jeff went to Florida and was working as security guard at the Americana Hotel when he met an old Hollywood friend, Marilyn Hinton. She referred him for a job as crew member on the yacht Edgewood which chartered out of Fort Lauderdale. She also got him the "Waco" job.

"My whole attitude is different after a year away," he said. "I've dropped 35 pounds, and I can drink sensibly now. I may stay here for a television series, or I may go back to the boat. At least I know how to live with myself now."

Annual Christmas Program

The annual Christmas program of the West Hurley Elementary School will be presented on December 17 at 7:30 p. m. in school auditorium — Building II.

The chorus, under the direction of Larry H. Lowder, teacher of vocal music, has prepared a variety of selections. Miss Winefred Bateman, string instrument teacher for the Onteora School district will accompany this chorus.

The program for the evening follows: Lo, How a Rose E'er Blooming, Prawtorius; Christmas Dance of the Shepherds, Kodaly; Angels We Have Heard on High, Old French Carol; It Soon Will Be Evening, Tyrolean Carol arranged by Track; African Noel, Liberian Folk Song arranged by Lewis.

After this group of songs, the fourth and fifth grade string group will perform, under the direction of Miss Winefred Bateman. Their selections are:

Go Tell It on the Mountain, Folk song — 5th grade group; Waltz in G, Herfurth — 4th grade cello, Beth Zimet; The First Noel, Carol — 4th and 5th grade strings.

The fourth grade string section consists of: Lee Ann Every, Kim Fusaro, Janice Goodrich, Victoria Squeo, Pamela Vandemark, Joseph Wisneski. The fifth grade section consists of: Bonnie Braun, Robert Duran, Robert Helle, Barbara Miles, Susanne Palmer, Michael Shultis, Marion Wagner.

The program will conclude with the chorus singing:

Christmas Polka, Swedish Folk tune arranged by Lewis; Pablo, the Reindeer, George Lovering; Jingle Bells; We Wish You A Merry Christmas, old English carol, arranged by Hearhart.

The chorus this year includes 75 members. They are as follows:

Bonnie Beesmer, Russell Bergenn, Glen Beesmer, Vida Berry, Kimberly Bird, Jane Bradley, Geoffrey Brooks, Tracey Brooks, Ronald Burlingham, Karen Cady, David Carlen, Laurette Carlson, Jackie Coleman, Dianne Connick, Patricia Cowin, Kevin Crosby, Patricia Dew, Robert Durand, Luann Every, Kathleen Flynn, Kim Fusaro;

West Hurley Unit

The regular monthly meeting of the West Hurley Unit will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 14 in the cafetorium of Building II of the West Hurley Elementary School. It will be the organization's Christmas party. Anyone planning to attend is asked to bring a gift for exchange.

All residents of the area are invited to attend .

why we say--

EVIL SPIRITS: This custom came about from the ancient Romans and is supposed to bring good luck. It was believed that evil spirits stood guard at the threshold of the new bride, ready to trip her as she entered. In order to circumvent this, the groom would carry his bride past the evil spirits.

'The President is cutting his public appearances to the absolute minimum!"

Savings Banks Report Gain in November

Mutual savings banks reported a $270 million increase in regular accounts in November, the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks announced today. The gain fell short of the record November deposit increase of $317 million registered in 1964, but compared favorably with the second-highest November gain of $273 million registered in 1962.

The increase, based on preliminary data, brought total regular accounts in the nation's 506 mutuals to $51.5 billion at the end of the month. Since January 1, 1965, regular deposits have risen $3.0 billion.

Dr. Grover W. Ensley, executive vice president of the National Association, said that the November increase was broadly consistent with savings bank performance throughout 1965 and in line with expectations that this year mutual savings banks would register deposit gains second only to 1964's record $4.2 billion.

Commenting on the Federal Reserve Board's action raising the discount rate and Regulation Q ceiling, Dr. Ensley said that developments in the next few weeks will determine the impact of this action on mutual savings banks. "An economy expanding as strongly as ours will generate a large volume of personal saving," he said. "But within the savings market, any realignment of savings flows will depend heavily on the competitive actions and reactions by commercial banks and thrift institutions in the near future."

Buffalo Man Charged

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A 46-year-old Buffalo man has been charged in the death of a woman who was slashed in an argument, collapsed and died from a loss of blood after he had left her apartment, police said.

The man, Chester Davis Sr., was charged Sunday with first-degree manslaughter in the death of 43-year-old Mrs. Bernice James.

The woman's body was found Saturday night at her apartment. Three hours after she had been stabbed police said.

Police reported that Davis and the woman had argued after she ordered him to leave her apartment.

Ice Balls Pose Health Hazards, Official Warns

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Ice balls, a Hong Kong product now on American store shelves, are a health hazard because of contaminated water, J.T. Herron, Arkansas health officer, says.

The colored plastic balls are filled with water and can be used to cool drinks. They can be placed in a freezer and used many times, unless they crack and leak.

Herron said that was the danger. He said the water in the ice balls had a high bacteria count and some had fungus growths.

The Little Rock Health Department has quarantined more than 425 boxes of the plastic balls as potential hazard to the public.

The State Health Department has asked merchants in two cities not to sell them.

Herron said the U.S. Public Health Service aided his department in investigating the Hong Kong product.

The Baltimore, Md., City Health Department has asked stores to stop selling and consumers to stop using the products, labeled "Ice Cools," "Ice Kools," and "Pink Elephant Ice Kools."

The department said a preliminary analysis showed that the water in some contained bacteria, fungi or mold growth.

Kenmore Swept By $100,000 Fire

KENMORE, N.Y. (AP)—Careless smoking has been blamed for a fire that swept through five businesses in downtown Kenmore, causing more than $100,000 damage.

The fire erupted Saturday in a shoe-repair shop and spread quickly through a textile store, a restaurant, a bakery and a beauty shop, firemen said.

Five volunteer firefighters were treated for smoke inhalation.

Walter E. McCreadle Jr., Kenmore fire marshal, said the blaze was stated by careless smoking.

Award to Salamanca

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Salamanca Board of Education will receive $28,530 from the Labor Department for use in a Neighborhood Youth Corps project.

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz announced the grant Sunday and said the project would aid 50 youths to continue their education or secure future employment.

The total cost of the Salamanca project is estimated at $32,560.

But Ingalls Not Conceding

Duryea Backers Claim Assembly Job Victory

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Backers of Perry B. Duryea Jr. of Suffolk County claimed certain victory today as Republicans gathered to choose the GOP Assembly minority leader for the 1966 legislative session.

But George L. Ingalls of Binghamton, who now holds the post, stood on his contention that he had sufficient strength to withstand the Duryea challenge.

Point to Duryea

Private discussions in advance of the conference of Republican assemblymen and assemblymen-elect pointed, however, to the selection of Duryea.

He entered the fight with strong support from the New York City metropolitan area and gained endorsements from several Upstate Republicans who will serve in the new Assembly.

Republicans will hold 75 seats in the Assembly session opening Jan. 5, compared with the Democratic majority of 90.

The key figure for Duryea and Ingalls was a majority of 38 votes in today's Republican conference.

Duryea's backers claimed well over 40 votes in advance of the closed-door meeting.

After 4½ years as Assembly majority leader, the 51-year-old Ingalls stepped down to minority leader last January when Democrats took control of the Assembly.

In last month's election, the GOP recaptured the Senate but did not achieve a majority in the Assembly.

Ingalls' performance during the prolonged, hard-fought session of 1965 brought complaints from rank-and-file Republicans that he had not been aggressive enough in dealing with the Democratic majority.

Had Key Contacts

Duryea, 44, was chairman of the Republican Assembly campaign this year. That assignment brought him into contact with all of the assemblymen who will serve in the new session.

The combination of the anti-Ingalls sentiment and his own widespread acquaintance in the ranks of GOP assemblymen and assemblymen-elect led Duryea to challenge Ingalls.

Sources close to Duryea said he did not make his move until he had received more than enough committments to assure his election.

The minority leader chosen today will not take office officially until the new legislative session opens. He will, however, have the status to represent the Republican minority in preparation for the new legislative year.

Duryea was believed to have been motivated in seeking the post by its potiential for advancement to higher public office.

If Republicans regained control of the Assembly next November, the minority leader would be virtually assured of election as speaker.

From that spot, he could bid in 1970 or later for the Republican nomination for governor.

Republican senators already have selected Earl W. Brydges of Niagara Falls as their majority leader.

Susan Glaspell, American author, won a Pulitzer prize in 1931 for her play "Alison's House."

Probe Continues On Burglarly at Local Cigar Firm

Local police today continued investigation of a burglary in the J. B. Back & Co. Inc., 84 Wilbur Avenue, in which several thousand cigars were taken from a humidor.

Charles B. Back, president the corporation, today emphasized that the federal government is concerned with the theft because the plant is bounded under federal regulations.

The cigars, he also noted, will be of no use to the person or persons who took them because of a sudden temperature change after their removal from the humidor. "They will automatically unravel," he said.

None of the cigars had been packed or boxed and were removed from the plant in loose bulk. It appeared, he said, that the thief or thieves who took them knew their way inside the plant. Many of the cigars not taken had been maliciously crushed.

Entrance to the plant was gained by the breaking of a rear window. Nothing other than the cigars was reported missing. The burglary was committed between Friday night and Saturday morning.

The plant, which has operated in the city for many years, for the past several years, has been housed in the building on Wilbur Avenue, which was formerly School No. 1.

Check 3 Fires During Weekend

Local firemen checked three slight fires over the weekend. A chimney fire early Saturday afternoon at 38 Gill Street damaged a wall area in the apartment of Betty Botts. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks, Union, Cordts and Rapid companies answered an alarm at 12:20 p. m. from Box 2241, East Union and Sycamore Streets with Deputy Chief Julius Buchholtz in charge.

Another call at 12:31 p. m. Saturday was for a space heater out of adjustment in the first floor apartment of George Philleos at 61 Broadway. Firemen left the Gill Street fire to go there. Damage was slight.

A blaze which firemen said started in a plastic trash container under a sink damaged floor areas in the apartment of Margaret Weber, 19 Hurley Avenue, Saturday night. Units from Central and Wiltwyck Stations, the Wicks, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers responded with Chief James M. Brett and Capt. Harry Sills in charge. A call at 8:40 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 1621, Hurley Avenue and Taylor Street.

Seek 2 in Attack was in the store after 8 p. m. Sunday when the two teen-agers entered and ordered bottles of soft drinks. After being served the soda, the pair lingered in the store, apparently waiting for other customers to leave.

"The two entered my father's store and after sipping on their bottles of soda, "Mrs. Farrell said," they asked for candy bars. As my father turned to get the candy he was attacked and hit on the head."

Police theorized that a bottle might have been used in the assault, but Mrs. Farrell said there were no broken bottles in the store. She suspected a weapon might have been used.

"My father has operated the store at the same place for more than 35 years," Mrs. Farrell said, "and he never had any trouble until last night. He operates the store as a pasttime. It would be worth $500 to have that pair arrested and convicted for what they did to my father."

Caccoma was treated at St. Francis' Hospital and later taken home, after a waiver was signed for his release. He returned to the hospital this morning for further treatment and examination.

3 Persons Hurt

who was riding in the Barich car, neck and back injuries.

Reports Leg Injury

Officer Otto Short investigated the mishap reported at 5:35 p. m.

John F. Callaghan, 17, of 5 Hillside Avenue, Hurley, told police he was headed east on West O'Reilly Street near Mary's Avenue at about 4:30 p. m. Sunday when an oncoming car forced him off course and into a pole. He reported a leg injury and was to be X-rayed at Kingston Hospital. Officers George Dougherty and Jerry Vitek investigated.

Paltz to Vote, bond issue was defeated by six votes.

The New Paltz bond issue to be voted tomorrow, would provide funds for a new senior high school on South Corners Road, and for renovations to the present school to make it a middle school for grades 4 or 5 through the 8th grade.

Wedding and Award

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For actor John Wayne the weekend held a wedding and an award.

His actor son, Patrick John Wayne, 25, and socialite Margaret Ann (Peggy) Hunt, 23, were married Saturday in Christ the King Roman Catholic Church.

On Sunday, Wayne got a Golden Apple—the award from the Hollywood Women's Press Club as the most cooperative actor of the year. Dorothy Malone received the award as the most cooperative actress.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—Selective strength highlighted a mixed stock market early this afternoon as trading fell considerably below last week's record breaking rate.

Steels moved ahead moderately as a group following a report that prospects for the steel industry have been brightened by brisk demand from the construction field.

Some of the areospace defense, electronics and airline issues did well but the list of key stocks in major sections of the list was patchy.

AT NAACP TEA—Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Ellenville) third from right, was among high ranking officials to appear at the recent first annual tea of Ulster County Branch of National Associational Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP). Event was sponsored by local chapter to raise funds for the purchase of food for Christmas baskets to be given to city's less fortunate citizens. Congressman Resnick spoke on his trip to Mississippi as a freshman Congressman and his part in opposition to seating of delegation from that state on the grounds that Negroes were denied voting rights. Other principal speakers included Police Chief Robert F. Murphy and Berkley Murphy, teacher at the New Hampton Training School in Middletown. Chief Murphy discussed, "Youth Problem and Some of their Causes,' while Berkley Murphy spoke on subject, "What Can be Done to Help the Youth." Mayor John J. Schwenk; Mayor-Elect Raymond W. Garraghan and City Court Judge-Elect Hubert Richter also were among those attending the tea. On hand were (l-r) Mrs. Edward Jones, who presided; Chief Murphy; John Lawson, a speaker; Berkley Murphy; the Rev. James Childs, who gave invocation; Everette Hodge, president of the Ulster County Branch, NAACP; Congressman Resnick; Mrs. Leonard Van Dyke, tea chairlady, and Raymond Harris, co-chairman. County Escapes gated a rash of traffic accidents that occurred Satuday on slippery roads in that area. Sergeant Donald Paulson reported cars operated by Louis Heller, 59, of Far Rockaway, and Martin Hammer, 58, R.F.D. 2, Kingston, were in collision at 12:45 p. m., Saturday on Route 209 about five miles south of Route 213. The vehicles were going in opposite directions when the crash occurred.

Cas driven by Walter Howland, 35, Accord, and Rex Steele, 51, New York City, collided on Pine Bush Road, Town of Marbletown, on Saturday. No injuries were reported.

At 10 p. m. Saturday, Vincent Loconti, 25, Maspeth, was traveling west on Route 52 west of Route 209, Town of Wawarsing, when the car skidded out of control and went off the pavement. At 3 p. m., the same day, Louis Senor, 20, of Grove Street, Kingston, was driving along Lucas Avenue Extension about five miles south of Route 213 when the vehicle slid off the road. There were no injuries, troopers said.

Driver Is Cited

Thomas Dawson, 16, of Ellenville, was cited by troopers Saturday afternoon for improper passing, after his car was in collision with a vehicle operated by Robert Green, 56, Pine Bush.

Ellenville troopers reported cars driven by Otto Luttenberg, 56, Levittown, and James E. Harris, 19, Ellenville, were in collision shortly before noon on Saturday near that community. Cars operated by Paul Berish, 44, Janet Street, Kingston, and Rudolph Brunner, 68, Elizaville, were involved in a collision on Kripplebush Road, on Saturday at about 10:15 a. m. Mrs. Lucille Brunner received abraisions. Both vehicles skidded just prior to the impact, troopers said.

Georgia Matiatos, 61, of Brooklyn, was injured at 4:15 p. m. Saturday when the car driven by her husband, Spiros, 62, skidded off Route 32 about three miles north of Saugerties and hit guard rails, according to State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston substation. The injured woman was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment, Trooper Fred Cooper reported.

Injured As Car Skids

Carole Vogt, 21, of 48 St. James Street, city, was injured at 3:45 p. m. Sunday when her 1960 sedan skidded across Route 209, Town or Marbletown, and overturned down an embankment, according to Kingston state troopers.

Sgt. Rhodes reported a 1961 car driven by Helen Mulstay, 31, of 22 Bridge Street, Saugerties, and a 1960 station wagon operated by Mary Robinson, 46, of Saugerties, collided on Route 209 north of Route 28 at 8:25 p. m. Saturday. Lelia Ledwith, 22, of the Bridge Street address, sustained head and chest injuries, according to Trooper Fred Cooper.

Three Port Ewen residents were injured at 9:30 p. m. Sunday in a two-car collision on Route 9W about 2/10's of a mile north of Kingston. The vehicles were a 1964 station wagon operated by Fred Clark, 45, of Port Ewen, and a 1957 sedan driven by Narthy D. Ritchie, 17, of Saugerties. Trooper Richard Dempsey reported the cars were going in opposite directions when the Ritchie vehicle slid on snow-covered pavement.

Clark sustained a hip injury. Louise Clark, 38, received injuries of the left arm; Fred Clark Jr., 14, was treated for head and left leg injuries, and Shirley Clark, 18, sustained a nose injury. They were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Meanwhile, the New York State weekend accidental death toll reached 18 and it marked the second weekend in row in which aircraft were involved.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—As the New York State weekend accidental death toll reached 18, it marked the second weekend in a row in which aircraft were involved.

Alexander E. Somers, 62, of New York, vice president of an elevator manufacturing company, was killed Sunday when his light plane ran out of gas and crashed in fog near White Plains.

In addition, 15 persons died in traffic accidents and two in other types of mishaps.

The preceding weekend, seven persons were killed in three separate air crashes. Three were killed when two private planes went down near Glens Falls and four died in the collision of two airliners near New York City.

Deaths by community, during the period from 6 p.m. Friday midnight Monday included:

Friday

Buffalo — Edmund Walkowiak, 54, struck by auto near his home in the Town of Eden.

Watertown—Mrs. Alice Backus, 47, of Watertown, struck by auto while crossing street.

Hi-Yers Reject Lottery, Repeal Of Sales Levy

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — If members of State Hi-Y clubs are typical, teen - agers in New York State would like to see liberalized divorce laws, off-track betting — and compulsory high school education.

But delegates attending the youth association's 30th annual youth and government convention here rejected a state lottery, repeal of the state sales tax and a raise in the minimum drinking age for out-of-state residents.

More than 500 high school students from across the state participated in the three-day convention, which ended Sunday.

Officers for the session were Assembly Speaker Barry Taylor of Cortland and Senate leader Bruce Fusillo of White Plains.

Delegates, conducting themselves along the line of the real Legislature, also rejected resolutions to:

—establish one-year residency to qualify for welfare payments.

— establish civilian review boards in police departments.

Wary of Lull

2,000 hard-core Communist troops had been launched to forestall an attack on the Marine beachhead at Chu Lai, 52 miles southeast of Da Nang.

"The Viet Cong were planning to attack our positions and we felt we should attack first and destroy their capability," he said.

Cong Moved First

However, the Viet Cong struck first and inflicted heavy casualties on two South Vietnamese battalions before the Marines got into the action.

As the eight-engine bombers roared back toward Guam, more than 2,000 miles away, the Marines pushed forward to assess the results of the saturation bombing but made only light contact with the Viet Cong, U.S. officers said.

Some Leatherneck units moved up the hillsides overlooking the 20-mile-long valley in which the Communists were believed concentrated.

A report from the battleground said a South Vietnamese unit had found 200 Viet Cong bodies and a weapons cache, but it was not immediately determined how they had died nor was the site pinpointed. Earlier the Marines announced they had killed 122 Communists, and that the total had been confirmed by body count.

Walt said one Marine unit took moderate losses but added that over-all Marine casualties since the start of the fight were light while the Viet Cong casualty figure "runs into the hundreds."

In the Go Cong area 40 miles south of Saigon, a two-day battle between the Communists and 1,300 Vietnamese troops ended Sunday night in a rout of the Viet Cong, a U. S. military spokesman said. He reported 181 Viet Cong killed and 10 captured in contrast to light government casualties.

More tha, 100 Communists were reported killed in other scattered entounters with government troops, some right on Saigon's doorsteps. These included:

— A Vietnamese battalion smoked out an undetermined number of Viet Cong in Mekong River delta rice paddies 75 miles southwest of Saigon and killed 106 after a brisk fight. The government forces also captured nine Russian carbines, two light machine guns, mines and explosives.

—A Vietnamese patrol beat off a dawn ambush 15 miles south southwest of Saigon, killing one Viet Cong, capturing three and detaining eight more suspects without any casualties.

—Two young women terrorists threw a grenade into a police station at Gia Dinh, on the northern outskirts of the capital, injuring two policemen, one seriously. One of the wounded men emptied his pistol at the attackers and killed one.

—Terrorists raided a pagoda in the village of Tan Huong, 35 miles south southwest of Saigon, killing 23 persons in their sleep and wounding seven others. The pagoda was being used for housing by workers building a canal.

The North and South Vietnamese Communists called on their troops and people to stiffen their fight against the United States. The appeal came in statements from North Viet Nam's military leaders and the National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong's political command, broadcast by Radio Hanoi in connection with the Northern army's 21st anniversary on Dec. 22 and the fifth anniversary of the Liberation Front on Dec. 20.

Red China's official Peking People's Daily said the Chinese people were "fully prepared for a war to be forced upon them at any time by the U.S. aggressors."

In London, British journalist Felix Greene reported after his recent visit to North Viet Nam that "the bombing of their country has united the North Vietnamese as nothing else could have done."

Suffers Cuts

While playing at his home late Sunday afternoon, James Robert White, 14, of Kripplebush, accidentally fell against a plate glass window, and suffered severe cuts of the wrist. He was taken to Kingston Hospital by Don's Ambulance Service, where several sutures were taken to close the lacerations.

Space Twins

tween the spacecraft and earth as ground controllers attempted to boost the spacemen's spirits after the sudden scrub of the Gemini 6 launch.

A spacecraft radio was tuned to Sunday afternoon professional football games.

Split Second Decisions

If it had not been for cool, expert, split-second decisions by Schirra and Stafford in the face of potential danger — and maybe death — the chance at a repeat attempt would have vanished.

"They're cleared for takeoff," Mission Control advised Gemini 7, passing overhead shortly before the 9:54 a.m. liftoff time.

"Adios," control told Schirra and Stafford.

Right on schedule, the countdown proceeded.

". . .5, 4, 3, 2, 1, ignition."

Exhaust boiled from beneath the mighty vehicle, but the rocket didn't move.

"Shutdown," announced Mission Control with scarcely a pause.

Just Grip Rings

By this time, under these conditions, Schirra and Stafford were close to making a decision to eject and be thrown clear of the smoldering rocket, live with fuel. But they just gripped their ejection rings. Then the fuel pressure started slowly decreasing; the crisis disappeared.

Had they ejected — much like pilots do from jet aircraft — the damage to the capsule and seats might have been too severe to repair before the end of the Gemini 7 flight.

Gemini 6's launch vehicle probably would have flown successfully. Inspectors determined that the shutdown was caused by a false signal emitted because a two-inch plug fell prematurely from the base of the rocket.

Fuel Is Removed

The plug carries electrical signals between the blockhouse and certain systems, including the malfunctioning detection system. When it disconnected, the signals ceased and an automatic command shut down the engines.

To prepare for the second attempt, technicians removed all fuel from the rocket and began cleaning the system. The brief ignition did not damage the pad and apparently Gemini 6 was not damaged.

Schirra, the command pilot, was praised for the decision not to eject. "Mighty cool head there, Wally," Mission Control said. "We appreciate it."

But Schirra, 42, the oldest of the astronauts, had little to say, only: "Those things happen. It could happen to anyone. No one was hurt."

Shrugs Off Failure

The Gemini 6 crew shrugged off its second disappointment in attempting a rendezvous. On Oct. 25, Schirra and Stafford were only 42 minutes from liftoff when their target—an Agena rocket—failed to achieve orbit and exploded.

Rendezvous between two orbiting space vehicles is a vital step in the U.S. plan to send men on round trips to the moon. Astronauts who descend to the lunar surface must return in their landing craft to the mothership in orbit around the moon.

President Johnson watched the misfire on television, then expressed disappointment that Gemini 6 did not go off as expected. But he praised the calm pair of astronauts and their space agency colleagues.

"With the world watching," Johnson said from his Texas ranch, "they acted with remarkable courage in the face of danger and potential disaster."

After the launch attempt, the orbiting Gemini 7 crew performed a few experiments but first made sure their fellow astronauts were safe.

"Have they got Tom and Wally out of the spacecraft yet," Borman asked with a note of concern shortly after the shutdown.

"Negative," Mission Control told them. "They're still in, but everything is safe."

To reassure Borman and Lovell that Gemini 6 still intended to hunt them down in space, Schirra asked this message be relayed:

"Tell Frank and Jim that we still want to come up and see them."

Borman and Lovell became the world space endurance record holders at 1:26 p.m. Sunday, breaking the mark of 190 hours, 56 minutes set by the Gemini 5 pilots, Air Force Lt. Col. L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Charles Conrad Jr.

"Sorry to disturb your lunch, but we have a message here we think you'd be interested in," Mission Control said.

"Roger, go ahead," replied Lovell.

"We're coming up on a special time here, about five seconds. Mark, here," Mission Control announced. "You just exceeded the world's manned space flight endurance record.

"And by sheer coincidence we are pleased to inform you that you are cleared to choose whatever suit configuration you would like. Keep us informed,"

Hallelujah!" Lovell exclaimed. "Mine's coming off."

Borman took his off last Friday. Lovell earlier flew four days without his.

Strong Growth Issue For Marine's Future

Q) "Will you please advise me? I want to help my son in the Marines. He has $2,000 in a savings account. Which would give him more security and growth — a good stock like Long Island Lighting or his savings account? I will appreciate your help." — A. R.

A) You should be very proud to have a son who belongs to one of the greatest fighting organizations in the world. In the sense that all stocks fluctuate and savings accounts don't, a savings account must be considered more secure. However, your son is presumably young, and I believe he should buy a strong growth stock which — unlike a savings account — has the capability of enhancing his capital materially over the years ahead.

I suggest that he keep $500 in savings for an emergency and invest $1,500 in Bristol-Myers which has one of the most powerful growth records in our history. Since 1955, the shares have increased in value over 1700 per cent, and show a consistently rising curve on my chart.

Q) "I am an old man who has sold his business. At my age, inflation has no terrors but income tax does. My bracket will be high and I want tax-exempt income to replace that from my former business. What do you suggest?" — L. M.

A) I should like first to reemphasize that the tax-exempt market has been undergoing a long period of price decline, because of tightening money conditions. There are excellent values now obtainable however, and it might be as well for you to put your money to work, rather than to wait for a possible future turn-around.

I suggest to you Minneapolis 3.40s (when issued) due 1989, yielding 3.35 per cent and rated AAA. I like also Memphis 3s of 4/1/1979 on a 3.20 basis, also rated AAA, and San Francisco Bay Transit 3.30s of 1991 selling to yield 3.50 and rated AA.

Drug Raid Nets 10 Men, Girl

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Ten men, described as members of a motorcycle gang, and a teenage girl have been arrested in a narcotics raid on a suburban farmhouse, whose walls were covered with a swastika and a picture of Hitler, police said.

The raid was conducted Sunday by Amherst police and Federal Bureau of Narcotics agents in the suburban Town of Amherst. Police had been watching the farmhouse for a month.

The men, ranging in age from 21 to 26, and the girl, who was 18, were charged with possession of marijuana, which was found at the house.

Police said the farmhouse was rented by the Road Vultures Cycle Club.

Police also found a swastika, a picture of Hitler and statements painted on the wall including "Down with Johnson" and "Kill the Cops."

Welcome Carrier

wing the Navy unit commendation for exceptionally meritorious service from June 5 to Nov. 11 "while participating in combat operations in Southeast Asia in support of United States national policy."

7,000 Sorties

The Independence, first attack fleet carrier assigned to the China seas, launched more than 7,000 combat sorties against the enemy and took part in the first major series of coordinated strikes against North Vietnamese supply lines north of the Hanoi-Haiphong complex.

Adm. David L. McDonald, chief of naval operations, radioed the ship: "Your West Pacific cruise earned Independence an enviable reputation as a two-ocean carrier of formidable ability. The pioneering of your air wing dodging surface-to-air missiles and then destroying the launch sites sets them apart as veterans of the newest air threat. Your record is one of which you may be proud."

Rusk to Probe

multilateral nuclear force calls for a fleet of surface ships armed with nucear weapons and manned by mixed crews from the participating nations.

Britain's proposal calls for an Atlantic nuclear force integrating nuclear-armed units from the NATO nations, but the units would retain their national identity. The British plan emphasizes air force units and possibly submarnes.

Neither proposal seems to have much chance of being adopted.

Last AP Morse Code Operator Dies at 79

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Thomas L. Malone, the last Morse Code operator to be stationed at Rochester by The Associated Press, died Saturday at his home in Rochester after a long illness. He was 79.

Malone began his AP career in 1910, when the telegraph was the primary means of transmitting news, and retired 14 years ago. He spent his entire 42-year career in Rochester supervising AP news traffic for area newspapers and radio stations.

"Howie's built up his muscles since he got his car. He's always pushing it!"

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I am always happy to talk to Capt. "Yank" Albrecht, fireman retired, of 74 West Union Street, about old times. The other day Miss Betty Burns of New Paltz, wanted to know about the eagle in Cornell Park on the monument. Capt. Albrecht told me about it. This monument in Cornell Park on Wurts Street was built for the boys in service of World War I and II and the 50 Club takes care of it with flowers every year.

Capt. Albrecht further informed me that the urns belonged to Major Cornell, and the Rice girls donated them in behalf of Cornell Park and soldiers. They are over 100 years old and of cast iron. Those who go by there often find that from time to time the vandals who own Kingston throw them down every once in a while and I understand have damaged them some. Perhaps someday when logic and reason have come back to our Colonial City of Kingston, these vandals will receive more than a shrug of the shoulders with "what can we do with them."

Talking about the golden eagle, Capt Albrecht told me it was all hand carved from wood and was done at the Cornell shops These decorations were on boats, covering their some 85 boat fleet and each one had a hand carved eagle or perhaps rooster He does not remember the name of the man who did just that, but this gold eagle over the monument in Cornell Parks, he thinks is the last eagle from the Cornell Steamboat Co and was donated by E C Coykendall for the park. That too has been broken in many places by the vandals who ride herd over our parks and city streets, and Mr. Albrecht spent hours glueing and repairing the work of the vandals

I received some interesting items from Mrs. William F. Hasbrouck of the Governor Clinton Hotel. One item is from the Kingston Leader of Jan. 17, 1901. The heading reads "Kingston City Road bought by New York Capitalists . . . sale of Kingston City road includes Kingston Point Park . . . Abram Hasbrouck, general manager of the Colonial Railroad, said that a syndicate of New York capitalists, who are also interested in the Colonial Traction Co., had bought the Kingston City Railroad of S. D. Coykendall."

It further reads: "The sale of the Kingston City Railroad includes the entire line, the carbarn on Broadway corner of Chester Street and also Kingston Point Park, but not the pier, which is owned by the Ulster and Delaware Railroad Company."

Another item, dated Jan. 28, 1901 said that there was a rumor that they would have a transfer system of having 21 tickets for a dollar and so Kingstonians could transfer from either trolley system for one fare. School tickets were to be issued at reduced rates, to be used only certain hours during school days. William B. Taylor of Jersey City was appointed general manager of the Kingston City Railroad. Those were the days before the exodus of school buses, unwilling paid for by taxpayers as it is in 1965.

They had a meeting of the directors of the Colonial City Traction Company, on Saturday, Jan. 26, 1901 and Abraham Hasbrouck was elected president, treasurer and general manager. George Hutton was vice president and Augustus J. Phillips was secretary. This is all of interest even today as there is so much talk about the rebuilding of Kingston Point Park for public use. Those early years, the Park was a private enterprise with no admission and magnificiently landscaped. Of course that was before vandalism was king in this wonderful city of ours.

Watts Throwing Party

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Watts—hub of bloody riots last August and object of a sober post mortem ever since—is throwing itself a Christmas parade. Its theme, in a community that has known nightmare, is "A Child's Dream."

Today, with flags flying, bands blaring and spangled beauties waving to the crowd, the parade will parallel some of the worst ruins from the incredibly devastating riot that claimed 34 lives and cost $40 million in property destruction and damage.

K-Nine Corps Has Own Military Cemetary at Guam

AGANA, Guam (AP)—Tucked away in a clearing just off the main highway linking Andersen Air Force Base and the town of Agana is a tiny cemetery where 23 heroes of World War II are buried.

It's the only one of its kind in the Pacific.

A large white cross marks the entrance to the quiet enclosure cut from the jungle growth. Inside a white fence are the headstones marking the graves of military dogs, members of the K-9 Corps which were used to rout out the dug-in Japanese during the U.S. invasion of Guam in 1944.

The white headstones show a dog's head in profile, beneath which is the name and rank of the animal. Four corporals — Bunkie, Hobo, Yonnie, and Koko —and 16 privates first class are buried there. Three headstones are marked "unknown."

Called "The American War Dog Cemetery," the small graveyard is tended now by U.S. Air Force kennel attendants at nearby Anderson AFB where 21 German shepherds continue to be an important unit of the military on Guam.

Krumville Program

The Krumville Reformed Church Sunday school will present its annual Christmas program on Thursday, Dec. 23, at 8 p. m. at the church. Everyone is invited to attend.

CHICAGO—Alan Bushover, 17, Medina, New York national winner in the 1965 4-H Safety Program, is congratulated by General Motors Vice President Anthony G. De Lorenzo and Deborah Bryant, the current Miss America. The youth is among eight national safety winners selected from nearly 600,000 4-H Club members participating in the program which has been sponsored by GM for the past 22 years.

Analyst Lists 10 Top Stories

Says 1965 Was Prosperous But Full of Major Upsets

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The clash of government with industrial and financial leaders provided the best business stories of 1965. The see-sawing of the stock market at dizzy high levels and record volume was a close runnerup. The steady climb of the economy in the fields of jobs, profits and incomes made an important, if less exciting, background.

Here, in one man's opinion, are the 10 top business and finance stories of the year:

1. Showdown of the Johnson authorities on interest rates. As Administration and monetary authorities on interest rates. As bankers applauded, the Federal Reserve Board raised interest rates, saying this would head off the inflation it feared coming. President Johnson deplored the move, saying easy money was needed if the economy were to grow fatser.

Transfer Labor Talks

2. Crackdown by the government on price increases in selected industries. Steel labor negotiations were transferred from Pittsburgh to the White House to help keep wage and price increases within government guidelines. The power of the government's stockpiles was used to get aluminum and copper producers to rescind price hikes, and to hold down the rising cost of bread.

3. Record trading volume and wide price swings in the stock market. Prices hit a peak in May, dropped sharply, rose to a still higher level in the fall, and faltered again. Rumors, turns in the Viet Nam war, talk of inflation, rocky government-business relations could send volume soaring and prices into a tailspin and then into equally startling recoveries.

Increase Economy Aid

4. Rising government spending (and deficit) from Viet Nam war and the Great Society. Washington was pumping more money into the economy than planned — and the pace of business quickened. The federal debt climbed.

5. Controls over corporate and banking investments overseas. Voluntary curbs on spending abroad were stiffened as the dollar outflow continued.

6. Drain of gold takes big jump. Government drive to trim deficit in balance of payments was partly successful. But other lands, especially France, turned in more dollars for U.S. Treasury gold than last year. Congress freed some gold by eliminating reserve requirements for bank deposits.

Income Tax Cut Fades

7. Excise tax cut. Consumer spending was stimulated by elimination or reduction of some sales levies. But early hopes for further cut in income taxes are all but killed by rising government spending and bigger Treasury deficit.

8. Drop of the unemployment rate. A booming economy furnished more jobs and created shortages in a number of skilled classifications.

9. Rash of mergers. Railroads and banks grabbed most of the headlines both with their plans for combining and with the opposition of government agencies, particularly the antitrust division of the Justice Department. But engagements were announced in many industries —and many were broken. Some that went through linked such diverse companies that the survivor dreamed up a new name since the old ones no longer fit the current activities.

Gold Standard Dispute

10. Feuds with De Gaulle. There were many. Washington and the French president didn't see eye to eye on the gold standard, need for monetary reform nor political and trade relations with the Communist bloc. The European Common Market, which Washington backed, was all but stymied when France withdrew its representatives. Hopes for further tariff cuts, which Washington calls the Kennedy Round, got nowhere while France feuded with its allies.

All in all, 1965 was a very prosperous year — but full of surprises and problems and upsets.

Eight-Pound Reason

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Mrs. Norma Jean Knight had an eight-pound abibi when she appeared in court to answer a traffic ticket.

Mrs. Knight, 18 , was charged with sideswiping a car.

"The pains kept getting worse every block," she said. "I put on my lights, sped up and started honking the horn."

Then came the accident. She wasn't hurt, but was sped to a hospital where her eight-pound baby girl was born.

Home Extension Service News

Phyllis W. Barlow, county home demonstration agent, submits the following article on the participation by children in the preparation for the holiday season:

The days between Thanksgiving and Christmas pass all too rapidly for parents. But for children, they are the longest weeks in the year. Children quickly catch the excitement of the holiday season and their usual games and toys lose interest.

As youngsters try to participate in all the holiday preparations, they can seem to be constantly under foot. Parents need to plan some activities in which children are able to participate. Some baking projects can be fun for mother with fairly young helpers. Dad and the older boys might prove to be useful nut crackers, even while they are enjoying TV. School age children can learn to neatly wrap packages. Teenagers may add the clever decorative bows.

This season is a good time to sort out toys and eliminate and recondition those that are no longer used. There is scarcely a child's room that can hold all the old toys plus the new Christmas treasures. There are many ways to dispose of used toys that can give pleasure to less fortunate children. Such contributions are welcomed by children's wards in hospitals, and by institutions that care for homeless youngsters.

If the subject is properly presented, small fry will take pleasure in giving pleasure to others. Of course, all donated toys should be in reasonably good condition — and they certainly must be clean. The children themselves can be put to washing and scrubbing the trucks, cars, doll clothes, and whatnot they have decided to part with.

The bathtub and wash basin are good places for this washup work. Or pails of soap or detergent suds can be set on the bathroom or kitchen floor where splashing is no hazard.

This worthwhile activity can occupy as many as several days —especially if there is also mending and repairing to be done.

Elizabeth Bender, Thomas Brinckerhoff Exchange Marriage Vows in St. Joseph's

Miss Elizabeth Anne Bender, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bender of 61 Millrock Road, New Paltz, N. Y., exchanged marriage vows with Thomas A. Brinckerhoff, son of Mrs. David T. Kearney of Pelham, N. Y., and the late Horace A. Brinckerhoff, on December 11, 1965 at 11 a. m. The double ring wedding ceremony took place in St. Joseph's Church, New Paltz. Officiating was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward Monckton. Edward Wallace of Hampton, Va., was the organist.

The bride and her attendants were all dressed in white. Given in marriage by her father, the bride's gown was white brocade in floor length. Her fingertip veil was held by a brocade turban and she carried white rosebuds.

Miss Lynne Phillips of New Paltz was maid of honor in a full length wool gown. Her headpiece was a wreath of ivy leaves and she carried ivy leaves with green velvet. Cousins of the bride, the Misses Eileen and Justine Queally of Yonkers, N. Y., Denise Morrissey of New York, Bernadette Foley of New Paltz and Marjorie Brinckerhoff, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids and wore full length wool gowns also. Their headpieces were ivy wreaths and they carried ivy with green velvet ribbon.

Miss Wendy Beth Thompson of New Paltz, a niece, served as flower girl in a white floor length gown with cap sleeves. She carried holly leaves with ivy and a ivy headpiece.

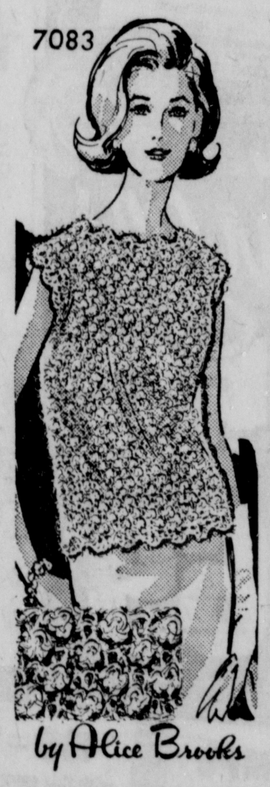

James Brinckerhoff of Glen Ellyn, Chicago, Ill., was best man for his brother. Ushering were cousins of the bridegroom, E. E. Stewart, 3rd, Radnor, Pa.; Michael Connelly, Aqawam, Mass.; Michael Bender, brother of the bride, New Paltz; Alan Bell of Middleburgh, N. Y.; and Phillip Deitsch of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. The bride's nephew Taylor N. Thompson Jr., was ringbearer.

A reception was given in Hickory Manor, Gardiner, N. Y. Afterwards the couple left for San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Brinckerhoff is a graduate of Elizabeth Seton Academy, Yonkers, N. Y., and State University College, New Paltz. Her husband attended St. Thomas Choir School, St. Peter's School, Peekskill, N. Y., and New York University. He is a graduate of State University College in New Paltz.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinckerhoff will reside in New Paltz when they return from their wedding trip.

Sisterhood Plans Are Noted Here; Aid Youth Aliyah

The monthly meeting of Sisterhood of Agudas Achim was held December 8, 1965, with Mrs. J. Blinder, acting president, presiding. Mrs. Blinder welcomed everyone to the annual Hanukkah party and Mrs. Ida Epstein gave the opening pray.

Mrs. Blinder introduced three guests: Mrs. Anne Samuels, Mrs. Spillinger, and Mrs. DeMicco. Rabbi Rappaport announced that 17 members of the youth group will attend a regional Sabboth next weekend in Ellenville. He also announced the Sisterhood is sponsoring a children's Hanukkah party Tuesday, Dec. 21, 1965, at 7 p. m., in the Vestry Hall. All children are invited to attend.

Cantor Slomovits and his sons, Sandor and Leslie, lighted the Hanukkah manorah and sang the Hebrew blessing. Miss Lynette Zang gave the blessing in English. Rabbi Rapport and Miss Sari Zang presented the story of Hanukkah in slides.

During the business meeting, the following fund raising projects were discussed. A fund raising project is being coordinated with the Men's Club for June, 1966. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Etta Schneider. A bakeless cake sale will be held and members will receive detailed information by letter. Mrs. Muriel Levine is chairman. A rummage sale will be held in the spring.

Mrs. Mildred Flamm has resigned her position as treasurer and Mrs. Muriel Levine will fill the post. Mrs. Flamm and her husband are planning an extended vacation trip.

On the occasion of her 50th wedding anniversary, Mrs. Ben Werbalowsky was presented with a gift from the Sisterhood by Mrs. Muriel Levine.

A donation to Youth Alyiah from the Sisterhood was approved.

Mrs. Adele Krepple served refreshments in honor of her son's bar mitzvah.

CHRISTMAS CARDS TO BUSINESS ACQUAINTANCES

When it is company policy to send a Christmas card to a client, it is preferable to send it, addressed to the man at his business, in the name of the company—The Todd Manufacturing Company wishes you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" — rather than sending a card to his home in the name of the president or other officer. But if the client is known to the executive socially as well as through business, it may be addressed to husband and wife, even though she may not be known to him personally. It should be signed, however, by the executive—not by him and his wife. This also applies to people working with you, or for you, in your own company.

After Expressing Verbal Thanks

Q: Some time ago my husband and I celebrated our golden wedding anniversary. I personally thanked all those who brought gifts to the reception. To those who sent gifts to the house, I wrote thank-you notes. I would like to know if I should also have written thank-you notes to those I thanked in person?

A: Your verbal thanks at the time of opening and admiring the presents was all that was necessary.

A Man's Visiting Cards

Q: I am a man in the early 30s and would like to have some visiting cards made up. Will you please tell me what size they should be and also what type of engraving is in best taste?

A: A man's card is from three to three and one quarter inches long and from one and one quarter to one and five eighths inches high. The engraving much in use is shaded Roman and script is always good form.

HONOR RETIRING TEACHER — Among those attending a testimonial dinner in honor of Miss Winifred Sullivan, retiring first grade teacher at St. Mary's School are (seated l-r) the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Miss Sullivan and Mrs. William Bodenweber, president of St. Mary's Mothers Society; (standing) Mrs. Robert Slover, treasurer; Mrs. Joseph Duffy, recording secretary; Mrs. Russell Maurer, vice president and Mrs. Paul Houghtaling, corresponding secretary. The event was held Wednesday evening at The Capri 400, sponsored by the Mothers Society. (Lakeside photo)

Mothers Society Honors Teacher at St. Mary's School

A testimonial dinner was given Wednesday night at the Capri 400 in honor of Miss Winifred Sullivan, first grade teacher at St. Mary's School. The Mother's Society of the school arranged the event for the retiring teacher.

Mrs. William Bodenweber, Mothers Society president, welcomed guests and paid tribute to Miss Sullivan. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor of St. Mary's Church, delivered a message from Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph G. McIntyre who was unable to attend. He spoke of her five years as teacher at the school and paid tribute to her "zeal and willingness as a devoted teacher."

A poem composed and recited by Miss Agatha Fitzgerald was one of the highlights of the evening. A watch was presented to Miss Sullivan with the thanks of many mothers present.

Among the guests were the Misses Agatha and Lenore Fitzgerald, Anna Desmond and Isabelle Moselein, all teachers and Mary Sanglyn, a lifelong friend and neighbor.

Miss Sullivan taught for many years at School No. 4 before going to St. Mary's.

Panel Discussion On Art in Skinner Hall, Poughkeepsie

Six contemporary artists from New York City will take part in a panel discussion, "The New Scene," as Vassar College on Wednesday, Dec. 15. Open to the public, the discussion is sponsored by the Senior Class and the Art Department, and will be held in Skinner Hall at 8:30 p. m.

Taking part will be Enrique Castro-Cid, Roy Lichtenstein, Claes Oldenburg, Larry Poons, James Rosenquist and Andy Warhol. Slides and a brief film will be shown to familiarize the audience with the work of each man.

The moderator will be Richard Feigen who has art galleries in New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. Several art critics are expected to be present in view of the novelty of such a presentation for a student audience.

Vassar College Play Opens on Thursday

A Month in the Country by Ivan Turgenev will be presented in Avery Hall by the Experimental Theatre of Vassar College on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Dec. 16th, 17th, and 18th, at 8:30 p. m.

This 19th century Russian comedy-drama is being performed in the Emlyn Williams adaptation that was used in the successful Phoenix Theatre revival in 1956 in New York as well as last summer in England in the Festival Season at Guilford starring Ingrid Bergman and Michael Redgrave. At Vassar the principal roles will be played by Susan Kaslow, Ron Van Lieu, Joan Walker, Howard Scott, and Thomas Heaton. The production is directed by Norris Houghton and designed by Virginia Dancy.

The actors have been studying advanced acting with Joseph Anthony, a Broadway director who is the visiting instructor this semester. Mr Houghton and the actor-students feel that A Month in the Country will be an immediate opportunity to put into effect what they have studied.

General admission tickets at no charge will be issued to members of the college and town communities up to the capacity of Avery Theatre. Inquires should be made of Mrs. John Kenny at the box office.

HANSEL AND GRETEL IN SAUGERTIES —Turnau Opera Players will stage a performance of the famous tale "Hansel and Gretel," Sunday, Dec. 19 at 2:30 p. m. in the Saugerties High School with Claude Monteux conducting 20 members of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic Orchestra. The performance is being given in cooperation with the New York State Council on the Arts and student and adult tickets will be sold at the door. Turnau was established 11 years ago and has since staged more than 550 performances of 50 operas including five premieres of contemporary works.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

St. Mary's Church Has $180,000 in Pledges for Fund

The Rev. Charles J. Kaufmann, pastor of St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, announced at all Masses on Sunday that $180,007 has been pledged to the drive with $15,783 in cash payments. The appeal for funds was to help cover the cost of a new Convent for the Sisters of Charity who staff the school, an eight room school addition and to redecorate the present church. The total cost of these projests will be in the area of $400,000.

Father Kaufmann thanked all the workers on the drive for their wonderful help and all those who pledged to the campaign. "The people of St. Mary's have been wonderful and reflected a true Catholic spirit of sacrifice for God's church with their fine response to the needs of St. Mary's.

This work is being done for the greater honor and glory of God." A continuation committee has been formed to function over the 30 month pledge payment period. Serving as co-chairmen are: Russell O'Dea and Charles Granwehr.

The campaign was conducted by Thomas P. McCarthy of Larchmont.

Freshmen Elect Class Officers

Michael Turek, vice-president; Soni Smith, secretary; Sandy Robinson, treasurer and Karen Orbacz, social director.

Results of the polling were made known by Moris Salkind, freshman advisor. Mayor Cornelius Cox, Superintendent of Schools, Dr. Dexter O. Arnold, and Town Supervisor Peter Williams were among the interested visitors who watched part of the balloting take place. The voting was done on a regulation machine installed for the purpose by the Board of Elections, through the courtesy of the Town Board.

The voting itself was supervised by Richard Smith and Edward Ehrmann of the social studies department. Instruction was provided in the use of the voting machine before a person registered to vote. Of the 229 ballots cast, anly one ballot was void.

Miss Goffredi, Junior High School art teacher, was helpful in the printing and judging of campaign posters.

The write-in vote totaled 59 and pointed out the intense competition among those candidates who had a place on the ballot and those who had not. According to a representative of the Board of Election, the write-in vote showed not only enthusiasm, but also understanding among the freshman voters. There is a feeling of anticipation and cooperation shown by the winning candidates, the losing candidates. and the voters—"In this democrateic exercise of their vote, the class feeling is that all have won," Vice-Principal, Robert Moser said.

Rondout Valley Art Guild Lists Program

The art of ceramics is next in a series of regular programs given by the Rondout Valley Art Guild. And as presented by Eleanor Heller, it promises to be one of the most interesting.

In her presentation, Mrs. Heller, an accomplished ceramicist who resides in Kerhonkson, and who is a member of the art group, will explore every aspect of the subject. And an intriguing field for exploration it is.

The utilization of clay as an art medium is not new; its roots reach deep into the past. Apart from its use as a sculptural ingredient, clay as a material for handicraft has facinated people, young and old, down through the ages. Both artists and simple inhabitants of ancient civilizations loved to work with it, delighting in its easy handling and pragmatic properties. Countless artifacts, evidence of their skilled handiwork, can be enjoyed in modern museums. Many of these objects d'art are primitive naturally, but many are also remarkably sophisticated. And of course, there are always children — because clay is such a malleable material, they love to dabble with it.

Yet oddly enough, despite its universal popularity, clay did not emerge as an art medium in this country until after World War II.

Some nine years ago, the lure of clay finally caught up with Mrs. Heller who had started out to be a social worker, but who is now that most fascinating of all people, a self-taught artist. In her program, she will tell something of what she has learned of the ceramic art; its history, design, formulation of glazes, intricacies of wheel throwing and hand building, and other ramifications. She will illustrate with color slides to show the step-by-step process involved in the creation of ceramic objects. She also plans to stress the artistic concepts behind each step, and will of course demonstrate with finished pieces, both wheel thrown and hand-built.

Mrs. Heller designs all her own pieces. To achieve a stoneware result, she makes her own glazes, and fires to 2250 degrees.

Mrs. Heller's work has been shown at the Nonagon Art Gallery in New York and the New Paltz Art Gallery. She has had a one-man show at Bethlehem Art Gallery in Vail's Gate, and is represented by America House in New York and the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. In 1963, she won the annual Craftsmen's Foundation of Wodstock award for a group of ceramics, which were judged best of show.

The meeting is scheduled to be held at Weing's Restaurant in Napanoch, on Monday, Dec. 20, promptly at 8 p. m.

ELEANOR HELLER AT HER WHEEL

High School Production of 'Diary' Draws Favorable Comments; Directed by Ryerson

By DOROTHY A. NAREL
Freeman Society Editor

The moving story of Anne Frank, a victim of Hitler's mad world, was skillfully presented by a cast of KHS students Saturday night with Toby Edelman in the leading role.

The nine-member cast performed with tremendous assurance and received well deserved audience acknowledgment.

Miss Edelman made a very pretty Anne and she portrayed her difficult role with well trained ease. The young starlet has a definite flair for dramatics.

Convincing and polished performances can be credited also to Robert Swithers who appeared as Mr. Frank, Anne's father, and David Fletcher as Mr. Dussel.

Rounding out the fine cast were Ruth McGeeney as Miep; Nancy Miller, Mrs. Van Daan; Lee Forst, Mr. Van Daan; Greg Hoffler, Peter Van Daan; Barbara Brophy, Margot; and John Waliszewski as Mr. Kraler. All combined, the students handled the dramatic story with authenticity.

We must not forget the performance of a special guest actor whose behavior on stage was remarkable—that of Poco, a cat.

The play, which was performed two nights in the Kingston High School auditorium, was presented in two acts. Scenery for the attic warehouse was unusually outstanding for a high school production.

Music composed and arranged by Mark Baczynski was played by the Kingston High School orchestra under the direction of Mr. Baczynski, who is director of orchestral music at KHS.

F. Arthur Ryerson, drama coach, is to be commended for his direction of 'Dairy.' His difficult task was made easier with the aid of Mr. Mercier, faculty advisor; Richard Barnhart, stage manager; Robert Dunbar, assistant; Teresa Fisher and Kathy Jones, assistants to the director.

Members of the production staff were as follows:

Lighting and set construction: Nick Esposito, chairman; Bruce Reamer, Harold Helper, Bruce Sumber, and Bridgett Glauber;

Properties: Pat Scully, chairman; Maureen Nichols, Jeanene Decker. Gayle Booth and Pam Schiff;

Sound: Roger Clark, chairman; Robert Grant and Jan Christiansen;

Costumes: Michele Ball, chairman; Pat Smith, Gail Schoonmaker;

Program: Rachelle Lipton, chairman; Edith Courtney;

Scenic Design. Linda Pfrommer, chairman; Gail Spath, Bonnie Boevee;

Publicity: Geraldine Donato, chairman; Peggy Reynolds, Karen Miller;

Tickets: Linda Thaisz, chairman; Patricia Winren;

Cover Design: Linda Pfrommer;

Stage Assistants: Jan Bell, Linda Pfrommer, Carol Turk, and Robert Turpening.

'Dairy' was produced by Kingston High School by special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service. Proceeds will enable the Drama Club to continue its activities.

Day of Blood Spilling

Hornung, Sayers and Gabriel Explode on Day to Remember

BETWEEN YOU 'N' ME ... by MURRAY

When the Los Angeles Rams get around to discussing their head coach situation after the season, and it seems inevitable, the name of Johnny McKay will pop up immediately. "If I ever considered coaching pro ball," says the Southern California coach, "I would want it to be in Los Angeles." And since there's only one pro team there, you figure it out. . . .

About the West Coast exclusive that McKay was in line for the Atlanta job, his reaction: "A complete fabrication. I have no intention of leaving Los Angeles." . . .

For a decade, word around the National Football League was that Rudy Bukich had a great arm but wasn't smart enough to hold down a regular quarterback's job. Since he tacked a master's degree onto his credentials, and started work on his doctorate, doubt about the Chicago Bear quarterback's capacity for the job has suddenly evaporated. . . .

Rudy Bukich

Look for Larry Morris, the veteran linebacker of the Bears, to wind up with the Atlanta Falcons next year in some capacity — maybe player-coach. It was part of his deal to come back to the Bears this year. . . .

All his life in South Dakota, Pete Retzlaff, the veteran end of the Philadelphia Eagles, was called Palmer, his given name. His mother still calls him Palmer. But it changed to Pete abruptly one summer on a construction gang. The foreman was an ex-Marine sergeant. "Nobody," he told Retzlaff, "is named Palmer. From now on you're Pete." . . .

In the telecasting life of George Connor, the former all-pro linebacker of the Bears, there have been two moments which have left him completely stumped for words. One was in the Chicago locker room after the Bears had beaten the Giants for the NFL championship, and they sang their risque ode to defensive coach George Allen, over network TV. The other was this season, after Gale Sayers had scored four touchdowns in his first full-game debut for the Bears against Minnesota. George asked him if it was the biggest thrill of his career. And the rookie back answered flatly, "No."

Most underrated defensive lineman in pro ball is Fred Miller of the Colts, who compensates in quickness for lack of size. He's a modest 245. Miller was versatile enough to move out to an end spot in a jam caused by the injury to Ordell Braase. . . .

Some thoughts on the pro game: they should outlaw the fair catch in pro ball, then impose a five-yard restraining line like they do in Canada, and turn the receivers loose. . . . Also make them run back all kick-offs, including those that go into the end zone (but not those beyond) . . . work out the statistics so that on passes completed behind the line of scrimmage, the yardage is credited to the ball carrier instead of the passer. . . .

The St. Louis Cards have done a complete el foldo which could jeopardize Wally Lemm's job. . . .

Between you'n'me, a summit meeting's in prospect between Jim Corbett's NCAA committee and the commissioner of the two pro leagues to straighten out the recruiting war. NCAA would like a postbowl game draft, but drawback is tax structure. By signing before first of the year, a kid like Dave McCormick, a tackle at LSU (where Corbett is athletic director), would save $5,000. Colleges are trying to work out some kind of tax deal for the kids. . . .

Colts, Browns, 49ers Are Routed

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Vince Lombardi's hunch turned Paul Hornung loose on a five-touchdown spree in Sunday's National Football League power struggle at Baltimore but it was a right guess by Green Bay linebacker Dave Robinson that turned the corner for the Packers.

Hornung, given a reprieve by Coach Lombardi after languishing on the bench for two weeks, responded with an offensive binge that vaulted Green Bay past the crippled Colts 42-27 and into the lead in the NFL's Western Division stretch run. A defensive gem by Robinson, however, provided the momentum as the Packers all but shattered Baltimore's title hopes.

The loss dropped the Colts one-half game behind Green Bay and one-half length ahead of Chicago, which stayed alive by smashing San Francisco 61-20 as rookie flash Gale Sayers bolted for six touchdowns. The Packers can wrap it up by beating the 49ers in next Sunday's finale, regardless of how the Baltimore-Los Angeles and Chicago-Minnesota games turn out.

Browns Pulverized

The Rams upended Cleveland's Eastern Conference champions 42-7; the Vikings beat Detroit 29-7; the New York Giants topped Washington 27-10 and the Philadelphia Eagles trounced Pittsburgh 47-13 in Sunday's other games. Dallas whipped St. Louis 27-13 Saturday.

Robinson, a third - year pro from Penn State, came up with the big play for Green Bay in the final minute of the first half.

The Johnny Unitas-less Colts trailed 14-13 but were driving for a go-ahead touchdown behind reserve quarterback Gary Cuozzo. With the ball on the Green Bay 2, Cuozzo dropped back and lofted a flat pass in the direction of fullback Jerry Hill.

87 Yard TD Romp

But Robinson, anticipating the pass, drifted to his left, reached up and picked it off — then raced 87 yards to the Baltimore 10. Bart Starr fired a TD pass to Boyd Dowler on the next play, boosting the Packers' halftime bulge to 21-13 and Hornung picked up the pieces.

The three-time NFL scoring king ran for three touchdowns and tallied on 50 and 65-yard pass-run plays from Starr. The over-all performance gave Hornung a club record for TDs in a single game.

Until Lombardi gave him the green light against the Colts, Hornung had scored only three touchdowns and had lost his starting job to Elijah Pitts. "It was a hunch — but Hornung's a pressure player," the coach said of his decision to start the eight-year veteran Sunday.

With Units on crutches — result of a mangled knee inflicted by the blitzing Bears last weekend — and Cuozzo slowed by a shoulder injury in the second half, the Colts' attack couldn't keep pace with Hornung and Starr, who completed 10 of his 17 pass attempts for 222 yards. Cuozzo hit on 20 of 38 for 212 yards and one touchdown.

Sayers Runs Wild

Sayers shocked San Francisco with a one-man show that set a single-game NFL mark of 336 yards rushing, receiving and returning kicks. His six touchdowns gave him a total of 21 for the year — one more than the league record set by Baltimore's Lenny Moore last season and matched by Cleveland's Jim Brown this year.

The rookie from Kansas carried nine times for 113 yards, caught two passes for 89 and returned five kicks for 134, topping by five yards the mark set by Wally Triplett of Detroit against Los Angeles in 1950.

Sayers scored on an 80-yard screen pass from Rudy Bukich, an 84-yard punt return and jaunts of 1, 7, 21 and 50 yards from scrimmage. That brought his league-leading point total to 126, two short of the rookie record established in 1950 by the Lions' Doak Walker.

Gabriel Sparks Rams

Roman Gabriel sparked the Rams' upset of Cleveland by tossing five TD passes and running for a sixth score. The Rams held Jim Brown to 20 yards in 13 carries while winning their third in a row. Tommy McDonald caught three Gabriel scoring strikes on plays that covered 46, 42 and 43 yards.

Minnesota snapped a four-game losing streak as Fran Tarkenton fired two first - half TD passes, Fred Cox booted two long field goals and Ed Sharockman scored on a 40-yard interception return.

Earl Morrall hit Homer Jones with a pair of scoring bombs, good for 74 and 72 yards, in the Giants' victory at Washington, which kept them in second place in the East. The Giants can clinch a berth in the NFL Playoff Bowl at Miami if they get by Dallas next Sunday.

Philadelphia defenders intercepted nine Pittsburgh passes, running three back for touchdowns, in the Eagles' one-sided victory. The loss was No. 11 for the Steelers in 13 games, their worst record in 21 years.

They Rang Twice for Travenio

Post Office Man Plays Key Role In Charger Win

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Diego Chargers have wrapped up their third consecutive Western Division title in the American Football League, and there's little doubt that a key but overlooked factor has been Herb Travenio — the postman for whom they had to ring twice.

Paul Lowe became the first two-time 1,000-yard ground gainer in AFL history and Keith Lincoln, Lance Alworth and John Hadl played their usual roles for the Chargers. But it was Travenio who provided the crucial points with his place kicking in Sunday's title-clinching 37-26 victory over stubborn Houston.

The Oilers led 19-14 in the third period when Travenio was put to work. He kicked a 32-yard field goal, then came back early in the fourth quarter and kicked a 12-yarder that put the Chargers ahead 20-19. The Oilers, however, quickly regained the lead 26-20 on George Blanda's third touchdown pass.

Move 76 Yards

But the Chargers bounced back again, moving 76 yards before Hadl plunged a foot for the tying points. Travenio added the conversion for a 27-26 lead, and followed minutes later with another 32-yard field goal that put it out of Houston's reach.

All things considered it was a most successful day — and it's been a most successful season — for Travenio, a 34-year-old third-year pro who skipped college, refined his football know-how in the U.S. Marines and was found by the Chargers working in the local post office.

Travenio caught on with Ean Diego last season but eventually was also dropped by the Chargers and went back to his post-office job. When injuries depleted San Diego's kicking corps this season, the Chargers rang for the postman again.

Travenio has responded with 37 conversions without a miss and 17 of 28 field goal attempts for 88 points — tops on the team and fourth best in the league.

Buffalo Winners

While the Chargers were wrapping up their fifth title in the six-year history of the league, Eastern champion Buffalo whipped Kansas City 34-25, Oakland clinched the runner-up spot in the West by downing New York 24-14 and Boston defeated Denver 28-20.

Travenio's 12-yard field goal came at the end of a 62-yard drive in which Lowe picked up 38 yards, Hadl then passed 22 yards to Lincoln and rushed for 46 yards himself in a 76-yard drive that wound up with Travenio's conversion putting San Diego ahead to stay. Jim Warren's interception set up Travenios final field goal.

Lowe, who scored the last San Diego touchdown in a 15-yard jaunt, rushed for 99 yards in 19 carries and brought his ground-gaining total for the year to 1,089 — within 10 yards of the league record set by Oakland's Clem Daniels in 1963. Lowe, who gained 1,010 yards in 1963, has one game remaining before the Dec. 26 championship game against Buffalo.

Kemp Fires Three

The Bills tuned up with Jack Kemp firing three touchdown passes — 66 and 13 to Bo Roberson and 46 to Ed Rutkowski — and Pete Gogolak kicking two field goals. Gogolak's field goals gave him an AFL record of 28. Len Dawson's three touchdown passes kept the Chiefs close.

Clem Daniels scored twice for the Raiders but Mike Mercer provided the decisive points for a 17-14 lead on a 22-yard field goal with 2:38 remaining. Joe Namath passed for two Jet touchdowns, hitting Bake Turner with a 62-yarder and Don Maynard on a 43-yard play.

Babe Parilli threw three touchdown passes for the Patriots and Jacky Lee did the same for the Broncos but Jim Nance provided the difference with a one-yard touchdown smash for Boston.

Duke Checks Uclans In Successive Tilts

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

There are plenty of pretenders today for the title of national collegiate basketball champion which appears shaky in the grasp of UCLA.

Heading the list are the Duke Blue Devils with Bob Verga and Jack Maring who routed the two-time national champions on successive nights last Friday and Saturday, 82-66 and 94-75.

Right behind are All-America Cazzie Russell and the Michigan Wolverines, ranked second to UCLA in last weeks Associated Press poll.

Other Pretenders

Then theres St. Joseph's of Philladelphia, Vanderbilt, Minnesota, Kansas, Providence, Bradley, Iowa, Kentucky, Wichita, Dayton, Temple, Princeton, Syracuse as well as Connecticut Colorado State U., Utah, Brigham Young, San Francisco, Oklahoma City, Texas A&M, Chicago Loyola, Western Kentucky, DePaul and Boston College.

UCLA, which suffered two straight defeats for the first time in years, still must be reckoned with as the team picked before the season opened to win an unprecedented third straight national crown.

"Every team plays poorly away from home," said UCLA Coach Johnny Wooden after the disasters against Duke. He referred to Duke's upset on the road by South Carolina last Monday and could have included Michigan's road defeat by Wichita last Wednesday.

UCLA will be back home in Los Angeles this week ready to show there's a lot of life in the old boy yet. The unbeaten Kansas Jayhawks, 5-0 and No. 7 in The AP poll, get the chance Friday to test their championship aspirations. On Saturday the Cincinnati Bearcats will get their whack at the Bruins.

Kansas knocked St. John's of New York from the unbeaten ranks 61-55 Saturday while Cincinnati humbled South Dakota 112-66.

Michigan rebounded from its Wichita defeat by beating San Francisco 96-78 with Russell getting his career high 45 points. All but 10 of these came in the second half as Cazzie turned a close game at Chicago Stadium into a rout. The Wolverines are idle this week and are looking ahead to their meeting with Duke next week.

Duquesne beat Miami of Ohio 64-60 to win the Steel Bowl at Pittsburgh Saturday. Tennessee State took the K. of C. Tourney at Portland, Ore., by whipping Idaho 104-93.

Duke, paced by Verga's 22 points and Marin's 23, at one time opened a 24-point lead over UCLA at 70-46. While that game at Charlotte wasn't exciting there were several close finishes.

Some Close Ones

Ron Hobson's basket in the last second gave Tennessee Tech a 79-77 victory over Canisius. Nebraska's Nate Branch tipped in a rebound to give the Cornhuskers a 70-68 victory over California. Tommy Campbell's 20-foot jump shot at the final buzzer gave Bradley an 81-80 squeeze over Oklahoma and Stan Felsinger's four free throws in the last minute gave Columbia an upset 69-68 victory over Cornell.

Services for Rickey Are Scheduled Today

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Funeral services for Branch Rickey, one of the dominant figures of baseball in a career spanning more than half a century, were to be held today in St. Louis.

Rickey died at the age of 83 Thursday night at Columbia, Mo., where he was hospitalized Nov. 13 after suffering a heart attack while making a speech accepting membership in the Missouri Sports Hall of Fame.

Numerous baseball notables, including National League President Warren Giles and retired American League President Will Harridge, were expected to attend services at the Grace Methodist Church.

Burial with graveside services will be Tuesday at the Rickey family plot in Scioto County near Portsmouth, Ohio.

Buytkins Fourth In Scoring Race

Paul Buytkins and George Druttman, co-captains of the undefeated (4-0) Ulster Community College Basketball team, are doing well in the Region XV statistics.

Buytkins is fourth in scoring with an average of 28 points a game. Druttman is averaging 23 points a game and is second in assists with an average of 11 a start. Figures include only the first two games.

Ulster is second in scoring with a mark of 99.3 a start. Region XV comprises 36 schools and the locals trail only Hagerstown, Maryland, which is averaging about 110 points a game.

Richards Ousted at Houston; Smith, Hatton in Key Roles

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Paul Richards, who came to the Houston Astros as general manager in 1961 to build up the club, is on the outside looking in today, but he isn't bitter.

Roy Hofheinz, owner of the Astros, fired Richards Sunday and replaced Field Manager Luman Harris with Grady Hatton, manager of Houston's Oklahoma City farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

Tal Smith, special assistant to Hofheinz, was named director of player personnel. Smith and Hatton will share Richards' former duties and the general manager title will be retired.

"The judge thinks that Grady and Tal can run the club better than our group," Richards said at a hurriedly called news conference set up by Hofheinz. "That's 100 per cent okay with me.

"It's his team. He wasn't satisfied with the progress of the team."

Richards said he first learned of the move about 1 p.m. Sunday but "you might say the judge (Hofheinz) and I had some long-distance communication of the minds.

"I called Eddie Robinson (Astro farm director) when I landed in Miami (from Venezuela) and in that way learned about Friday's press conference."

Hatton and Hofheinz had held a news conference Friday to announce that Hatton had turned down an offer to manage the Chicago White Sox. The White Sox denied any offer was made.

"After that (when he learned of that news conference) it was obvious," Richards said.

Hofheinz had high praise for Hatton and Smith. "They are two of baseball's brightest young men and I feel that the progress of the Astros on the playing field will be swifter with Grady and Tal in charge of the playing end of the game," he said.

The terms of a new contract for Hatton presumably will be worked out in the next day or so.

Harris had made the trip to Venezuela with Richards and was due back in Houston from Alabama today. He was not available for comment.

Hofheinz said Harris and Robinson would be offered new jobs in the Astro organization. Robinson, at Sunday's news confernece, said he'd have to talk it over with Hofheinz and with Mrs. Robinson.

Harris' contract runs through next year.

Richards was given a three-year contract when he replaced Gabe Paul in 1961 as general manager. The contract was extended through 1970 last year.

Hofheniz indicated he would buy up Richards' contract.

Hatton was named Minor League Manager of the Year this year. He guided Oklahoma City to two Pacific Coast League titles in three years.

Suffern Leads In Novice Mat

Suffern, a long-time wrestling power in Rockland County, won four first place trophies in Section Nine's Novice tournament Saturday at Newburgh Free Academy.

Rondout Valley of the Ulster County league captured two first and a pair of second place finishes while Newburgh Free Academy of the DUSO league won two events.

Kurt Anderson of Rondout registered the quickest pin by downing Joel Alsdorf of Cornwall in 46 seconds.

Except for Kingston High school, most of the schools in the area leagues competed in the event. Larry Skalla of Rondout Valley was chairman.

Royal Claims He Made No Deal

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Coach Darrell Royal of Texas insisted Sunday he has made no deal to accept the Oklahoma coaching job, but an angry Texas regent said privately "It sounds like it's cut and dried."

The regents, who said Royal recently had assured them he wasn't interested in the Oklahoma job, still were in the dark about the unanimous recommendation by the University of Oklahoma Athletic Council Saturday that Royal be hired to succeed Gomer Jones, who resigned.

Royal said Sunday that Oklahoma President George L. Cross called him again Saturday night and would call him Monday.

Army Defeats NYU, 76-68

Mike Silliman returned to the lineup and Army upset NYU, 76-68, Saturday at West Point. It was the second win in three outings for the Cadets and was the first setback of the year for the visitors.

Bill Helkie, with a sizzling 10-13 from the floor, scored 26 points for the Cadets. Silliman added 21 and was his usual rugged self under the boards.

Army built up a 13-point edge in the second half before the Violets rallied to within five points. The Cadets then settled down to a deliberate type game and forced the losers to overcommit themselves.

Box score:

Army (76)

BOWLING

Press Tourney Opens Entries

Schenectady Press bowling tournament has announced dates of February 5 through May 1 for its annual renewal.

Sanctioned by the ABC and the WIBC, the Schenectady Press tournament offers team, doubles, singles and all-events competition in both men's and women's divisions and has attracted contestants from nine states and Canada during earlier runs.

Contestants shoot at both handicap and scratch prize lists, with the top return coming in the handicap bracket, where the No. 1 men's team will earn $3,000, the No. 1 women's finisher $2,000. Scratch tops in the team bowling includes $1,500 for the men and $1,000 for the women.

$56,000 Prize List

Last year's test showed a $56,000 prize list and posted additional money for its all-events winners, who returned later in the season for the Schnectady Press Tournament bowling show, where Skip Vigars, Albany, beat John Walter, Troy, in the men's rolloff and Bea Dudek, Utica, defeated Ellie (Bobbie) Smith, New York City, in the women's windup.

Special prizes also are available for each squad, while four portable television sets are being offered in a drawing at the conclusion of the tournament.

Tournament applications are available at several area establishments or may be obtained by contacting the Schenectady Press Tournament, 1037 Fort Hunter Rd., Schenectady, N. Y. 2303. Entry deadline is Jan. 23.

Finnish Kegler Paces Masters

DUBLIN Ireland (AP) — Lauri Ajanto, 37-year-old dental technician from Helsinki, Finland, fired a strike with his final ball to win the International Masters Bowling Championship Sunday.

Ajanto's 181-179 victory over Juan Canelo of Mexico City in the 38th and final game enabled him to finish 54 points ahead of Tom Hathaway of Los Angeles.

Vittorio Noveletto of Milan, Italy finished third, 79 points off the pace.

The champion's prize is an expense -paid trip to Rochester, N.Y., next spring for the American Bowling Congres: Masters Tournament.

Ajanto won 26 games, lost 11 and tied one. Hathaway won 25 and lost 13.

Young Gogolak, 8, Gets Princeton Bid

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Pete and Charlie Gogolak, whose soccer-style kicking method has smashed professional and collegiate football records, have a younger brother, who already has been contacted by Princeton University, with an eye to the future.

"It is really fantastic," said Pete Sunday.

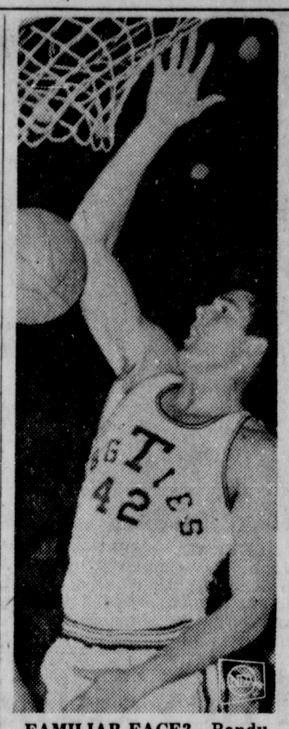

"My brother John — he is only eight — has received an application from Princeton for the class of 1979. That's what I call planning ahead," he added.

Pete, who played for Cornell University and now is in his second season of pro football with the Buffalo Bills, kicked his 28th fieldgoal of the season Sunday for an American Football League record.

Charlie Gogolak wound up a record-breaking season with Princeton this year by signing with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League. He was the club's first draft choice.

Spectator Killed

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Cristolal Aguilar, an 18-year-old spectator, was killed Sunday when he attempted to cross the course and was struck by a car during the City of Quito six-hour auto race. Fausto Merello won the race.

FAMILIAR FACE?—Randy Matson, the world's record holder in the shot put, has temporarily switched sports at Texas A&M. He's the center for the basketball team.

Archer, Fullmer To Meet Tonight

Middleweight contender Joey Archer of New York risks his chances for a world title fight when he faces Don Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, in a 12-rounder billed for the American championship at Boston Monday night.

Archer, winner of 14 straight and the No. 2 contender, is in line for a shot at champion Dick Tiger of Nigeria. His victory streak in a span of more than three years includes a triumph over Tiger.

The New York boxing master could be in for trouble against Fullmer, ranked fifth. The 26-year-old brother of former middleweight king Gene Fullmer won recognition as American champion from the World Boxing Association when he outpointed world welterweight ruler Emile Griffith at Salt Lake City last August.

Archer outpointed young Fullmer in a 10-rounder about six years ago.

Two retired ring greats, former featherweight champion Willie Pep and Sugar Ray Robinson, the five-time middleweight ruler, will appear in a four-round farewell exhibition before the main event. They met as amateurs 27 years ago.

Syracuse Team Seeks 5th Win

Syracuse University's undefeated basketball squad moves to Ohio Tuesday in a bid to notch its fifth win as it meets Bowling Green.

The Orangemen already hold one win over a team from the Buckeye State, Kent, which fell to the Syracuse five, 100-86, Saturday night.

The Orange attack in that game was paced by George Hicker, who came off the bench at the end of both halves and came up with a total of 27 points.

In other games Saturday involving Upstate New York college teams:

MIT topped RPI, 57-49; Potsdam swamped Brockport, 82-62; Oneonta edged Oswego, 57-56; Rutgers of New Jersey tripped Colgate, 92-82; Susquehanna of Pennsylvania downed Ithaca, 102-94; Cortland beat Fredonia, 95-85; Utica dumped Brooklyn Polytech, 85-65; Clarkson defeated Norwich, 92-81; LeMoyne took Scranton, 83-67, and Rochester overpowered St. Lawrence, 70-53.

Hartwick felled Alfred, 79-59; Buffalo State blasted Rochester Tech, 89-61; Roberts Wesleyan beat Eastern Nazarene, 91-78; Geneseo downed Harpur, 66-52; the University of Buffalo crushed Albany, 80-66; Hamilton topped Stevens, 75-66; Assumption of Massachusetts romped over Siena, 106-81; Plattsburgh beat Montclair of New Jersey, 90-74, and Columbia squeezed past Cornell, 69-68.

In a double bill at the Buffalo Auditorium, Tennessee Tech edged Canisius, 79-77, and St. Bonaventure topped Xavier of Ohio, 92-72.

Clarkson Skaters Win 7th Straight

POTSDAM, N.Y. (AP)—Clarkson College, sporting a 7-0 hockey record and fresh from a 11-2 marauding win over Carleton of Ontario, travels to the Ivy League tonight to try to put Harvard on ice.

Clarkson's 11-goal bombardment of Carleton came Friday night, while the visiting Canadian team vainly used two goalies in an attempt to stem the attack.

Meanwhile, Harvard bowed to St. Lawrence Saturday, 5-3.

In an Ivy League contest Saturday, Dave Ferguson fired three goals to lead Cornell to a 7-2 victory over Yale in the league opener for both teams.

Cornell is 5-1 overall. Yale, which beat the Big Red twice last year to knock them out of the Ivy championship, is 1-3.

In other contests Saturday: Hamilton upper Amherst, 6-3; Colgate beat St. Nick's Hockey Club, 5-3, RPI lost to Providence, 8-4; and the Oswego Hockey Club smashed the Hamilton freshmen, 15-3.

The Clarkson-Harvard game is the only contest involving an Upstate team tonight.

Bowl Activity Starts This Week

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Bluebonnet Bowl and the Liberty Bowl push post-season college football activity into its major phase this week as the first of 11 top year-end attractions.

Six small-collegebowl games last Saturday left the field to the majors with the Bluebonnet at Houston matching Tennessee and Tulsa and the Liberty at Memphis sending Mississippi against Auburn getting the fireworks started this Saturday.

The North-South and Blue-Gray All-Star games are scheduled for Christmas Day before the usual year-end rush brings on three more bowl games Dec. 31 and four on Jan. 1.

The nation's No. 1 small-college team, North Dakota State, held rugged Grambling to 16 yards in the air and 81 on the ground last Saturday enroute to a 20-7 victory in the Pecan Bowl at Abilene, Tex.

The NAIA championship went to St. John's, Minn., which whipped Linfield, Ore., 33-0.

Elsewhere, East Carolina crushed Maine 31-0 in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla.; Tennessee A&I and Ball State battled to a 14-14 tie in the Grantland Rice Bowl at Murfreesboro, Tenn.; Los Angeles State edged California Santa Barbara 18-10 in the Camelia Bowl at Sacramento, Calif., and Fullerton, Calif., defeated Henderson, Tex., 20-15 in the Junior Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

Hawks Hope Rest Will Aid Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. Louis, despite losing 123-101 to the Los Angeles Lakers, still had its eye on first place today in the Western Division race of the National Basketball Association.

The Hawks lost their second straight to Los Angeles Sunday night to put St. Louis 4½ games back.

Hawks' Player-Coach Richie Guerin said after the defeat he hoped a week's break in the schedule — after playing San Francisco Wednesday and Friday — might give four Hawks, including Guerin, time to heal.

St. Louis doesn't play again until Dec. 25 in New York.

Guerin played 33 out of 48 minutes Sunday night despite pain from a severely bruised Achilles tendon, which left sim exhausted at the finish. The Hawks' other starting guard, Len Wilkens, is just beginning to return to play again after a three-week layoff with a sprained ankle.

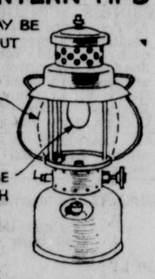

Also sidelined are guard Chico Vaughn, with a pulled thigh muscle that halves his speed, and forward Jeff Mullins, suffering a severe ankle sprain.

The Hawks trailed by only 10 points at the half Sunday night, 64-54. But fast-breaking Los Angeles outscored St. Louis 35-17 in the third quarter, sewing up the game.

St. Louis took another beating, from Boston, Saturday, 126-108. In other Saturday games, Philadelphia whipped Cincinnati 135-132 in overtime and New York beat Baltimore 150-127.

Most of Upstate Slippery, Sloppy After Sleet, Rain

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Snow, sleet and freezing rain left most of Upstate New York slippery and sloppy today and figured in at least one accidental death as ice spots covered extensive stretches of the state's roads.

Temperatures were in the 30s generally, but western sections saw the mercury rise well into the 40s.

Buffalo enjoyed a relatively balmy 50 Sunday, a prelude to milder weather that is due to move eastward across the state today.

But the overnight lows in most areas were close enough to the freezing mark to put a slippery glaze on highways.

A Greyhound bus went off Route 7 early today east of Troy, where State Police described roads as "extremely slippery." The bus struck a tree, killing one man and injuring about 10 others.

Sunday, a pilot apparently became lost in fog and was killed when his light plane crashed near White Plains.

Snow flurries were expected to continue in some areas today, but fair weather should become prevalent by evening.

It's Now Official; Oliva Is Bat Champ

BOSTON (AP) — Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins has been certified as the American League batting king for the second straight year.

The official 1965 averages released Sunday confirmed Oliva's pace-setting .321 average. He led with a .323 mark as a rookie in 1964.

Carl Yastrzemski of Boston, the 1963 batting champion, was the runner-up last season with a .312 average. Vic Davalillo of Cleveland was third with .301 followed by Brooks Robinson, Baltimore, .297, and Leon Wagner, Cleveland, .294.

Rocky Colavito of Cleveland paced the loop in runs batted in with 108 while Boston's Tony Conigliaro captured the home run crown with 32.

The pennant-winning Twins had the highest team average, .254. They also led in runs scored with 774, hits 1,396 and doubles, 257. Boston had the most home runs, 165.

Montreal Leads Hockey Loop Race

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jean Beliveau's quick stick has brought a stream of daylight to the top of the National Hockey League where Montreal enjoys a four-point lead today after completing a weekend sweep of second-place Chicago.

But for stirring things up, how about Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel, who teamed two of the NHL's best players with a third named Gordie Howe on one line and now finds his club in the midst of a seven-game winning streak.

Beliveau and a series of penalties did the job on the Black Hawks.

The veteran Montreal star scored the winning goal in Saturday night's 2-1 victory with less than four minutes to play while two Black Hawks cooled their skates in the penalty box.

Then Beliveau and Yvan Cournoyer scored two goals apiece Sunday in Montreal's 5-3 triumph and, on two of the goals, the Canadiens again enjoyed a two-man power play advantage.

Howe, playing in his 20th NHL season at the age of 37, scored the 15th hat trick of his fabulous career as the Wings whacked Boston 5-3. In Sunday's other game, New York and Toronto played to a 1-1 tie that extended the Rangers' winless string to 10 games.

On Saturday, Detroit downed New York 4-2, Toronto routed Boston 8-3 and Montreal nipped the Hawks 2-1.

Howe, playing on a line with Norm Ullman, who led the NHL with 42 goals last year, and Alex Delvecchio, ran his career total to 608 with his three goals against the Bruins.

Abel teamed the trio two weeks ago and the Red Wings haven't lost since.

Olive Church To Present Yule Play Saturday

Come to the Stable, a three-act Christmas play-pageant by Hermon E. DeVier, will be presented by Olive-Shokan Baptist Church, Saturday, Dec. 18, at 7:30 p. m.

Justus, (Allen Davis) a blind teenage boy, sees hope in the near coming of the promised Messiah. He and his teenage sister, Eunice (Raecine Shurter) help their mother Maria (Elizabeth Barringer), a widow of Bethlehem, weave baskets to sell at the market. The market women (Dianna North, Davida Barringer, Nancy Smyth, Linda Smyth) tell Maria of the decree of Caesar Augustus that all must be enrolled and taxed.

In order to pay the tax, Justus becomes a stable boy for Darius and Dianna (Allen Bridge, Peggy North), innkeepers of Bethlehem. When Silvius (Roland Phillips) informs Darius of the need of lodging for Joseph and Mary (Larry Quick, Marion Barringer), Darius' love for money leads him to reject them.

After Darius learns that Justus has permitted Joseph and Mary to use the stable, he seeks and receives God's forgiveness.

When the stable door is opened, the entire cast, with the shepherds (Harold Quick, Michael Higley), angels (Cindy Ronk, Beverly Barringer, Joan Barringer), Roman Soldier (Gary Tompkins), and modern children (George Smith, Cheryl Ronk, Lisa Kelder, Tammy Tompkins, Kenneth Barringer, Donna Tompkins, Carl Quick, Shirley North, Margaret Smyth), comes to the stable to worship the Christ.

Music will be as follows: It Came Upon the Midnight Clear, Silent Night, Joy to the World, O Holy Night, O Little Town of Bethlehem, No Room, Away In a Manger and O Come All Ye Faithful.

The program is under the direction of the following: Costumes, Mrs. Charles Wood, Mrs. Isabelle Kessler; stage and lights, Harvey L. Every, George Burgher; opening exercise, Robert Davis, Francis Every, Harry Jones and directors, Miss Evelyn Every, Mrs. Julian Morton.

The public may attend.

IBM Announces New Promotion

STUART M. BUCHAN

The promotion of Stuart M. Buchan to manager, quality control, quality assurance administration, has been announced by George W. Tamke, general manager of the IBM Systems Manufacturing Division's Kingston Plant.

In his new position, Buchan is responsible for administration of all quality control functions consisting of receiving, calibration, tool and gauge inspection, and all product inspection departments; and quality control appraisal of all raw material, components, sub-assemblies, units, I/O equipment and systems either procured for or manufactured in the IBM Kingston complex for both engineering and manufacturing organizations.

Buchan joined IBM as an apprentice toolmaker and model maker in 1947 at Endicott. In 1951, he was named quality analyst and transferred to Kingston in that capacity in 1955. He was promoted to manager, site quality control and sub-contract quality control in July 1956 and in 1957, he was promoted to project manager, receiving inspection. In 1965, he was named project manager, manufacturing quality control, a post he has held until his present promotion.

He received a national certificate of engineering from West Ham Technical College, England.

Buchan is first vice president of the Saugerteies Lions Club.

Buchan, his wife, Lois, and children, Debralea and James, reside at 5 Hemlock Court, Saugerties.

Hunting Mishap

While hunting in an area near Ulster Landing at 2:35 p. m. Sunday, Bernard Dachenhausen, 34, of Ruby, was accidentally shot near his left eye. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment. According to State Police Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes, Kingston substation, Dachenhausen was accompanied by his brothers, Robert and William, as they hunted on Sal Castiglione's property. A report by Trooper David Wachtel stated that Robert fired at a rabbit and the shot richocheted and hit Bernard.

Imposes 30-Day Sentence

Two farm workers employed on the Morello farm on Route 32, New Paltz, were sentenced to 30 days in the county jail by Justice of the Peace Linn Baker of Town of Lloyd, after pleading guilty to petit larceny. Arrested by Highland state police was Marion Williams, 26, and Frank J. Montgomery, 19.

Suspend Off-Duty Cop in Shooting

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Police say a 23-year-old off-duty Rochester policeman has been suspended for shooting his cousin accidentally while displaying his "quick-draw" method with a revolver.

The officer, Gordon Vigilanti, was suspended after the shooting Saturday, Police Chief William M. Lonbard said.

His counsin, Steven Speranza, 18, of Rochester, was reported today in good condition at Genesee Hospital.

Lombard said Speranza had asked Vigilanti, who was at Speranza's house, to show him his "quick-draw" method. Vigilanti, forgetting the .38-calibre revolver was loaded, drew the weapon and fired, he said.

Speranza was struck in the waist.

Lombard described the shooting as accidental but labeled the policeman's actions as "careless."

Bus Driver Is Killed in Crash

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—A Greyhound bus shot off Route 7 today near the hamlet of Boyntonville, six miles east of here, and struck a tree, killing the driver and causing serious injury to two passengers.

Another 10 passengers were shaken up but did not require hospital treatment, State Police reported.

The driver was Allen E. Mills, 49, of Winooski, Vt., troopers reported.

Reported in serious condition at Samaritan Hospital, Troy, were Barbara Dyck, 39, of New York City, and Judith Sheldon, 22, of White Plains.

The bus had left Burlington, Vt., at 11:30 Sunday night and was bound for Albany and New York City. A spokesman for the company said he could not tell how many persons were on the vehicle at the time of the accident.

State Police said roads in the area were "very sliperry" at the time of the crash.

Shot While Hunting

A 59-year-old Woodside hunter was accidentally shot by a companion at 10 a. m. Sunday on the property of Sandro Brusini in the Town of Durham. Leeds State Police Sergeant G. E. Brown said Rinato Milani, of Woodside was taken to the Greene County Memorial Hospital, Catskill, and treated for a pellet wound of the left eye. The pellet was removed and the injured man said he would see an eye specialist in New York. BCI Investigator P. J. Romangnano said Milani was standing on a knoll about 50 yards in front of Dominick Speroni, 33, of East 113th Street, Brooklyn, when the latter shot at a grouse. The birdshot hit Milani.

Accused in Car Theft

Charged with grand larceny involving the alleged theft of a car Saturday night, Frank Gonzalez, 43, of Route 28, West Hurley, was arrested by Troopers Thomas Searles and Craig Bremer of the Kingston substation. Gonzales was arraigned in Town of Kingston justices court and waived preliminary examination. He was committed to the county jail to await grand jury action. According to an investigation by Senior BCI Investigator Michael Lisman, Gonzalez allegedly stole a car owned by Kevin Sweeney of Woodstock. The car was later found burning on Route 28, and Gonzalez was taken into custody about 200 feet from where the car had left the highway.

Verdict: Natural Causes

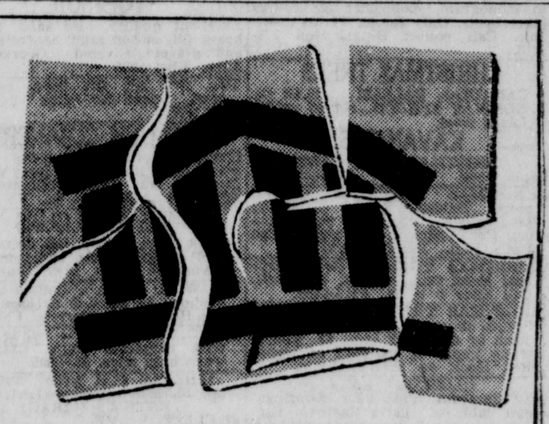

Kingston State Police on Sunday investigated the death of William Lewis, 49, who resided at Route 2, Box 222, (Dug Hill Road) Kingston, according to Sergeant Henry S. Rhoades, who said Coroner William S. Keyser gave a verdict of death due to natural causes. Troopers Richard Ryan and John Kohland investigated after the body was found in the Lewis home by Marcus Smith, a friend.

Who'll put this college program together?

The colleges are facing rapidly increasing enrollments every year.

That's the problem.

Higher education needs financial help for the equipment, facilities and teachers to educate this crop of potential leaders.

It's really our problem. Without enough leaders to plan use of our resources, manpower and skills, we will go downhill.

Without strong leadership we cannot maintain our high level in jobs, opportunities and living standards.

The colleges are doing our job—let's get together on the problem. Give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS

The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women if you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx N. Y. 10452 WYandotte 2-1235

IMPORTANT NOTICE: The New York State Law Against Discrimination and the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibit discrimination in employment because of sex unless based on a bona fide occupational qualification. Help Wanted and Situation Wanted advertisements are arranged in columns captioned "Male" and "Female" for the convenience of readers and are not intended as an unlawful limitation or discrimination based on sex.

FOOD FOR AMERICANS

Lazy Day Tuna Supper Has Protein

LAZY DAY TUNA SUPPER saves time and effort.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Are you in a rocking chair mood? It is one of those days when you are fed up with planning and cooking big meals for the family. Don't feel guilty. Everyone has days like that, particularly around Christmastime. Instead, plan a quick skillet supper that requires little time or effort. Try this lazy day tuna supper. It's a balanced meal as tuna is comparable to lean meat in complete protein. Serve with a green salad and milk for the children.

Lazy Day Tuna Supper (Serves 6)

Three cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil, 1 small sweet red pepper, cut in strips; 1 small green pepper, cut in strips; 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion, 2 cans (10½ ounces each) cream of mushroom soup, 1 soup can milk, toasted French bread slices.

Drain 3 tablespoons of the oil from tuna into a skillet. Add vegetables and cook, stirring occasionally, until crisp-tender. Add soup; blend in milk. Add tuna; heat to serving temperature. Serve over hot toasted French bread slices.

Note: If desired, 2 canned pimentos, cut in strips, may be substituted for the red pepper. Add to soup with tuna.

Charge Upstate Man in Shotgun Blast of Tavern

CARLISLE, N.Y. (AP)—A 20-year-old man stands charged with first-degree assault in connection with a shotgun barrage on a restaurant where his mother and brother were working.

David Bukovac of Sharon surrendered Sunday after the shooting to State Police and was arraigned before Peace Justice Fred Gegenbach of Carlisle.

A hearing was set for Tuesday.

His mother, Marion Bukovac, 42, and brother, Charles, 16, were not injured as they crouched on the floor during the hail of 52 slugs from a 12-gauge shotgun.

State Police said Bukovac, a 5-foot-9, 250-pounder, allegedly opened fire from the family home, about 50 feet from the restaurant which is near the hamlet of Sharon, about 35 miles west of Albany.

Bukovac worked as a bartender in the restaurant operated by Mrs. Bukovac, whose husband died last summer.

Troopers said they could give no reason for the incident and made no damage estimate.

30,000 Try Frug — Police Untangle Mass

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Police were called to untangle the mass that developed when an estimated 30,000 teen-agers tried to do the frug at a dance for underprivileged children Sunday.

Six teen-agers had to be helped to the sidelines of Freedom Hall which seats 18,000 for basketball. Five returned to the dance floor after they caught their breath. One was taken to a hospital for X rays. More than 20,000 toys were collected.

Rudy Wedow Dies

CLINTON, N.Y. (AP)—Sculptor Rudy Wedow, 53, one of whose large metal murals was displayed by the United Presbyterian Church at the New York World's Fair, died Sunday at his home here.

Wedow, who worked with metal, clay and cement, was an associate professor of graphic design at nearby Mohawk Community College.

Survivors include his wife, a daughter and a son.

Fall Injuries Fatal

KENMORE, N.Y. (AP)—Donald G. Bosch, 37, of Kenmore, died Sunday night at Kenmore Mercy Hospital of injuries suffered in a fall Dec. 4.

Charge Man, Girl With 43 Burglary, Larceny Hauls

TROY, N.Y. (AP)—State Police today arrested a 29-year-old man and a 17-year-old girl and charged them with 35 burglaries and eight grand larcenies over the past 11 months.

The troopers said they recovered more than $5,000 worth of television sets, radios, cameras, and other merchandise, during a raid on a cabin a few miles north of Troy.

The couple, Peter L. Kulzer, and Miss Amelia L. Singlin, described by troopers as itinerants, were arraigned in the nearby Town of Schaghticuke before Justice of the Peace George Blair. They waived examination of charges of burglary and grand larceny and were ordered held for grand jury action.

$8.2 Campus Project

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says construction will begin soon on more than $8.2 million worth of buildings on the campuses of three state-operated educational institutions.

AT RESNICK FETE—More than 300 persons from the 28th Congressional District were present Dec. 8 for a gala "Salute to Congressman Joeph Y. Resnick and the 89th Congress" in Hyde Park. The $50 per ticket fund raiser netted close to $10,000 for the encumbent Democrat, shown here with three of the Democratic County Chairmen from his district: Robert Shaffer, left, Schoharie County; Rep. Resnick; Lawrence Novak, Columbia County and George Whalen, Dutchess County.

Social Agencies To Meet Tuesday

The Ulster County Council of Social Agencies will hold its December luncheon and business meeting Tuesday at the Y.M.C.A.

Following the business session, there will be a program "Christmas in the Children's Home in Ulster County." Taking part will be various institutions. President Louis Schafer urges all organizations to have representatives present, an there will be a very important report by Charles Ryan, chairman of the committee in charge of the Christmas Food Baskets.

Author to Autograph Books Here Wednesday

The author of The Green Berets, Robin Moore will be at the Book Center Inc., Ulster Plaza, Wednesday 1 to 5 p. m. to autograph copies of his book.

The book is a first hand account of the American Special Forces in Viet Nam and Laos. Moore, Harvard graduate and World War II veteran, is the only civilian graduate from the Special Forces guerrilla course at Fort Bragg. He was allowed to go into combat in Viet Nam to gather material for his book.

Moore is author of Pitchman and co-author of The Devil to Pay. Reviews call his current book "challenging, informative and like the war it reports — often shocking."

GOP to Grapple With Decision On Birch Group

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Republicans grapple today with the question of what — if anything — to do about the John Birch Society.

If they don't formally repudiate the conservative outfit, one party chieftain said, they will be accused of equivocation.

Showdown Coming

The showdown comes at a session of the 28-member Republican Coordinating Committee, created to draft party policy. Barry Goldwater, a key man in the controversy over how to handle the Birch Society question, will not be on hand. His wife is hospitalized in Phoenix, after undergoing surgery.

A spokesman said Goldwater's position on the Birch Society will be presented by Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz.

Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie has called for passage of a resolution "disassociating the Republican party's interests and activities from those of the John Birch Society and similar extremist groups.

"Failure of the committee to pass such a resolution," Smylie told National Chairman Ray C. Bliss, "would be interpreted by the press and the public as an act of equivocation by the leadership of our party."

Pennsylvania Sen. Hugh Scott, once a national chairman himself, has called for committee action on a repudiation he proposed to the party's 1964 national convention. It was overwhelmingly rejected by delegates who chose Goldwater to be the GOP presidential nominee.

Note Key Words

Key words in the Scott proposal:

"We repudiate the efforts of irresponsible extremist groups, such as the Communists, the Ku Klux Klan, the John Birch Society and others, to discredit our party by their efforts to infiltrate positions of responsibility in the party or to attach themselves to its candidates."

Smylie is a member of the committee; Scott is not.

As a presidential campaigner, Goldwater repeatedly refused to repudiate the support of people who belong to the Birch Society, but he did denounce its leader, Robert Welch — the man who called former President Dwight D. Eisenhower a tool of communism.

Group Planning S-A Yule Baskets To Meet Friday

A committee from the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies in charge of clearing the list of families who will receive food baskets from local organizations this Christmas held its first planning meeting Tuesday night at the Salvation Army Hall.

Chairman of the session was Charles Ryan of the Kingston Recreation Department, assisted by Brigadier Major and Mrs. Jacob Hohn of the S-A and Mrs. William Krum of the Ulster County Republican Women's Club. All organizations, clubs or groups planning to give food baskets are asked to have a representative attend the final meeting Friday, Dec. 17 at 7:30 p. m. Salvation Army Hall with their list. If this is impossible the committee urged that the list should be typed and two copies be submitted to Ryan before this meeting.

Chairman Ryan said that the purpose of this committee is that by clearing all names, duplications will be avoided and that every needy family will be taken care of this year.

Last year it was found by this committee that 40 names of families were on duplicate lists while other families deserving of a basket were not on any list.

It also is requested that anyone in need to apply to the organization of their choice by Dec. 15. Organizations participating in this project and Elks Lodge 550, Knights of Columbus, Boy Scouts, Volunteers of America, Kingston Post 150 American Legion, Ulster County Democratic Women's Club, St. Ursula's Mothers Club, Salvation Army, Republican Women's Club of Ulster County.

Any organization or person wishing further information may call Ryan at the Kingston Recreation Dept.

Calls for Action To Stem Crimes By Young People

Something must be done immediately to stem the tide of more and more crimes being committed by young people, the Ulster County Grand Juror's Association declared in a resolution passed at its recent regular meeting.

The association recommends to all law enforcement authorities within the County of Ulster that, as far as is legally possible, much stricter application of existing law be made.

It also was resolved that our representatives in the State legislature be requested to introduce legislation that would correct inadequacies in the existing law, so as to permit stronger penalties to be imposed upon young people who commit serious crimes.

It was noted that members of the association have been for some long time most deeply concerned with the increase in crimes within this county as well as with the increase both in number of crimes and the severity of such criminal acts by young people. Latest reports from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and all state and local law enforcement authorities point up the tragic fact that such unfortunate statitics are still increasing.

Spring Lake Vols Elect 2 to Posts

Robert A. Kurland was elected commissioner and William D. Costello reelected treasurer of the Ulster Fire District No. 1 Tuesday evening at the Spring Lake Firehouse, Lucas Avenue Extension.

Kurland who was elected to a five year term succeeds Dr. Philip W. Goldman whose term expires Dec. 31. Costello's term is for two years. They will assume office Jan. 1.

CSEA Discusses Salary Items Due For Supervisors

The salary committee of the Ulster County Chapter of the Civil Services Employees Association met recently to discuss items scheduled for airing before the Ulster County Board of Supervisors on Wednesday.

Wednesday's session will be on the 1966 budget and members of the CSEA have been requested to attend the important meeting.

Also discussed at the recent CSEA parley was Supervisor James A. Rapp's request for salary increases for county employes as well as the elimination of discrimination of salaries, job titles and qualifications for jobs which were stipulated at the Dec. 4 meeting.

The CSEA will stress the need for a permanent salary schedule during the budget hearing and will recommend the revision of the present salary schedule as well as asking why the heads of the departments have not followed the salary schedule and given every county employe $240 each time he received a raise instead of the $120 that most have been receiving, the CSEA statement said.

The committee will also request that the county continue to contribute 5 per cent to the Employees Retirement System and assume the responsibility for contributing an extra 3 per cent. They will request protection against removal for the noncompetitive employe and laborer who has completed five years of continuous service; half days be given before Christmas, New Year's and Good Friday to all employes; revision of the vacation system so that all county employes have to abide by the same regulations. Vacation time is being given by the month in one county office, each new employe receiving land 2/3 days a month. Recently it was decided that the employe who had been on the job for a year before getting any vacation is entitled to vacation time for the current year if he leaves his job. But instead of giving the person leaving his job, his vacation time based on working days, the head of the department in Ulster County included Saturdays and Sundays in estimating the vacation time. The resolution passed by the Board of Superviors regarding vacations, follows and it states clearly that a person is entitled to working days for vacation time. Resolution follows:

"Be It Further Recommended, that all county employees who have been in the service of the county for at least one year shall be entitled to 15 working days vacation with pay at their regular rate. After completion of 10 years of continuous service, county employees shall be entitled to 20 working days vacation with pay at their regular rate. Upon separation from service, officers and employees of this county having unused vacation time for the period of one year prior to the date of separation from service shall be paid the monetary value of said accumulated and unused vacation time, and . . ."

County Share Is $14,364 in Motor Vehicle Receipts

Motor vehicle tax receipts to Ulster County for the quarter ending Sept. 30, totaled $14,364.38, it was announced today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

This campared to $15,265.51 distributed in the county for the comparable period last year.

The current amount was included in a total of $1,561,734.28 of motor vehicle tax receipts to the counties of the State and to the City of New York for the counties comprising the City. New York City's share of this total is $467,217.88.

Amounts distributed to other area counties for the period ending last Sept. 30, compared with the camparable period in 1964, respectively:

Columbia $6,493.36, $6,782.12; Dutchess $19,980.16, 21,377.35; Greene $4,651.56, $4,980.62; Orange $24,324.39, $25,877.67; Sullivan $7,851.42, $8,426.71.

Thee $1.5 million total is the share of State-collected motor vehicle fees for the three months ending Sept. 30, 1965, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the State Highway Law. The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the Vehicle and Traffic Law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties be returned to local government.

Find Gold Pieces

COLUMBIA, Tenn. (AP) — A treasure in $10 and $20 American gold pieces was discovered here as county officials prepared to auction off the belongings of a 104-year-old woman who died in October.

Officials said the coins had a face value of $2,000. They tumbled out when a worker opened a small door on a dresser belonging to the late Elizabeth Porter.
